Tad Is Dead.
Men, After Fifty.
A $190,000,000 Bridge.
D. A. Crawford, Pullman Co.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

"TAD" DORGAN is dead. Millions knew him. He analyzed human nature in pictures as well as Dickens did in words.

Stricken by heart disease, knowing that he might die at any moment, he continued working cheerfully, and died in his sleep.

HE worked, as a boy, in a mill, to support his mother and her younger children. When his right hand was mutilated, in an accident, he drew pictures with his left hand.

A Hearst editor asked him to come from San Francisco to New York for double the salary he was paid. Tad replied, "I have my mother and six kid brothers and sisters. I wouldn't leave them."

Invited to bring them all East at Mr. Hearst's expense, he came and established a reputation throughout the whole country.

PRIZE fight enthusiasts with half an inch of forehead, or Charles Dana Gibson, with a brow like the dome of St. Peter's, will tell you, "Tad was a great man."

DR. DANIEL J. M'CARTHY, teacher of medical jurisprudence at the University of Pennsylvania, says: "Nature has not much interest in men after they reach the age of 50." If that is true, nature lacks intelligence.

GOETHE was past 70 when he wrote the second part of "Faust."

Galileo was 66 when he published his great work, "Dialogues on the Ptolemaic and Copernican Systems," and was compelled to kneel in public and retract his statement that the earth goes round the sun.

MODERN men have so much to learn that it takes about 50 years to get started on the road to things worth while. Man's body may not amount to much after 50, but at 50 the brain begins to work well.

THE same learned professor says nature cares nothing about brains or the dominance of any race. "Some day the black race may rise up to dominance."

Some day the chimpanzees may dominate the natives of Africa. But it isn't likely.

RAILROADS are more prosperous than they were. The Baltimore and Ohio is interested in plans involving $189,000,000 for a bridge across the Hudson, connecting the rest of the United States with Manhattan Island.

That plan, originally advanced by the Pennsylvania Railroad, seems to have become a Baltimore and Ohio proposition. That railroad has been active and aggressive under the leadership of Mr. Willard.

SAMUEL RAE, formerly president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and Gustav Lindenthal, famous engineer, still in charge of the enterprise, discussed the Fifty-seventh Street Bridge plan at W. R. Hearst's house some years ago.

MEANWHILE, the Pennsylvania is actually spending $100,000,000 electrifying its system from Wilmington to New York. Gen. Atterbury predicts a New York population of more than 30,000,000 within a few years and is getting ready for it.

Railroad men once made money by wrecking roads. Now they make money by building. That is better.

IT pays to get a good job and attend to it. And it pays to advertise. Twenty-two years ago, D. A. Crawford, very young, answered a "want ad" and got a job as stenographer with Mr. Carry, late president of the Pullman Company.

YESTERDAY the Pullman Company directors, intelligently promoting one of their own men, chose Mr. Crawford to succeed Mr. Carry as president.

Don't stay in the wrong place. But don't be in a hurry to decide that you are right and the job is wrong.

IN response to an appeal of Catholic charities in New York, $1,081,450 was subscribed in a few days. The giving is largely a tribute to the esteem in which Cardinal Hayes is held by New York's citizens.

A GIFT of $25,000 was announced yesterday from John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who wrote to Cardinal Hayes: "In trying to meet human needs, we are all of us—Catholics, Protestants and Jews alike—serving a common cause."

PRINCE HENRY, Duke of Gloucester, son of King George, arrived in Tokio yesterday to give the Order of the Garter to the Japanese Mikado. Emperor Hirohito was at the railway station, greeting the British prince with great cordiality.

PRINCE HENRY rode through Tokio in full-dress uniform, in a carriage drawn by six horses. That is a change from old Japanese days of exclusiveness, when no "barbarian" might look upon the sacred person of the mikado.

Japan recognizes the value of Great Britain's battleships, cruisers and growing air fleet.

Uncle Sam, take notice. To be respected, make yourself respectable.

TEN were killed, many injured in Berlin during rioting started by Communistic "Reds" on May Day.

Other outbreaks are feared, and it is suggested the Communists might even carry the coming German election.

That, however, will not happen.

MARGARET "PEGGY" BURNS

"Peggy," 15-year-old Conroy Public school girl, daughter of a city teamster, Frank M. Burns, 1425 Page street, who accuses Teddy Joyce, movie matinee idol, of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. In Morals Court today the girl told her story and Joyce was discharged but re-arrested.

CHIEF OF POLICE SHOT, POSSE KILLS SUSPECT

TED JOYCE ARRESTED AGAIN

Teddy Joyce, jaunty master of ceremonies at the Penn Theater, was discharged in Morals Court today on an accusation of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, only to be rearrested a moment later on a similar charge.

Magistrate A. D. Brandon had ruled, after hearing the girl's story, that there was no evidence to substantiate the first charge against Joyce and discharged him. Police Inspector James N. Hoey insisted there was evidence of undue familiarity when Joyce met 15-year-old Margaret "Peggy" Burns, Conroy Schoolgirl, in the girl's room in the Pittsburgher Hotel, and immediately made an information against the entertainer.

RELEASED TO ATTORNEY

Joyce was released into the custody of his attorney pending arrangement for a new bond.

Interest in the case tied up the police telephone system during and after the hearing today as hundreds of persons, mostly women, sought by telephone to learn Teddy's fate.

Hoey's charge was based on testimony of "Peggy" that Joyce had kissed and caressed her, and that "while I stood with my shoes off he danced around me and said I was just the right size for a pony."

"KISSED AND CARESSED"

Joyce in his testimony admitted sitting beside "Peggy." "I placed one hand on her shoulder and another on her knee and I think I was going to kiss her when someone knocked at the door."

Emphatically denying he had molested "Peggy," the movie fans' idol insisted he had gone to the hotel at the girl's request, had questioned her as to her qualifications for going on the stage.

Joyce was arraigned on a charge of contributing to the delinquency

44 DIE, 100 HURT IN STORMS

EXCLUSIVE pictures of the storm devastation at Morgantown, W. Va., are printed on Page 43.

Associated Press.

Forty-four lives were lost yesterday and Wednesday in the storms that struck, in varying form, seven Southern states and sections of the Mid-West.

Virginia's death list of 23 was the largest. A teacher and 13 children were killed in a school building collapse in that state. Other Southern states suffering loss of life from the storms were Arkansas, Tennessee, Maryland, Florida, Alabama and Kentucky. At least 100 persons were injured, many seriously, throughout the South.

PRISONERS KILLED

Storms were of less violence in the Middle West. Two deaths occurred in Michigan, one in Illinois and two in Ohio. The latter deaths were in Columbus, two prisoners being killed in the collapse of a portion of the jail in a windstorm.

In the Southern Michigan fruit belt, now celebrating blossom time, soggy snow-covered trees, vines and landscape to a depth of four inches. The unseasonable snow is believed to have protected most of the fruit from frost damage.

Lake Michigan went on another rampage, pounding the Chicago shoreline, and attacking the foundations of many buildings close to the shore.

The weight of the snow damaged fruit trees in Southern Illinois and Missouri, and cold weather was a threat to the strawberry crop in the Ozarks.

BROTHER CAUGHT IN CARNEGIE

Trailed to a small farmhouse near Raccoon, Washington County, after, according to County Detective William D. Dinsmore, he had shot Police Chief William Core, of Burgettstown, Henry Orris, 23, was killed today in a gun battle with state police and Washington County detectives.

Herman Orris, 26, a brother, who escaped from the farmhouse during the shooting, was captured three hours later in a Carnegie residence.

CHIEF IN HOSPITAL

Police Chief Core is in a critical condition in the Washington hospital, his face blown away by the discharge of sawed-off shotgun. Herman Orris was returned from Carnegie to the Washington County Jail. The brothers were wanted by state police and constables from Burgettstown for the alleged theft of several cows.

The Orris brothers are alleged to have taken the cows and made off with them from a farm near Burgettstown on which an auction sale was being held.

TRACED TO FARM

They were traced to the farm of their stepfather, Frank Shenaski, near Bulger, by William Hamil, a constable, and Private James Regna, of the State Police. The brothers, armed with shotguns, and the stepfather with a club, police said, threatened the officers if they stepped on the property. The police returned to Burgettstown to get a warrant.

Justice of the Peace W. B. Culley, of Burgettstown, issued warrants for the arrest of the three and his constables, Chief Core and James Pollock went to the farm with the other officers. They arrested Shenaski, but found the brothers had fled. Shenaski was arraigned and sent to the county jail for 30 days, charged with assault and battery.

40 SHOTS EXCHANGED

Late last night Core and Pollock returned to Shenaski's farm and were searching the premises when the brothers returned. A gun battle followed, during which 40 shots were exchanged. Core was shot in the head and the brothers fled again. Corp. William Hanna, of the state police, was sent by the Washington county district attorney's office with County Detective Dinsmore to capture the men.

Dinsmore said the shot which hit Core was fired by Henry Orris.

Trailing the pair to Raccoon, Dismore and Hanna found the men in the farmhouse about eight o'clock this morning. As Dinsmore stepped into the room he was felled with a club and Henry prepared to fire, the police were told.

BEATEN TO DRAW

Corp. Hanna and Dinsmore beat him to the draw and fired at the same time, both shots striking Orris in the abdomen. He died a short time later in Burgettstown.

Carnegie police were notified to be on the lookout for Herman Orris and he was trapped in the home of his brother-in-law John Telosky, at 23 Wagner street, Carnegie. Chief Christ Keisling and Patrolman Joseph Lewis went to the house.

Orris, Keisling declared, reached for a pistol as the police entered, but was felled and handcuffed.

PLAN HALL SITE MASS MEETING

A mass meeting of all civic bodies in Allegheny County will be called by the North Side Chamber of Commerce to protest the Lincoln S. Dickey report recommending an Oakland site for the Town Hall, and to urge consideration of either a downtown location or Monument Hill as the location for the $6,000,000 project.

At its meeting last night the North Side trade body appointed a special committee on the Town Hall and authorized it to call the meeting. This will be done as soon as North Side Carnegie Music Hall can be secured for the meeting, J. G. Shaw, chairman of the committee said today.

NOT OFFICIAL ACTION

The submission of the Dickey report to the County Planning Commission by the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce special Town Hall committee "was not an official action of the chamber of commerce," T. P. Gaylord, president said last night.

"Submission of the report was simply a matter of courtesy to the County Planning Commission. The report was submitted two weeks ago at the directors' meeting and was to have been taken up again at the meeting yesterday. This meeting was postponed until Monday," Gaylord said.

CAB STAND PAY LOST TO CITY

The Yellow Cab Company has 151 taxi stands on the streets of Pittsburgh and the Green Cab Company 174, from which the city derives not one cent of revenue.

This was learned in the course of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph's investigation of the companies' plans to increase their rates, already close to the highest of any city in the country.

PAY—BUT NOT TO CITY

The companies pay for the cab stands; they pay, however, not the owner of the streets, the city of Pittsburgh, but the owners of buildings facing on the streets.

"An outrage," Mayor Charles H. Kline called it, in commenting on the taxicab companies' relations with the municipality.

MAYOR ORDERS INQUIRY

"'t is an outrage," he said, "that the owner of a store should receive $1,000 from a taxicab company for the privilege of using the street in front of the store for parking purposes. I have asked Director Clark, of the Public Safety Department, to make a survey of this situation, with a view to correcting it."

At Clark's office it was stated his investigation had disclosed that the Yellow Cab Company had 151 cab

Fall's Oil Trial Set To Start October 7

WASHINGTON, May 3.—(INS.)—The trial of ex-Secretary of the Interior A. B. Fall on an indictment charging bribery, in connection with the $100,000 he received in "the little black satchel" from E. L. Doheny, was set today for October 7.

The case was to have been called for trial Monday, but was postponed because of the illness of Atlee Pomerene, special oil counsel for the government. Fall is now in New Mexico.

Mexican Churchman Pledges Peace Aid

WASHINGTON, May 3.—(AP.)—Archbishop Leopoldo Ruiz, senior of the Mexican hierarchy and chairman of the committee of Mexican bishops, hopes to see the differences between the church and state in his country submitted to special representatives of each for settlement.

Answering a statement by President Portes Gil, Bishop Ruiz declared "the church and her ministers are prepared to co-operate with him in every just and moral effort made for the improvement of the people."

Filmdom's Ideal Pair Reported Separated

LOS ANGELES, May 3.—(INS.)—A movieland marriage that endured for 13 years has ended, friends disclosed today, with the separation of Douglas MacLean and the former Faith Cole. They were considered one of filmdom's ideally mated couples.

MORE RAIN TONIGHT HERE ON TRAIL OF SNOWSTORM

Residents of Western Pennsylvania communities today were repairing homes that yesterday afternoon were swept by the near-tornado that caused death and serious injury to many in nearby states. Allegheny County was spared by the wind and no extensive damage was reported.

A driving snowstorm faced the early risers today, but the snow later turned to sleet and then rain. The cold, driving rain slowed up the traffic during the rush hour today.

Forecaster W. S. Brotzman promised more rain for tonight, but said the temperature tomorrow would be slightly higher than that of today. Tonight the temperature is expected to go to about 30 degrees.

New Castle, Lawrence County, suffered thousands of dollars damage by yesterday's storm. A cloudburst flooded cellars in the business district. Trolley service in the town was put out of commission for hours.

Interurban car service in Fayette and Westmoreland Counties was at a standstill. Power lines were down for more than a mile along the West Penn Railways Company lines near Latrobe. Traffic was halted in Latrobe. Washouts were reported along the lines of the Pennsylvania Railroad near New Castle and Sharon. Trains were late on every road entering Pittsburgh.

DEMAND RECALL OF PITT OUSTER

A petition said to contain 1,000 signatures, demanding the reinstatement of two expelled students and one dismissed graduate assistant at the University of Pittsburgh, was to be presented Chancellor John G. Bowman late today.

A second petition, signed by 50 members of the philosophy class, taught by F. J. Woltman, demanding his reinstatement, also was to be presented.

As the campus was tense with excitement today, 20 students, said not to be connected with the Liberal Club, whose activities precipitated the expulsion order of William Albertson and Arthur McDowell, students, and Woltman, yesterday, circulated the petitions.

A student protest meeting, to be held Monday, was being arranged today. A meeting scheduled for this morning was called off, it was said, when members of the Liberal Club learned, they said, that university authorities planned a raid on the meeting and the lifting of registration cards of the students.

Club members today said they learned a form letter had been forwarded by the university to instructors who had taught Albertson and McDowell instructing that the two students be given the rating "W. F." (withdrawal while failing). Some of the instructors are said to have refused to add this stigma to two students working their way through college when both had maintained "A" and "B" ratings.

PLANES ON WAY TO STADIUM

A fleet of observation planes from Wright Field, Dayton, O., and a squadron of Army pursuit planes from Bolling Field, Washington were to stage an aerial exhibition late this afternoon over Pitt Stadium, scene of the national elimination balloon races.

Both groups of planes were reported enroute to Pittsburgh during teh afternoon.

Heavy rains and a snowstorm at Akron prevented the three Goodyear "Baby Blimps" from flying here today as a feature of the races, J. O. Boettner, in charge of blimps at the Goodyear Rubber Company, Akron, O., informed the Sun-Telegraph by long distance telephone. He promised the ships would fly here tomorrow for the main program of the balloon races.

MODEL PLANE CONTEST

Today's program opened at 1 o'clock with the boys' model contest in Pitt Stadium. More than 100 youngsters from all parts of Western Pennsylvania were entered in the event.

Immediately following this event, the Army pursuit planes were to stage an aerial exhibition over the stadium.

Game begins at 3 o'clock.

Babe Ruth is the stellar attraction at Forbes Field today, weather permitting. The world champions are in town for a clash with the Pirates, and of course the whole club is quite an atraction, but the Bambino steals the show no matter where the Yanks travel and he always has been a big number here.

But if Babe hits any homers this afternoon he will have to best Lee Meadows, who certainly should know how to pitch to Babe or any other hitter. It will be interesting to watch the duels between Babe and Meadows, not to mention the actions of Lou Gehrig, who has a mean habit of hitting new baseballs clear out of the park.

Meadows and Bob Linton will be the Pittsburgh battery in the exhibition tilt. Huggins is expected to use one of his younger pitchers on the mound, perhaps Gordon Rhodes, late of the Coast League.

Immediately after the game the Pirates will rush to the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie station to board a train for Boston, where they are scheduled to open a series tomorrow.

Cramer Hops Off On Flight East

CHICAGO, May 3.—(AP.)—Parker Cramer, Rockford flier, left the municipal airport today for Cleveland, planning to fly on to New York today if weather reports were favorable. He was accompanied by W. S. Gamble, his companion on the recent flight to Alaska.

LAWYER'S WIFE, SEEKING DIVORCE, TELLS OF ABUSE

Their wedded life, lasting just one year, was interspersed with quarrels, threats on her life, profane abuse and a beating by her husband, Mrs. Daisy F. Bily, 48, of 2710 Shady avenue, testified in Common Pleas Court before Judge Thomas J. Ford at a hearing of her divorce suit against Joseph C. Bily, 49, prominent Pittsburgh attorney. Mrs. Bily was the wife of former County Commissioner Addison C. Gumbert.

The quarrels began the second night after their marriage, which occured Octobe. 22, 1927, in the Marble Collegiate church New York city, Mrs. Bily testified.

In the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel her husband quarreled with her because she had admonished him, a short time before at a theater performance, against speaking loudly in pointing out Levine, the trans-Atlantic flier, sitting nearby, according to her testimony.

They lived in her house at 5514 Center avenue and later moved to another house owned by her at 2710 Shady avenue, Mrs. Bily testified, and her husband uttered threats on her life

INDUSTRIAL AND MERCANTILE LEADERS BACK TAX CUT

MELLON FOES GET JOLT IN PROBE

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON, International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—The effort to force Andrew W. Mellon out of the cabinet because of his large stock ownership in corporations, suffered a setback today when it was learned that the three Democrats, who served as Secretary of the Treasury under Woodrow Wilson, all owned stock.

William Gibbs McAdoo, the wartime president's son-in-law, Carter Glass, now a senator from Virginia, and David F. Houston, all possessed corporation securities, while Secretary of the Treasury.

NEVER QUESTIONED

The question whether their holdings made them ineligible for the treasury post under the 100-year-old law forbidding the secretary from "being interested in or carrying on the business of trade or commerce," never was raised against any of them.

Senator Glass told International News Service how he and his Democratic colleagues held stock while at the head of the treasury. He incidentally announced he would oppose the present move to oust Mellon.

Of course, I owned stock while Secretary of the Treasury," said Glass, in his Virginia drawl.

"So did McAdoo and Houston. Why, I was the largest individual stockholder in an industry down in my state all the time I was in the treasury. But I did give up my bank stock, though that wasn't hard to do because I owned so little."

POORHOUSE FOR JOB.

Then Glass demanded: "Are you in favor of going to the poorhouse in order to become Secretary of the Treasury?"

When his question went unanswered, the Virginian added: "Well, that's what you would have to do if their interpretation of this law is correct."

It previously was brought out that Alexander Hamilton, first Secretary of the Treasury, owned banking stock while in the cabinet of George Washington. The Treasury Department also supplied information showing that other secretaries in the administrations of Cleveland had owned securities, without the legality of their service being questioned.

The controversy now raging at secret sessions of the Senate Judiciary Committee has developed to a point where one faction demands the personal interrogation of Mellon on his security holdings.

The committee held another star session today and again failed to react a decision. A meeting was called for tomorrow.

ADMITS INTEREST

In a deposition he made last July in a civil lawsuit, Mellon described himself as a "factor" in the affairs of the Aluminum Company of America and revealed he had taken a leading part in negotiating a merger between this concern and a Canadian company. He then told of owning 15 per cent of the stock of the $100,000,000 concern.

A Democratic-Insurgent coalition in the committee has contended this tremendous holding forces Mellon to be "interested or concerned in carrying on the business of trade and commerce." They argued the Secretary had to show some interest in the management of the concern because of his tremendous investment. In his deposition, he admitted being consulted on questions of "policy" and they pointed to this as indicating his interest in the business affairs of the company.

PITTSBURGHER 'RIDE' VICTIM

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., May 3.—Believed "taken for a ride," a man thought to be Michael Korzon, 50, of 45 South Fifteenth street, Pittsburgh, was found with his throat slashed in a ravine at Morado Springs Park, near here, this morning by the motorman of a Harmony car.

Police sent the man to Providence Hospital, where he is expected to die.

At the South Fifteenth street address it was stated Korzon had been a resident of the South Side for 20 years. He left a week ago to take a job as a railroad laborer, and was believed to have gone to the vicinity of Beaver Falls. His former roommates said he frequently was given to fits of melancholia. He had no relatives here.

GIRL WINS SUIT AGAINST PAGE

Miss Mary Dixon, of North Braddock, teacher in Braddock High School and Duquesne University, was awarded $22,250 by a jury in Common Pleas Court today against F. Lemoyne Uage, capitalist and aviation promoter, for injuries suffered in an automobile accident.

She testified she was accompanying Page on a social visit to Oakmont, May 18, 1927, when the car, driven by Page at 60 miles an hour, plunged off the Freeport road at "Dead Man's Curve," hit a pole and went dow nan embankment. She suffered a fractured collarbone and a permanent knee injury which affects her walking, she testified. Page did not testify.

TEDDY JOYCE AND 15-YEAR-OLD GIRL ACCUSER IN MORALS COURT

Teddy Joyce, master of ceremonies, and 15-year-old "Peggy" Burns as they faced Magistrate Brandon today in Morals Court where Joyce was discharged on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Later he was rearrested on a similar charge.

TEDDY JOYCE FREED, THEN HELD ON NEW CHARGE

"I first met Mr. Joyce at the Pittsburgher Hotel about noon, April 22," Miss Burns testified.

"Was that the first time you met him?" queried Magistrate Brandon. "Yes," replied the girl.

"I had called Mr. Joyce on the telephone at the theater and asked him if he could come up to the hotel. He asked me 'when,' and I told him 'at once.' He asked me what my name was and I said it was Miss Young, of Youngstown, O."

POINTS OUT HIS CAR

"A short time later he arrived in my room," the girl continued. "As he entered, a maid was making the bed, but she soon left. Mr. Joyce walked to a window, which was raised, and asked me to follow him. Looking out of the window Mr. Joyce asked me if I knew his car. I replied I did not, and he pointed out a dark car with a Negro chauffeur at the wheel and said that was his car.

"'Mr. Joyce,' I said to him, 'I am looking for work, do you know where I can get work?' He said he did not, but a moment later he asked me to stand up and take off my shoes. I did so. He requested that I continue to hold that pose. He walked round me several times, looking at my feet and legs and then said, 'There is something wrong with one of your legs!'

"DANCED AROUND ME"

"As I was standing there Mr. Joyce went through dance steps and as he was dancing around he said to me, 'You are just the size for a pony.'

"We sat down and Mr. Joyce started to kiss me," testified "Peggy."

Magistrate Brandon here interrupted her and called for a statement which she had made to detectives as to what had taken place in the room. The contents of this statement was not disclosed, but Brandon referred to it in questioning the girl.

"There was a knock on the door," testified "Peggy," resuming her story. "A fellow named 'Pittsburgh Sammy' came in with some music and showed it to Mr. Joyce. He looked at it and said it was all right. He handed it back to 'Sammy' and he left.

"DON'T TELL KIDS"

"Mr. Joyce told me not to say anything to the 'kids' down there (evidently referring to chorus girls at the Aldine ballroom). He told me to meet him at the Aldine ballroom at 5 o'clock. I went down there at 5 o'clock. Mr. Joyce didn't come in until half an hour later.

Questions by Magistrate Brandon brought admission from "Peggy" that Joyce did not know she was a runaway girl.

"When was the last time you attended school?" asked Attorney Louis Little in cross-examination.

"Friday, the day before I left home," said "Peggy."

"Have you played hook a lot since September?"

"Yes," admitted "Peggy."

"Why did you give the name of Young?"

"I just happened to think of it."

"Do you ever attend stag parties?"

"CRAZY TO GO ON STAGE"

"Well, you were in an Italian restaurant in Wylie avenue, weren't you?"

"Yes, I was."

"Peggy" testified she had picked the Pittsburgher to register and engage a room, as she had worked there for several days last summer. She did not pay for the room, she said.

"I was crazy to go on the stage," she asserted.

Joyce, called to the stand, testified his name was LaGrande Cuthbertson.

"I was in my dressing room at the theater talking with a piano player about some numbers which I was going to broadcast over Station KQV," testified Joyce, "when the telephone rang. My friend answered and told me that someone wished to speak to me.

DASHES RIGHT UP

"I went to the 'phone and the party on the other end said her name was Miss Young, of Youngstown, O., and asked me to come to her room in the Pittsburgher as she wanted to see me. I was cheer leader in high school at Youngstown and believed the young lady might be an old friend. So I replied: 'Great, I'll be right up.'

"I went immediately to her room" continued Joyce. "She apologized for the untidiness of her room. She told me she formerly attended school in Youngstown and I told her I was born there. We started to talk about tennis. I was a tennis champion in high school.

"Then I realized that the girl was very young and that I didn't know her. She asked me if I could get her a position. I asked her if she had any stage experience or could dance.

"I then asked her to remove her shoes which she did and to raise her dress so I could see the shape of her legs. After she did so I told her to drop her dress. 'You have something the matter with one of your legs,' I told her.

"That is a birthmark," interrupted Mrs. Margaret Burns, mother of Peggy, from a seat in the courtroom.

FRIEND STOPS PETTING

"Well, I didn't see the birthmark," declared Joyce, as a laugh went up.

"I sat down beside her. I put one hand on her shoulder and the other on her knee. I think I was going to kiss her but just then there was a knock at the door. My friend who was to accompany me for the radio broadcast came in.

"I made no improper advances to the girl," declared Joyce. Girls are wearing their dresses short now. It's the vogue. I did nothing wrong."

John Joyce, father and manager of Teddy, testified that Miss A. E. Gordon, of the Missing Persons Bureau, came to the Penn Theater with a photo of "Peggy" to learn if he could tell her where the girl was. He admitted seeing the girl at a dancing studio over the Aldine Theater, and placed her as a girl who had come there to try out for a place in Loew's productions.

That was the only time he had seen "Peggy" the elder Joyce testified.

In rebuttal "Peggy" testified she had seen the elder Joyce at the dance studio four times after the Missing Persons Bureau had asked about her and had requested him if he saw her to notify the police.

Joseph P. Shaw, of 6541 Watt avenue, manager of the studio, testified "Peggy" had come to him Monday night, April 22, the day after her disappearance from home and asked for a tryout. She couldn't dance, he said and he advised her to go to a dancing school a couple of years before attempting to enter the theatrical profession.

"TICKLED MY CHIN"—SHAW

"When I told her that she tickled me under the chin and said 'Please Mr. Shaw won't you let me go along?'

"She became obnoxious at the studio," testified Shaw, and I finally told her she would have to conduct herself properly or leave, else I would have to put her out like the other rubbish."

"Peggy's" mother testified her daughter had left home for a day or so last September. She had her examined by a physician as to mental and physical condition. The verdict of the physician was, the mother said, that Peggy was normal.

Following the hearing today, W. A. Finney, district manager of

"With the acquital of Teddy Joyce in Morals Court this morning of serious charges which were not proven, his character and his record for being a good citizen during his year in Pittsburgh, remain unblemished. Brought into open court, the charges against him, which received sensational notices in the newspapers, fell flat of substantiation. There was no evidence of wrongdoing on the part of Joyce and with the conclusion of the hearing this morning, the incident should have been closed.

"The re-arrest of Joyce at the close of the charing, after he had been cleared of any wrongdoing, smacks of nothing short of persecution and is not alone unfair, unjust and un-American to Joyce himself, but to the countless thousands of admirers and friends, whose confidence and good will he gained during his stay at the Penn Theater.

"Although Joyce is to be transferred to Baltimore, do not propose to move him from the Penn Theater or Pittsburgh so long as there is any cloud of suspicion or wrongdoing hanging over his head."

W. A. FINNEY,
District Manager of Loew's.

'CHEATING' PAL RENOUNCES PEACOX

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., May 3.—(INS.)—Eugene Bussey, Baltimore collegian, who covertly received the kisses of pretty 20-year-old Dorothy Peacox, bride of Earle Peacox, who killed her and then burned her body, today renounced his lifelong friendship for the slayer.

Bussey came here to help save his erstwhile friend. Previously, he admitted he had been unable to resist the kisses of "Dolly" and was willing to tell the whole story of Dorothy's flirtations with men to help save his friend. He and Earle had been inseparable chums since boyhood in Yonkers.

CHANGES VIEWS

But, following a long interview with District Attorney Frank Coyne, of Westchester County, Bussey today declared he was utterly ashamed of his former stand. After Coyne revealed the fiendish details of the murder, Bussey said:

"I wouldn't care if Earle had shot himself."

Bussey told Coyne of the "necking parties" with Dolly Peacox in Bronxville, of the gin-and-dance parties in her home in Mount Vernon, of the torrid love letters she sent him while he was at college.

DRUG ANGLE AIRED

What appeared to turn young Bussey against his pal was the fact that Peacox was in another woman's arms while his wife's body lay cold under the apple blossom tree, their old trysting place, and the fact that Peacox went back and garroted his victim to make sure.

Peacox, amateur scientist and criminologist, conducted experiments with drugs, it was discovered today. An investigation is under way to determine if this penchant had any connection with the crime.

Frances Newman Murray, one of Peacox's sweethearts, was still held as a material witness. The murderer planned that she should be his alibi witness, but authorities absolved her of any connection with the crime.

'TAD'S' BURIAL MONDAY

NEW YORK, May 3.—(AP.)—Private funeral services for Thomas Aloysius (Tad) Dorgan, noted newspaper cartoonist, will be held next Monday.

"Tad" died in his sleep at his home in Great Neck, L. I., yesterday from a heart ailment that kept him confined to his home for the last seven years.

Through his cartoons he originated scores of new expressions, which quickly caught the popular fancy, among them "Twenty-three, skidoo;" "Yes, We Have No Bananas;" "Hard-boiled egg," "Dumb Dora," "Finale hopper," "Drug-store cowboy," "Apple sauce," "cake eater," "The cat's meow," "nickel nurser," "Nobody home," "The first hundred years are the hardest," "For cryin' out loud," "You tell 'em" and scores of others. He it was who first termed an overcoat a "benny," and called feet "dogs."

SIGNS AIRPORT AID BILL

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 3.—Counties in Pennsylvania are given permission to assist financially, cities, boroughs, towns and townships in acquiring and operating airports and landing fields under a bill approved today by Gov. Fisher.

The Governor approved two bills of Representative Goehring, Allegheny. One of them codifies the divorce code of the state, while the other provides that all employment agencies are to be licensed by the Department of Labor and Industry.

Permission to establish parallel roads for the relief of congested state highways is given in a bill which provides that the department, with the approval of the Governor, can designate parallel roads as state highways. This is done to save the necessity of going into costly property damage payments to widen present routes.

Hohenzollerns Deny Prince Will Wed Lily

BERLIN, May 3.—(AP.)—If Prince Louis Ferdinand, second son of the former Crown Prince, intends to marry Lily Damita, motion picture actress, as reported from Los Angeles, his relatives know nothing about it.

The Hohenzollern press representative issued a communique describing reports of the engagement and the Prince's plans to enter the Ford aviation plant as "pure fabrication."

100,000,000 Attend Movies Each Week

NEW YORK, May 3.—(AP.)—One hundred million persons attend the movies each week, according to William Fox, president of the Fox Film Corporation and one of the leaders in the industry.

In a radio address last night, Fox traced the development of motion pictures from their inception and predicted that the greatest part of the industry's development was still before it.

He said the present investment in this country totalled more than $1,750,000,000 and that the annual amount paid in admissions at theaters exceeded $750,000,000. One hundred million persons, he said, attended 20,000 theaters each week.

WRECK DELAYS COMMUTERS

All traffic on Pennsylvania Railroad lines east of Pittsburgh was blocked for two hours this morning by a freight wreck at Trafford. Many fast trains were delayed.

While a freight train was being run into the yards at Trafford at 7:30 o'clock, several of the cars left the tracks, it was reported, and crashed across to the westbound tracks, strewing wreckage over all lines. The tracks were reported clear and trains running at 9:30 o'clock.

A special train was made up at Pitcairn shortly after 8 o'clock to bring commuters west of that point to the city.

6 HURT BY 'HILL' SALOON BOMB

City detectives and police today were combing the Hill district for two men who tossed a bomb from an automobile into the doorway of a saloon at 704 Wylie avenue, wrecking the place, causing injury to six persons and hurling scores from their beds shortly before last midnight.

Windows of about 30 dwellings were shattered and the street littered with glass. Police attributed the bombing to an alleged bootleg war.

Seven persons were in the saloon conducted, police said, by Harry Martorella, of 1216½ Webster avenue, and Anthony Scalzi. Four of the occupants were injured.

They are Martorella, John Talamo, 28, of 76 Magee street; James Nugent, 53, of 1001 Webster avenue, and John Ennis, 23, of 58 Marion street. The victims were taken to Mercy Hospital. Ennis, the most seriously injured, suffered a compound fracture of the left leg.

Frank Mazza, 21, of Vickroy street, and Mrs. Irene Sofianos, 32, of 710 Wylie avenue, suffered slight lacerations. Mrs. Sofianos was cut by flying glass in her home. Mazza, a passerby, was showered by glass and lacerated.

The blast shook the neighborhood and was felt downtown. Thousands of persons gathered as police and firemen sped to the scene.

Ennis, blown through the front door, was picked up by Patrolman R. J. Martin and W. E. Bruce and rushed to the hospital in a taxicab.

Patrons in the Wylie Avenue Hotel, at 703 Wylie avenue, and residents of adjoining houses narrowly escaped injuries when glass in the buildings was broken.

A bar room on the first floor yielded the officers no liquor.

Prohibition agents and constables raided the place on June 12, 1928, at which time they reported confiscating a quantity of moonshine, gin and ale. Harry Martella was arrested as the proprietor on a warrant charging violation of the Snyder act.

Westmoreland Man Falls Dead in Storm

GREENSBURG, Pa., May 3.—(AP.)—One death today was attributed indirectly to the storm that swept the south and eastern portions of Westmoreland County late yesterday. Several persons were injured and the property damage was estimated at thousands of dollars. Fred Gentsch, 16, of Herminie, died during the height of the storm at the plant of the Irwin Baking Company. He was holding an iron pipe and other employes thought he was struck by lightning, but later it was said death was due to a heart attack.

Hindu Physician, Flying Here, Forced Down

Dr. B. S. Thind, Hindu physician, returned to Washington, D. C., today after a thrilling battle with wind and storm in a flight from the capital yesterday. Dr. Thind's plane was forced down in a field near Irwin and he completed the trip to Pittsburgh by automobile, returning home by rail this morning.

The Washington physician came here to attend the funeral services for Dr. Marshall W. Maratta, of 7116 Race street. He urged his pilot, Howard S. Behr, of the Potomac Flying Service, to attempt the flight in spite of bad weather warnings and against the advice of Army and Navy flying men at Washington.

No damage was done to the plane in the forced landing and Behr continued on to Bettis Field this morning. He planned to return to Washington later in the day, weather permitting.

SCOTLAND YARD SPIES OUSTED

LONDON, May 3.—(AP.)—"Breach of confidence, communication of information to unauthorized persons, and neglect of duty" were assigned today as reasons for dismisal of two officers of the special political branch of Scotland Yard. Their names were given in an official statement as Inspector Ginhoven and Sergeant Jones.

The dismissal followed an investigation made after serious charges had been brought against some of the Scotland Yard men. On April 12 Commissioner Lord and high officials held an all night conference. But details were kept secret.

Semi-official denial was made that the charges involved sale of British naval secrets to persons close to the Soviet government. An official statement then merely said that an investigation had been in progress and that some time must elapse before a decision could be reached.

'Need College Fund,' Bandits Tell Victim

NORRISTOWN, Pa., May 3—(INS.)—"We're sorry to do this, old man, but we're working our way through college and need the money," were the parting words of two young masked bandits to William E. Archer, motor salesman, as they left him early today after obtaining $23.

Edna May Andrews, 9, 219 West Thirteenth avenue, Homestead, died early today at the Homestead Hospital from burns suffered Tuesday when her clothing ignited from a gas grate.

EXECUTIVES CALL RATE BURDEN

Pittsburgh industrial plants and large mercantile establishments are giving 100 per cent support to the Sun-Telegraph's campaign in this territory in behalf of the movement for the downward revision of federal taxes on earned incomes.

Of the personnel embracing the executives and employes of big concerns there are instances where every man and woman signed petitions to be presented to congress asking for immediate action toward reducing the burdensome levy on the wage earners of the country. Among many of the district's largest firms thousands of signatures are being added daily.

100 PER CENT SUPPORT

Officers and salesmen of May, Stern & Co., Penn avenue furniture dealers, were the first in Pittsburgh where every man and woman joined the petitioners. The movement was started by Leo Lehman, general manager, and department heads and other workers in the big organization took up the campaign with enthusiasm, signing papers circulated by Miss Miller.

Similar interest was shown in the Edward A. Woods agency of the Equitable Life Assurance Society in the Frick building where the majority of the officers, sales force and clerical workers signed petitions. The Consolidated Ice company turned in a large number of firm petitions and the Reliance Life Insurace company of Pittsburgh has many petitions in circulation.

SUBURBS SIGN

Residents of widely separated suburbs today are signing Pittsburgh petitions and are showing the same interest that the downtown merchants and business men manifest in the campaign. Merchants, bankers and other business men in the local communities have a common interest in the movement for income tax reduction with men of larger affairs in the city. It is pointed out that the burden of the income tax professional men and salaried people is reflected in the business of residence localities. A lower income tax, it is asserted, would be followed by increased and better economic conditions in the residential communities and smaller industrial centers.

FAYETTE HARD HIT BY STORM

UNIONTOWN, Pa., May 3.—Fayette County was hard hit by the near-tornado which swept small communities, overturning houses and wrecking farm buildings and mine tipples. Scores were reported injured, although only three are known to have been hurt seriously.

An Davistown, on the top of Chestnut Ridge, near Connellsville, Pa., 15 houses were demolished and the general store wrecked. Three of the 20 persons reported injured were removed to the hospital at Melcroft. The damage is expected to reach about $300,000.

At Meadowbrook the tipple of the Sessler Mine was demolished. Mrs. Fred Darby was in the attic of her home with her five children when the storm moved the dwelling 20 feet.

MORROWS BUSY ON PLANS FOR ENGAGEMENT PARTY

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., May 3.—(INS.)—The Dwight Morrow estate here today is a beehive of industry in preparation for Miss Anne Morrow's first gala party in honor of her engagement to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Miss Morrow returned here yesterday from Mexico via Cleveland, and Col. Lindbergh reached her home soon after she did, the first time they have been together since he left Mexico City a month ago.

After a luncheon, Col. Lindbergh and his fiancee went for a motor ride, returning just before midnight. The Colonel has been in New York since returning from Washington on Wednesday, awaiting his fiancee's arrival.

Meanwhile, florists and caterers today were rushing in and out of the house, getting ready for the "big party" to be staged either tonight or tomorrow.

It is certain that Miss Morrow is here to assemble her wedding trousseau, but when and where the nuptials will be held she doesn't know. In declining to give interviews she said:

"No, I'm sorry. I've made it a rule not to talk or pose for pictures. Of course, I shall not run from you, but I must decline. Sorry. Really I'm not sure what the wedding plans are."

It has been reported unofficially that the ceremony will be held at the Morrow summer home at North Haven, Me. Other reports place the marriage in May at the Englewood home.

19,813 Made U. S. Citizens in March

WASHINGTON, May 3.—(AP.)—American citizenship was bestowed upon 19,813 aliens in March. Statistics of the Department of Labor show the largest number—3,758—came from Italy. Poland was second. New York, with 6,681, led the other states in the number naturalized.

SCORES HURT IN W. VA. TORNADO

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., May 3.—Several hundred people miraculously escaped death or serious injury here when a tornado swept over a mile and a half area in the Morgantown district late yesterday. More than 50 persons are known to have been injured and property damage is expected to reach $500,000. Heavy rain and snow that fell throughout the night added suffering to the 18 homeless families.

Four injured still are in local hospitals. Twenty-one were treated at hospitals yesterday and a like number were attended by physicians. Wires and light poles were blown down, trees blocked the highways and electric power was shut off.

200-YARD PATH

The tornado, which swept a path 200 yards wide, entered from the south, striking first in the Fairmont road district, just outside the city. The gale then swept over the hills to Riverside, which was the district hit worst. The Seneca and Walnut Hill districts across the Monongahela River also were in the path of the tornado.

The most seriously hurt were Mrs. Albert Stevens and her son, Albert, Jr., of Morgantown. They are in City Hospital suffering fractured ribs. In County Hospital, Mrs. Andrew Ball is suffering internal injuries and at the same hospital is John Kerlotti, 9.

The Kerlotti boy was injured when his home in the Riverside section was blown down.

Mrs. Ball, Mrs. Stevens and the Stevens boy were injured when a house occupied by the Ball family and three other families was overturned. The house is in Seneca street, Riverside. The fourth family is Mr. and Mrs. Guy Quinn. Mrs. Woods and the Quinns escaped uninjured.

The Red Cross chapter here this morning began relief work. Many volunteer workers were going about in the Riverside section, helping the homeless and repairing the damaged homes. Public utility concerns had large crews mending the broken lines and setting up poles.

The heavy wind also wrecked the Morgantown Country Club, and a dozen automobiles, parked outside the club, were overturned and damaged. Persons in the club escaped with slight bruises.

2 DIE AS WIND WRECKS JAIL

COLUMBUS, O., May 3.—(AP.)—City officials today faced the problem of quartering nearly 200 city jail prisoners who escaped with their lives from a disastrous wind storm which demolished part of the jail, killed two prisoners and injured eight others yesterday afternoon.

The wind struck with the force of a tornado, crumbling the west wall and part of the east wall of the jail block. Tons of brick and mortar were loosed upon a score of prisoners.

The dead are Deril Devore, 18, Columbus, and George Washington, 47, Negro, crushed beneath the crumbling walls. Eight men missing today were thought to have escaped. Six of the prisoners were in hospitals seriously injured.

Actress Fights to Rule Mate's Estate

NEW YORK, May 3.—(AP.)—Margaret Lawrence, actress, accused by her mother-in-law of drunkenness and improvidence, has made a vigorous denial in court. Mrs. May Eddinger is seeking to prevent Miss Lawrence from being administratrix of the estate of her husband, Wallace Eddinger, actor. The actress denied testimony of a maid that she had drunk whisky and gin in her children's presence.

7 Sentenced, 12 Free In Philippine 'Plot'

MANILA, May 3.—(AP.)—Seven men arrested on charges of attempting to organize a "revolutionary army" to overthrow the government were convicted of sedition today. Twelve others were acquitted.

Pedro Tolosa, the leader, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment and fined 500 pesos ($250). The other six were fined 200 pesos each and sentenced to three months' imprisonment.

Bellevue Prepares For Paving Of Streets

Bellevue Council will open bids at the regular meeting next Tuesday on $100,000 street improvement bonds at 4¼ and 4½ per cent interest. The bonds were authorized by vote of the people two years ago. A program of street improvements has been prepared by the public works committee.

JUVENILE WARD FATALLY HURT

Grace McCarthy, 7, is dead and her companion, Catherine Clutter, 12, is in a critical condition in the Allegheny General Hospital today as a result of being struck by an automobile on the Butler road, near Allison Park yesterday.

Grace and Catherine, wards of Juvenile Home, made their home with Andrew Stoll, Hartz Run road, Allison Park. They were returning home from the Allison Park Public School when they were struck by an automobile driven, morgue attaches said, by Arthur Schultz, of 547 Allenby avenue, Edgewood.

Schultz told police that he did not see the children until he was a short distance from them. He said he swerved his car to avoid hitting them. Schultz posted bond at the coroner's office.

Camden Launches Crusade on Vice

CAMDEN, N. J., May 3.—(INS.)—Renewed warfare on vice, gunmen and gambling in Camden County was ordered today by Prosecutor Clifford A. Baldwin upon his return after a month's illness. He announced aid of the grand jury and Supreme Court will be sought in an effort to indict gun-carriers and stamp out vice.

Fireman Severely Scalded in Wreck

LATROBE, Pa., May 3.—(AP.)—George W. Danner, fireman, was badly scalded last night when the branch pipe of a locomotive blew out, wrecking a Pennsylvania freight train at Donohoe. One car left the rails and another was damaged.

SUSPECT HELD IN IMMIGRANT FRAUD CASE

Pending a hearing Monday before the United States commissioner, George Contonis, 37, of New York, arrested Wednesday in the William Penn Hotel and turned over to postal officials on a charge of having used the mails to defraud, was released on $5,000 bail today.

In a complaint filed by Postoffice Inspector P. J. Nolan, it is alleged that Contonis obtained money by false and fraudulent promises to bring persons from foreign countries to the United States. He is alleged to have obtained $125 from Alex Gregory, of 109 Parkhill avenue, Carrick, after promising to bring Gregory's nephew here from the Island of Cyprus.

On April 30, according to the complaint, he sent a letter asking Gregory to meet him in the hotel and was said to have received the money from him when Gregory met him. Contonis is charged with having attempted to defraud Gregory and others.

U. of Michigan's Arctic Quest Off

ANN ARBOR, Mich., May 3.—(AP.)—Cancellation of the fourth University of Michigan Greenland expedition because of insufficient funds to prosecute its work was announced today by Prof. William H. Hobbs, director of the three previous expeditions.

Prof. Hobbs said the work may be resumed later through support of "other interests."

Waynesburg Burgess Submits Resignation

WAYNESBURG, Pa., May 3.—Attorney John L. Wood, who for the past four and one-half years has served as burgess of Waynesburg, yesterday announced his resignation from that position. No reasons for quitting were given by Mr. Wood in a statement forwarded to the Borough Council. Wood was appointed burgess in 1925 to fill the unexpired term of P. J. Donley, resigned. In the fall of 1925 he was elected to a four-year term and still had eight months to serve. A successor will likely be named at a meeting of the Waynesburg Council Monday.

CIGARET SMOKING SPLITS CHICAGO WOMEN'S CLUB

CHICAGO, May 3.—(AP.)—To smoke or not to smoke had grown from a question to a controversy today among members of the Chicago Woman's Club.

At the behest of members who smoke, the new home of the organization was equipped with ash trays. Opponents of the practice among women have regimented their forces and will carry the litigation to the board of directors for a ruling.

Mere Father Ends Fight to Change Baby's Name

NEW YORK, May 3.—(AP.)—Frank Makinson, Englishman, only a father, has decided to drop proposed appeals to the British consul general and maybe the privy council. At a hospital, Mrs. Frank filled out a birth certificate indicating she wished her baby named Shirley, and it was so recorded in the city archives. Then Frank learned about it and indicated he wanted the name of Edith. He wrote to the city authorities and found a change was impossible. "I guess it's useless," he said in explaining his yielding to the inevitable. "I'm only a father after all."

MASS TO OPEN JUBILEE

The diamond jubilee celebration of St. Mary's Church, Forty-sixth street, will open Sunday with a solemn pontifical high mass at 11 a. m. The Rt. Rev. Hugh C. Boyle, bishop of Pittsburgh, will pontificate, and the Rt. Rev. John Mark Gannon, bishop of Erie, will preach the jubilee sermon.

Solemn vespers and benediction will be given in the evening at 7:45 o'clock, with the Rev. Christopher Coyne, cousin of the Rev C. J. Coyne, pastor, officiating. The vesper sermon will be given by the Very Rev. John P. Gallagher, dean of the district.

Solemn requiem high masses will be sung Monday morning for the dead parishioners. On Tuesday two solemn high masses for the living will be sung, the first for the priests, nuns and lay teachers, who have helped the parish, and the second for the spiritual and temporal prosperity of the congregation and its schools.

A parish social will be given in the Lyceum building Monday night, under the direction of Frank O'Halloran. Tuesday will be children's day, and the masses will be sung by the children's choir, trained and directed by Sister M. Annuntiata. In the afternoon a surprise program for the children will be carried out by the entertainment committee.

Strike of Lathers Averted by Raise

SHARON, Pa., May 3.—Following a demand for higher wages by local lathers, who threatened to strike, Thomas Mundorf, business agent for the Builders Trades Council, announced that the differences had been settled. Wages heretofore had been from 40 cents per hour up. A uniform wage scale of 65 cents for common labor and 90 cents for hod carriers went into effect, was agreed on.

Three More Permits Issued at Avalon

Permits for erection of three more dwellings have been issued by Capt. J. N. Arthur, borough manager, of Avalon, as follows: John Heckler, for a two-story brick veneer dwelling at 897 Malvern road, estimated to cost $6,000; John W. Geyer, frame bungalow, Florence avenue, $5,000; A. L. Richmond, frame bungalow, Oakwood avenue, $3,500.

MRS. MAY M. PETERSON

The Sun-Telegraph's campaign to promote thrift is now in its third month. To persuade people to lay money aside for a rainy day, to save against sickness, old age or unexpected mishap, to provide the means for taking advantage of some unforseen opportunity requiring funds—with these purposes in view, the Sun-Telegraph has offered, including today's awards, $6,400 to the bank depositors of the Pittsburgh district. The campaign is bearing fruit. A lively interest in savings accounts is reported by numerous banks.

Here are some of the recent recipients of thrift awards:

Mrs. Mary M. Peterson, 223 Carnegie place, has been awarded $10 as holder of passbook No. 35,322 in the First National Bank of Wilkinsburg.

Angelo Louisa, 523 Bluff street, Bridgeville, has been awarded $10 as holder of passbook No. 7,864 in the Bridgeville Trust Company.

Miss Zelma Fern Creed, 515 Lyndhurst avenue, Mt. Lebanon, has been awarded $10 as holder of passbook No. 1,392 in the First National Bank of Birmingham.

Mrs. Mary Healy, 173-A Forty-fifth street, has been awarded $10 as holder of passbook No. 8,352 in the Arsenal Bank.

Mrs. Magdalena Bold, 821 Industry street, Allentown, has been awarded $5 as holder of passbook No. 11,357 in the All Nations Deposit Bank.

Rockefeller Kin Has $11.90—All in Dimes

NEW YORK, May 3.—(AP.)—Abby Milton has $11.90 in dimes presented by her great-grandfather, John D. Rockefeller. At her birth a year ago he gave her one hundred dimes. Each time she has visited him since then one has been added to her bank.

Young Hammerstein To Wed Ex-Actress

NEW YORK, May 3.—(AP.)—Oscar Hammerstein II, musical comedy librettist and grandson of the opera impresario, is to marry Dorothy Blanchard, who came to this country with the Charlot Revue and left the stage to marry Henry Jacobson, a jeweler. She obtained a reno divorce last month.

LANDLORDS GET CAB CURB RENT

stands on city streets, the Green Cab Company 174, and the Red Cab Company 23. Clark has been conferring in regard to the matter with Benjamin R. Marshall, inspector of traffic in the police bureau, and Burton W. Marsh, traffic engineer in the Bureau of Traffic Planning, but does not have his final report ready.

NOT CONCERNED ON RENT

Charles P. Lang, assistant city solicitor in charge of public utilities matters, was asked for the law on the subject.

"The Director of Public Safety," he replied, "designates places for public taxi stands under the terms of an act of Assembly and city ordinance. The act of Assembly requires that the consent of the property owner must be obtained.

We are not particularly concerned with the manner in which the consent is obtained. It may be that the taxi companies pay the property owners for their consent to use the streets."

The ordinance, passed by Council October 2, 1922, says:

"Public service vehicles may establish parking stations at the entrance to any building on any Class A, Class AA, Class B or Class C streets (except at locations specifically prohibited in this ordinance), subject to the approval of the Director of the Department of Public Safety, providing the operators of such vehicles file with said Director of the Department of Public Safety certified copy of a permit granted by the individual, firm or corporation owning said building."

The same ordinance says:

"On William Penn way, between Oliver avenue and Sixth avenue, the Director of Public Safety shall designate locations for not more than 10 public conveyances at one time."

HOTEL HIDES PRICE

This is the largest street cab stand downtown and is in front of the William Penn Hotel.

H. F. Moore, manager of the hotel, was asked how much the hotel received for the cab stand privilege on William Penn way.

"That is a private matter," he said.

"There is a rumor that you receive $100,000 a year."

"I wish we did. It is not that much."

"Don't you think the amount that you are receiving for the use of William Penn way, a public street, owned by the people of Pittsburgh and not by the William Penn Hotel, is a matter of legitimate public interest?"

"No I don't. It seems to me you might just as fittingly ask me how much I paid for my clothes. It is a private matter. Besides, I don't know exactly how much we are paid."

"Are you paid by both the cab companies?"

RENT $25 UP

"We have a deal with the Yellow Cab Company, not with the Green."

"If you do not know exactly how much you are paid, whom can I call upon for the information?"

"If you do not get it from me, you will not get it from anybody."

A. R. Zelt, general manager of the Yellow Cab Company, stated that stands or concessions cost from $25 to $50 a month each, acording to the location and amount of business produced. He said he could not disclose the amount paid for any indivual station, because of business considerations, but admitted the William Penn Hotel concession was one of the most expensive, and one of the biggest revenue producing stands.

E. E. Houston, assistant secretary of the Green Cab Company, said his company did not pay more than $100 a month for any concession.

PAPER EXPOSES PLAN

The plan of the taxi companies to raise their rates, which has brought the whole question of their relations with the city to the fore, was discovered by the Sun-Telegraph. City officials were wholly unaware of it, although the notices of intention to increase the fares had been filed with the Public Service Commission at Harrisburg two weeks previously.

Inasmuch as rate changes automatically go into effect a month after notice is filed, unless a protest is made to the Public Service Commission, the taxi companies apparently would have had plain sailing. The Sun-Telegraph's exposure of the scheme offers the city a chance to file protest.

Follow the taxicab increased rate situation in the Sun-Telegraph.

angle," said today that a special meeting probably will be called to protest any action based on the Dickey report. Although individual members hesitated to express themselves, they indicated that there will be a strong demand for a thorough study of all proposed downtown sites. Eleven such sites have been suggested to the Planning Commission.

CONSIDER ALL SITES

Both groups were aroused after the County Planning Commission meeting held yesterday, at which the Dickey report, with four other Town Hall site suggestions, were received. At the suggestion of Director Norman F. Brown, of the County Department of Public Works, a meeting of the commission was set for May 16, at which advocates of all the 30 odd Town Hall sites will be given a hearing.

The Dickey report, which aroused the storm of protest, recommended the "Nicola Site" in Fifth, Lytton and Ruskin avenues, as the most suitable of the five given him by the County Planning Commission to study. Dickey dismissed the Schenley Park entrance site cursorily as "not meeting the minimum requirements," for a Town Hall.

Monument Hill, if cut down, would be in the same category as the site at the north side of the Ninth Street Bridge, Dickey's report stated. The "greatest disadvantage of this site is that it is situated among factory buildings and houses of the poorer type, while the character of the development is along factory lines," the report says.

PROTEST FILED

At the same time the Dickey report was submitted to the Commission, a letter of protest from the downtown organization was filed requesting the Commission to extend its study "to cover every suggested downtown site" and to "acquaint the organization with facts as to suggested downtown sites which have been studied, but were not included in the five sites finally considered by the Town Hall Committee of the Chamber of Commerce and its consultant."

A similar letter was addressed to the Chamber of Commerce. Both letters were made public yesterday by the executive committee of the organization when it was learned that the Dickey report had been submitted to the Planning Commission.

The action of the Planning Commission in calling the meeting for May 16 indicated that the whole matter of selection of a town hall site will be reopened.

UP TO COMMISSIONERS

The final decision on the site is in the hands of the County Commissioners. In a statement issued yesterday, Chairman Joseph G. Armstrong announced:

"The town hall site has not been selected. This is a matter for the board to finally decide. We will decide after we make a study of our own. We will render our decision feeling that we have lived in Allegheny County all our lives and know the locations as well as any outside interests might be able to tell them."

Armstrong said the Dickey report will be considered along with all other suggestions that have been made for a town hall site.

"This is a big question and we want to be as nearly right on it as it is possible to be when we do decide it," Armstrong said.

He did not indicate when the commissioners will act.

13 CHILDREN AMONG VICTIMS

School today, fearful of finding additional victims of the tornado that yesterday claimed the lives of 12 children and one teacher in the greatest disaster ever known to this Western Virginia mountain village.

Several children were reported missing early today, and because of the wide area from which the school drew its pupils, no complete check was possible.

Caught without warning as they were re-entering the two-story frame school house after the noon recess, some of the children were blown 100 yards and others buried in the wreckage when the building was demolished by the storm.

SCENE OF CONFUSION

Great confusion followed the tornado. Anxious fathers worked feverishly in the ruins, their anxiety intensified because many injured children had been hurriedly taken to hospitals before the parents arrived.

Mrs. Mary Darnell, mother of two girls, could not learn the fate of her children for more than four hours after the storm. She broke down when told that one of the children, Bertha Mae Darnell, was dead, and that the other daughter, Hattie, could not be found.

The body of Miss Ava Carter, a teacher, was found 75 yards from the school. The body of Polly Carter, 14, was carried 50 yards.

The dead at Catlett, Va., included Charles I. Allen, 50, and his twin daughters, Myra and Emma Allen, 16, and H. B. Laws, aged farmer. Marshall Hawkins, 14, of Woodville, Va., lost his life when struck by falling timbers.

SIX DIE IN MARYLAND

BALTIMORE, Md., May 3.—(AP.)—Six deaths were recorded in Maryland from violent winds which swept across the central portion of the state last night. At Laytonsville, where the home of Bowie Childs collapsed, his mother, Mrs. William H. Childs, 88, and his daughter, Florence, 9, were killed, and a son, Hampton Childs, 18, was so seriously injured that he died this morning.

At Brookville Mrs. Amelia Knapp, 88, was killed when the roof and part of the upper walls of a stone house, said to have been about 300 years old, collapsed.

At Harmony Grove the brick home of John J. Shenk was wrecked and Mrs. Shenk was killed while her husband died this morning at a Frederick Hospital.

MID-WEST FATALITIES

CHICAGO, May 3.—(AP.)—The Middle West today was checking its loss from yesterday's storm, which took at least three lives. Snow, rain, sleet, hail and wind combined to do damage over a wide area extending from Southwestern Missouri to Southeastern Michigan.

Two men were killed near Battle Creek, Mich., last night in an automobile crash attributed to poor visibility because of the storm. A man was killed in Chicago when he fell on the slippery pavement. A workman at Indiana Harbor, Ind., reported he had seen an airplane containing two men plunge into the lake. A search revealed no trace of the plane.

Chicago had snow flurries, and snow four inches deep covered most of Southern Michigan, where many highways were blocked.

East Coast Storm Grounds Tugboat

NEW YORK, May 3.—(AP.)—A gale that swept the North Atlantic seacoast today carried the Navy tug, Iuka, with 60 men aboard, into the mud flats near Fort Lafayette, Brooklyn. A police launch was standing by. The vessel went aground as a heavy storm was letting up over the harbor. The storm continued along the coast and the wind was of whole gale force at sea. The tug was undamaged.

BIG AIR LINERS MAY RACE ACROSS ATLANTIC OCEAN

NEW YORK, May 3.—(AP.)—A race across the Atlantic by two huge air liners, the new British R-100 and the German Graf Zeppelin, loomed as a possibility today.

Robert T. Pollock, American representative of the Airship Guarantee Company, owners of the R-100, said the British ship would start for New York in the latter part of June and expressed some concern over the possibility that the Graf Zeppelin might be en route to America at the same time.

The Graf Zeppelin plans to take off for America May 15, with a second trip a month later. It originally had planned to start the first flight next week.

Arrival of both ships in this country at the same time, said Mr. Pollock, might result in an awkward situation, as the 5,000 hydrogen cylinders available to the naval air station at Lakehurst, N. J., suffice for one airship only.

British Admiral Ends Life by Poison

PORTSMOUTH, England, May 3.—(AP.)—Inhabitants of the town of Gosport were shocked yesterday at news of the death of Engineer Rear Admiral William G. Mogg, deputy mayor of Gosport, who was found dead on the beach at Stokes Bay, with a bottle containing a poisonous mixture at his side.

The rear admiral, who was 68 years old, had a distinguished naval career. He retired in 1919.

Towner to See Hoover

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, May 3.—(AP.)—Gov. Horace M. Towner sailed for New York today en route to Washington. He will call on President Hoover and take up island business with various federal departments.

ic party, the German people have learned to think.

IN New York, a gathering of earnest radicals urged the formation of an American Labor party on a European model.

That wouldn't do any harm, perhaps. American Labor parties, when election day comes around, vote Democratic or Republican, NOT Labor.

BUT American labor must be careful not to organize labor itself on the European plan.

Many things need changing and improvement in this country. But Europe's methods won't do the work.

From China, Japan, India and Korea, 1,000,000 fighters have been imported and turned loose in the state of New Jersey.

These fighters are parasites that attack the Japanese beetle, dangerous insect pest.

LADY bugs are used to destroy the "scale" that ruins fruit trees. When men know enough to confine their wars to insect fighting, civilization will start.

VOLPES SOUGHT ON WARRANTS

Armed with warrants charging aggravated assault and battery, constables from the office of Alderman George J. Anderson today were searching for Carmine "Bozo" Treink, Mike Gadagno and Louis Volpe, Wilmerding politician. The men were named in informtions prefe rre by Tony Winkler, Wilmerding racketeer, who charges that he was attacked and severely beaten by the three men in his place of business Monday night.

Winkler charges that the attack was made because he had "squealed." On Monday Winkler was fined $25 in Criminal Court for maintaining slot machines in his Wilmerding establishment. He told the court at that time that the machines had been installed by Arthur Volpe, of Wilmerding.

County Detective Chief George W. Murren summoned Winkler to his office today and questioned him. He then directed him to prefer the informations against the three. On the strength of Winkler's story, Murren personally preferred a charge of maintaining gambling devices against Arthur Volpe.

Shipments of Coal On River Increase

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., May 3.—Coal shipments passing here for down-river destinations during April aggregated 1,302,000 tons, reports showed today, an increase of 65,000 tons over March. The Monongahela Railway loadings were 180,000 tons lower, however, 1,500,000 tons being handled. Coke shipments here were generally higher.

Man Killed, Another Hurt in Auto Crash

GREENVILLE, Pa., May 3.—E. V. Corban, of Greenville, was injured probably fatally and Rex Gardner, of Erie, Pa., was killed when the machine in which they were riding left the road and overturned near Meadville. Corban is in Spencer Hospital, Meadville, and is not expected to live, his right lung being punctured.

STIMSON PARROT THRIVES ON VOYAGE TO AMERICA

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3.—(AP.)—Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson's Chinese parrot, "the Old Soak," was reported in good health today at Singapore.

A cablegram received at the Dollar Steamship office here said the parrot was making the journey from Manila to New York in fine shape.

The bird, which lived at Malacanang Palace, official residence of Mr. Stimson when he was governor general of the Phillipines, is being sent to New York on the liner President Wilson in the personal care of the skipper, Capt. F. F. Anderson. The captain is under orders to report the bird's condition at each port he touches.

The cablegram from Anderson said:

'Old Soak's' health good. Thriving on diet. Have had to stop crew from teaching him undiplomatic expression account bird's vocabulary already extensive enough. Nobody told me this bird would attempt to sing. Believe me he is no Caruso."

U. S. Woman Gives Paris Children Fund

PARIS, May 3.—(AP.)—A gift of 1,000,000 francs to provide playgrounds for the children of Paris was provided yesterday by Mrs. Elise Stern, an American woman living in France. It is expected that her contribution will be the foundation of a fund to which all the citizens of Paris will be encouraged to subscribe.

Man Hurt as Auto Crashes Into Pole

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., May 3.—Clifford Crider, 20, of 723 Seventh avenue, suffered a fracture of the skull when an automobile skidded on the Ellwood City road and crashed into a pole. F. C. Blackwood, owner of the car, escaped injury.

19 DEAD AS MAY DAY RIOTS FLARE ANEW IN BERLIN

International News Service.

BERLIN, May 3.—Nineteen persons, a number of them women, have been killed in one of the fiercest outbreaks of rioting in the history of Berlin.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon fighting was in full blast with incessant firing by both sides to the accompaniment of yells and shrieks of the wounded.

Two women who inquisitively stepped out on a balcony were shot.

The police passed word strictly prohibiting showing oneself at windows or roofs.

"STATE OF SIEGE"

There have been scores of gun and club battles between reds and police.

During the rioting, a woman wheeling a baby carriage shot at the police.

State-of-siege regulations will be enforced in the Neukoelin and Wedding districts between 9 p. m. and 4 a. m. Only doctors and nurses will be allowed upon the streets between those hours.

COMMUNISTS LOSE

Groups of more than three persons may not gather. The police issued a warning that persons violating this order might be shot.

The Communists were beaten in all street battles and their efforts to call a general strike throughout the republic met with only sporadic response.

William R. Dawes' Daughter to Wed

CHICAGO, May 3.—(AP.)—William R. Dawes, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce and cousin of Charles G. Dawes, recently appointed ambassador to Great Britain, today announced the coming marriage of his daughter, Marian.

She will be wedded Sunday to Donald Seymour Walker, son of Mrs. Ida Stone Walker, of New York. The bridegroom is a graduate of the United States Naval Academy and has been engaged in business in Chicago.

Woman Hermit Slain, Coroner's Jury Finds

DUBOIS, Pa., May 3.—(INS.)—A verdict of murder was returned by a coroner's jury here today, investigating the death of Mrs. Mary Weaver, aged recluse of Falls Creek, who was found dead in her home the night of April 14.

An autopsy removed doubt that death was accidental. The jury made no attempt to place the blame for the slaying and no evidence which may have been uncovered by state police was revealed.

Electric Iron Takes Rolling Pin's Place

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—Even styles of weapons in the hands of irate wives change. Yesterday it was rolling pins, today it is the electric iron.

This is the allegation contained in the divorce suit filed here by Roy C. Linklater against Mrs. Bernice Linklater. Linklater claims that his wife's aim with the iron was so good that he was severely wounded when the missive collided with his skull.

POSTAL OFFICIALS ACCEPT NEW MAIL TRUCK GARAGE

Keys to the new garage of the Pittsburgh postoffice, Magee, Locust and Seitz streets, have been turned over by the owner and contractor to postoffice officials.

The building, the last word in modern garage construction, was accepted in behalf of the government by C. A. Callahan and M. Vaughn, postoffice inspectors; M. Carriere, chief mechanic of the motor vehicles division, and L. E. Palmer, superintendent of mails. The government is leasing the building for a period of 10 years, with a 10-year renewal option, from Nathan Robinson, of Philadelphia, its owner.

The building is 165 feet long and 118 feet wide. Its floor space is 57,000 square feet, or twice the space of the old garage. More than 200 mail trucks can be accommodated on the three floors at one time. The first floor is accessible from Magee street, and the second and third from Seitz street.

Vestris Officer Exonerates Crew

LONDON, May 3.—(AP.)—Chief Officer F. W. Johnson, senior officer surviving the sinking of the British steamship Vestris, yesterday told the inquiry court of the Board of Trade that he had no complaint or criticism of any member of the crew, although the firemen three times abandoned their posts and near the end of the fatal voyage the engineers themselves were stoking.

FEW HOLD HOPE OF ACCORD ON REPARATIONS

PARIS, May 3.—(AP.)—An air of frank pessimism permeated quarters of the reparations conference today, with few holding real hope a settlement would evolve from eleventh hour conversations between Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, German spokesman, and creditor nation representatives.

Subject of the conversations yesterday and last night were kept in deepest secrecy. Delegates of the allied nations would only say that they had got down to essentials and that the conference was still alive.

Dr. Schacht himself intimated a final decision would be reached within two days. Absence of Emile Moreau, governor of the Bank of France and leader of the French delegation, however, made it probable no definite step would be taken until he returns Monday.

Conversations between German and creditor nation delegates continued today, with their motive a search for some way to obtain some ready money for the allies and still not to commit Germany irrevocably for 50-odd years.

A "provisional settlement" for 10 or 12 years was understood to have entered this discussion, but the known antipathy of the allied delegates to this form of agreement, which would not permit of appreciable commercialization of the reparations debt, made it seem unlikely success might attend.

Carnegie Professors' Fund Cut $16,000,000

NEW YORK, May 3.—(AP.)—Cuts in pensions to college professors, which the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching put into effect, will amount to between $16,000,000 and $17,000,000, announced by Clude Furst, secretary. A total of 2,800 men will be affected.

Older professors, numbering 1,100, are not affected. Under the revised plan a normal retiring salary, has been set up based on reports of salaries covering the period from 1917 to 1926. The cut under this plan will be about one-fourth that of the original pension plan.

RADIO, WIRE, PHONE HEADS TO BE CALLED ON NEW BILL

WASHINGTON, May 3.—(AP.)—Leaders in the radio and telephone and telegraph industries soon will be called by the Senate Commerce Committee for hearings on the bill of Chairman Couzens for the establishment of a federal communications commission.

The committee agreed yesterday to a suggestion by Senator Couzens for hearings and a study of the radio and other communications industries. Senator Couzens has little hope for action on his bill at this session, but he wants to start consideration.

While the hearings will be directed at the proposed federal control, there are indications that a full airing of conditions in the communications world is in prospect.

No date has been set for the opening, but Senator Couzens hopes to get started next week.

The communications bill would set up a commission of five to direct all common carriers engaged in the transmission of intelligence by wire or wireless. The commission would be prohibited from powers of censorship or interference in purely intra-state communications.

Members of the Radio Commission probably will be among the first to be heard.

One provision in the bill requires corporations contemplating mergers to lay all their contracts before the proposed commission.

They Stole Dead Autos and Live Dog Guards

WASHINGTON, May 3.—(AP.)—For some time, Robert Hershon, local auto scrapping yard proprietor, has maintained a guard of two strapping police dogs at night over his establishment to forestall thievery.

Arriving to open business today he discovered that during his absence thieves had departed not only with $390 worth of his property, but with his brace of canine sentries, which were valued at $500.

Bank to Pay Bills For Customers

SCARSDALE, N. Y., May 3.—(AP.)—A new bank here is to pay its depositors' bills, saving them the trouble of writing checks. Depositors will send their bills to the bank monthly. They must have ample funds in bank, of course.

Church to Observe 50th Anniversary

A week of special services beginning Sunday will mark the fiftieth anniversary of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Fortieth street and Howley avenue. Sunday morning the speaker will be the Rev. W. E. Schuette, president of the eastern district of the Joint Lutheran Synod, and Sunday night there will be a reunion for all confirmed during the 50 years, the Rev. Dr. John L. Ernest, a former pastor, presiding. The Rev. Otto Ebert is pastor.

Mexican Rebel Chief Under U.S. Protection

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., May 3.—(INS.)—Somewhere in Arizona Gen. Gonzalo Escobar, leader of the abortive Mexican revolution, today was under protection of American government officials.

He fled across the border near Agua Prieta, evading Federal troops who were closing in on three sides, and was met by United States officials who are keeping him under cover to discourage any demonstrations on either side of the international line.

Aged Woman Recluse Slain, Jury Decides

DUBOIS, Pa., May 3.—A coroner's jury probing the death of Mrs. Mary Weaver, aged Falls Creek recluse, whose body was found at the foot of a stairway in her home on the night of April 14, returned a formal verdict of murder, following an inquest.

The report of the autopsy performed by surgeons removed doubt that death was accidental. The jury did not attempt to place the blame for tragedy and no indication of any clues which may have been uncovered by state police was revealed.

SECOND WOMAN GONE, FEARED KIDNAPED

CHICAGO, May 2.—(INS.)—New mystery today entered the slugging and kidnaping of Miss Rosalie Rizzo, 20-year-old telephone operator, who yesterday was abducted from her home by two well-known gunmen. Her sister, Mrs. Harold Carr, was mysteriously missing today after receiving a telephone call from Miss Rizzo stating she was safe and in the city.

From the mysterious actions of Mrs. Carr, police believe she was threatened or perhaps kidnaped, also.

It was learned that the gunmen, before they went to the rooming house of Allen Ferris, where Miss Rizzo lived, had gone to the Carr home, had beaten Mrs. Carr and then left for the Ferris residence.

There, they slugged Ferris and dragged Miss Rizzo to a waiting automobile. Police said they learned one of the gunmen was John Tooney, police character.

MORE POLICE IN HAYS URGED

Mayor Charles H. Kline today forwarded to Council a letter declaring that citizens of the recently annexed territory of Hays Borough and Lincoln Place have been denied adequate police and fire protection.

The Mayor declared that the city, in accepting new territory, implies a promise to furnish service at least equaling that obtained before annexation.

"Acquiring more territory just for the sake of gaining greater valuation, which increases our bonding power and permits the boast of a larger population, lacks in sincerity and places us in the light of dealing selfishly with our neighbors," the letter averred.

4 WIN $250,000 TAX REFUNDS

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(INS.)—Tax refunds and abatements totaling nearly a quarter of a million dollars were announced today by the Treasury.

The estate of Frederick C. Jennings, New York, was refunded $46,287 because of a Federal Court decision. The Spring Book Water Supply Company, New York, received $57,150 as a result of a compromise with the Treasury.

Simon L. Bloch, Philadelphia, was awarded $64,082 under a Federal Court decision. The Weill-Jamison Co., New York, received an abatement of $80,671 under a decision of the Board of Tax Appeals.

FREIGHT WRECK DROWNS TWO

SAYRE, Pa., May 3.—(INS.)—Two trainmen were killed and two others injured when a double-header freight train ran into a washout near Oswego, N. Y., on the Auburn division of the Lehigh Valley Railroad early today.

The dead are: Zeba Thrall, engineer, and Floyd Youngs, fireman, both of Auburn, N. Y. They were the crew of the first engine that plunged down an embankment into a small creek, pinning them beneath the water.

Jefferson Township Road Work Planned

County Solicitor Heber Dithrich today in Quarter Sessions Court was granted permission to present a petition to the May grand jury for the widening and improving of the Mowery, Gill Hall and Cochran Mills road in Jefferson Township.

The road is to be widened to 50 feet for 2½ miles and will be of concrete. The improved section will extend from the junction of the Millers Grove and Clairton roads to the Peters Creek road, near the Washington County line. The estimated cost of the improvement will be $224,000.

Man Shot, Friend Sought as Gunman

WASHINGTON, Pa., May 3.—Emil Bango, 28, was brought to the hospital here suffering from a probably fatal bullet wound in the chest and back and county detectives last night started a search for Pete Perfetto, 30, a friend of the victim. Perfetto is alleged to have shot Bango following their attendance at a wedding. The cause of the shooting is unknown.

Annexation Drive on In Up-River Towns

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., May 3.—At least a score of petitions are in circulation and the majority of Parnassus residents are strongly in favor of the movement to consolidate that borough with New Kensington. Before the project is presented to council, it is proposed to have petitions circulating in every part of Parnassus, including Mt. Vernon.

Consolidated action is now pending between Arnold and New Kensington, while East Kensington, Valley Heights, Valley Camp, Martins District and McKean Plan citizens are working on a proposal to be annexed to New Kensington. Should all these territories be merged, the town will have a population of 40,000.

Seton Hill Students Entertain Mothers

GREENSBURG, Pa., May 3.—The students of Seton Hill College will entertain their mothers during the fourth annual mothers' week-end. Today the guests visit their daughters' classes and laboratory periods. Tonight there will be an all-college recital under the direction of the department of music. Saturday morning the mothers will be taken on a tour of the buildings and grounds. In the afternoon the home economics department will hold a fashion revue, featuring clothes designed, made and modeled by students. Saturday evening a birthday dinner for mothers will be served. Sunday morning high mass will be sung by Dr. J. A. Reeves.

MORE NOTABLES OFFER PLANS FOR TEMPERANCE

More than 850 late scattering plans, mailed from distant points, were received by the New York American yesterday in the Hearst temperance prize contest, greatest of its kind in history, which came to a close Tuesday midnight. The American alone in the last 10 days has received 10,918 contest entries.

The total number of plans received in the nation-wide contest conducted by the Hearst newspapers will be announced in next Sunday's issues.

Entries were received yesterday from James W. Gerard, ambassador to Germany during the World War, and former Supreme Court justice of New York; Robert Rosenbluth, assistant director of the New York State Department of Social Welfare, Albany; John R. Schwinzer, vice president, Tiffany Studios, New York; Sam W. Small, associate editor of the Atlanta Constitution; Judge Robert W. B. Terrell, San Antonio, Tex.; Lawrence F. Quigley, mayor of Chelsea, Mass.

Commander Joseph F. Daniels, United States Navy, retired, Jamestown, R. I.; John Weichsel, president People's Art Guild, New York; Mrs. Addie T. Miller, secretary probation department, Municipal Court, Cleveland, O.

PITTSBURGHER NAMED

Charles F. Johnson, superintendent Luzerne County (Pa.) Industrial School for Boys; Capt. J. Thomas Schneider, instructor in law, United States Military Academy, West Point, N. Y.; R. R. Wright, executive secretary for Ohio of the Federal Dispensary-Tax Reduction League; Burke F. Read, chief clerk, Department of Public Safety, Pittsburgh.

Dr. James R. Mays, director of the Homeopathic Hospital of Rhode Island, Providence; Provincial Representative John J. E. Samuel, Acaciaville, Nova Scotia; Kenneth O'Brien, of the law firm, O'Brien, Boardman, Fox, Memhard & Early, New York.

YOUTH AND DRY ERA

The Hearst contest obtained yesterday from Vincent Pisarra, superintendent and chief probation officer of the Children's Society of New York City, his views on the workings of prohibition, as regards young people.

Hip pocket flasks loaded with hooch have become an essential in the last 10 years to the social popularity of a boy in his teens if he attempts to be in "a set," or mingle freely with other boys and girls of his age, according to Mr. Pisarra.

His observations were based upon his experiences in attending thousands of hearings in the courts of New York City involving charges against boys and girls under the age of 21. Probably no other person in New York has had such wide range of experience in this direction as has been his lot. Mr. Pisarra says:

"I do not believe that one youth in a hundred drinks the vile whisky and gin of today because he likes it or because it appeals to him. It is a habit forced upon boys and girls because of the accepted customs of the so-called prohibition era of the last 10 years. It is 'smart to drink,' and the boy or girl who does not do so is not popular socially.

NO IMPROVEMENT

"It is an open question in my mind, after my observation of the cases in the courts of New York City with which the Children's Society is brought into contact, whether prohibition is one whit better than the old saloon days. If there is an improvement, I am not able to see it, I say that without prejudice.

"I can recall the day within comparatively recent years when the young man that went to a dance or a social function with a flask or liquor bottle in his pocket was socially ostracized. He placed a blot on his reputation that he would probably carry with him all his life. Today he is ostracized if he doesn't have that sort of thing in his pocket.

"In the children's society we see the havoc of this sort of thing. The hip pocket flask and the automobile, combined, is the greatest twin-evil in New York City today. The old saloon in its rankest days could not compare with the menace of this present day problem.

"The greatest trouble is that the boys and girls in many cases have acquired a taste for hooch. To say that the price of it is high, and that it costs more than the old-time hard liquors is simply to let the ostrich thrust his head in the sand.

EDUCATION NO REMEDY

"Education is not a remedy for this situation, and it is not going to get at the bottom of the matter. I hear so many people talk of the necessity of educating people to observe prohibition. That sort of education is not going to make the slightest improvement, so long as young people are led to believe that it is 'smart' to do the other thing.

"We have so many complaints on this sort of thing at the Children's Society that we cannot begin to follow them up. Bootleggers go into the best residential neighborhoods, rent an apartment at $5,000 to $10,000 a year, and pass out word to grown people and boys and girls alike that liquors are on sale in the place.

FOR CANADA'S PLAN

"I would welcome the sale of wines and beers under some system similar to that in Canada as a means of solving the problem we have on our hands. So long as it is considered 'smart' to drink bootleg whisky, drunkenness will continue, and I think the only way to remove the 'smartness' of the thing is to make it available to every class, so that the possession of liquor does not have an 'exclusive aspect.'

"The old saloons were far more respectable than present day speakeasies, and a girl who visited one of them was in better company and in better surroundings than she is today when she goes into one of the so-called 'exclusive speakeasies' north of Forty-second street.

"We do not like to advertise the chain of evils that come to us out of these circumstances. If the facts we have were laid before the people of this nation, I think they would constitute an unparalleled revelation."

Theft Suspect Holds 7 at Bay With Gun

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., May 3.—Reported caught in the act of stealing an automobile here, John Chubara, 19, held seven men at bay at the point of a revolver for more than an hour and slugged a policeman over the head with his gun before he was captured. The youth, police say, has been implicated in several robberies here. Charges of carrying concealed weapons, pointing firearms and attempted theft of an automobile were made against Chubara.

Wife Found Hanging, Rescue Effort Futile

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., May 3.—Although still living when cut down by her husband from a noosed rope suspended from a rafter of their barn, Mrs. Lillian Hess, 36, wife of Charles Hess, farmer, of near Worthington, died several hours afterward from a broken neck. The woman sought death because of illness. She left a note to her husband concerning funeral arrangements.

AVIATION CELEBRITIES TO BROADCAST HERE TONIGHT

CISSIE LOFTUS ON AIR; RAY HENDERSON'S MUSIC

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor.

CISSIE LOFTUS, mimic and dramatic actress, will entertain with some of her character impersonations tonight at 10 o'clock over WJAS during the Kodak Hour. In her repertoire are imitations of John McCormick, Sarah Bernhardt, Babe Ruth and others. Cissie has a reputation and we hope she maintains it before the microphone.

WJAS will try two things new. First the Town Tattler Orchestra at 7:31 p. m. in popular music, and second a musical drama, "Revenge," at 8 o'clock. "Revenge" offers a wide latitude for sound effects.

AVIATION CELEBRITIES

Of a different character in entertainment is the offering of KDKA at 8 o'clock from the Hotel Schenley, where numerous celebrities are gathered in connection with Pittsburgh's Aircraft Show. These notables will tell something of aviation. They include Elisha Lee, vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad; Rear Admiral W. A. Moffett, Amelia Earhart, William S. Brock, Lieut. Commander C. E. Rosendahl of the Los Angeles; Assistant Secretary of War for Aviation F. Trubee Davison, and Samuel W. Stratton, president Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Cissie Loftus

Perhaps Postmaster General Walter F. Brown will tell how radio mail has increased postal receipts when he talks about "Postoffice Problems" over WCAE at 10:30 p. m.

YOUTHFUL SONG WRITER

A youth not yet 20—Ray Henderson—has written some of the country's most popular music. For such service he receives more than a quarter of a million annual income. No wonder that the Challengers, KDKA at 10, find it popular to devote half an hour to his music.

But one candle will adorn the birthday cake in the WEAF studio when the Dixie Circus celebrates its first anniversary. Uncle Bob Sherwood will retell four of his famous yarns, KDKA at 7:30.

To break up the marital troubles of Gus and Louie and incidentally furnish a few thrills, the Schradertown Brass Band will offer an exciting sea story with incidental music by Arthur Pryor's Band, WCAE at 9:30.

Jessica Dragonette, popular soprano, and Colin O'More, tenor, will resume their parts in the second act of "The Chocolate Soldier," the Philco Theater Memories' attraction over KDKA at 9:30 o'clock.

The Honolulans, WLW at 11, look good with "Dreams of Hawaii and You," "Drowsy Waters" and "My Isle of Golden Dreams."

Radio Jim Hughes, whose personal story of his experiences in radio was published in last Sunday's Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, has assumed his new duty of program director at WJAS. Hughes has been an entertainer in Pittsburgh radio since its inception.

MUSICAL DRAMA, "REVENGE."
The story of "Revenge" is laid in Spain, and concerns a beautiful Spanish girl who is engaged to marry a nobleman. She falls in love, however, with a gypsy whom she hears playing outside her home and therefore tries to break off her wedding plans. The nobleman insists on the wedding, but the day of the ceremony he finds she has fled with her gypsy lover. Vowing that he will obtain revenge, the rejected suitor spends years in her pursuit, the climax arriving when he finally finds the girl. The conclusion is full of dramatic surprises, and the music will add a romantic tone to this novel broadcast.

"MY AIR ELOPEMENT"
Tonight finds Mary and Bob tired but happy after a long day of tobogganing and snowshoeing in Mt. Ranier National Park. The radio listeners join them at Long Mere Springs, a famous resort for artists, sportsmen and all who enjoy the out-of-doors.
In this holiday crowd, the two find a young aviator whose exoeriences interest them. Two desperate men stood between him and the girl he loved. Had he the right to risk all, even the life of his sweetheart, on flier's luck?
This thrilling romance is dramatized in "My Air Elopement."

WBAP Gets Permit To Use More Power

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(AP.)—The Radio Commission today licensed station WBAP, at Ft. Worth, Tex., to use 50,000 watts power on 800 kilocycles.

The station will now be one of the most powerful in America. It previously had been using 5,000 watts.

Orphans Get $8,757 In Death of Parents

BEAVER, Pa., May 2.—Robert E. and Jean Atkinson, New Brighton, orphaned when their parents were killed at Barclays Crossing two years ago, were given a verdict for $8,757 against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. The suit was instituted by the Beaver Trust Company, guardian.

Verdicts for $1,878 were returned in favor of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Sable, of Detroit, Mich., and for $4,000 for Miss Mary Gados, of Pittsburgh, against Frank Domabyl, of Pittsburgh. Arthur Sable, of Detroit, and Mrs. Elizabeth Gados, of Pittsburgh, were killed when an automobile, driven by Sable, collided with a truck driven by Domabyl, on the Darlington road, August 4, it was testified.

Reduce the Acid

In sick stomachs—instantly

Sick stomachs, sour stomachs and indigestion usually mean excess acid. The stomach nerves are overstimulated. Too much acid makes the stomach and intestines sour.

Alkali kills acid instantly. The best form is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, because one harmless, tasteless dose neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Since its invention, 50 years ago, it has remained the standard with physicians everywhere.

Take a spoonful in water and your unhappy condition will probably end in five minutes. Then you will always know what to do. Crude and harmful methods will never appeal to you. Go prove this for your own sake. It may save a great many disagreeable hours.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade-Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

---and now that Howard clothes have taken the lead not only in the $22.50 group of Clothiers, but at the head of All popular-priced clothing stores, and as the leading style-producers and money-savers to the workers and business men of America, we pledge ourselves again to leave no effort unmade and no money unspent to keep Howard clothes at the front.

Howard Clothes Are the Absolute Leaders in Style and Value

Every Howard Suit & Topcoat Is Sold at the One Howard Price

Never More

Above all else, Howard Clothes are Honest Clothes, and Howard Stores are Honest Stores. We don't feel that juggling prices up and down is honest. We will not sell you a Suit at one price and later sell that same Suit to some friend of yours for less. Our big daylight Brooklyn Factory keeps sending each of our stores new models and fabrics every week—so we have no left-overs and no undesirables, and can give you full advantage of the Howard Money-Saving Price Always.

MONEY BACK GUARANTEE

Never Less

Every Howard garment is made in our own factory by loyal and enthusiastic expert tailors who are directly interested in the style, fit and wear of every Suit and Topcoat—and in the lasting satisfaction we give every Howard customer. In materials you'll find here the choicest all-wool worsteds, and in tailoring the most painstaking, costly and shape-retaining handwork, especially on the interior and unseen foundation of every Howard Coat. Howard Clothes are good, inside and out.

No Exceptions to Our One-Price Policy

Satin-faced Tuxedo Suits including fancy Silk Vests, four-piece Golf and Sport Suits with Knickers to match, some Suits with Extra Pants—all these are included. There are no extras, no additional charges—and every garment is covered by the HOWARD GUARANTEE.

BANKRUPT CASE EMBEZZLER TO BE SENTENCED

Elliott Frederick, of Dormont, for years a trustee in bankruptcy cases in the Pittsburgh district, will be sentenced Monday in the embezzlement of funds from bankrupt estates which came under his charge as a trustee.

Frederick, one-time president of the Credit Men's Adjustment Bureau, has been in jail since October for contempt of court, because of his failure to file final and supplementary reports in bankruptcy cases to Watson B. Adair, referee in bankruptcy.

Frederick on December 21 pleaded guilty in Federal Court to two indictments charging embezzlement of funds totaling $51,000, from 16 estates in bankruptcy. Before sentence is imposed, it was said, Frederick will file the reports to purge himself of the contempt charge. In the prosecution of the cases the government was represented by Assistant United States Attorney James I. Marsh.

Braddock Veterans Of 1898 Organize

Organization of a Spanish-American War veterans' post in Braddock, was announced today by J. Clark Mansfield, state commander. At a meeting in the municipal building, attended by 30 persons, Oliver O. Mechling was named temporary president, and Oscar L. Groves, temporary secretary and treasurer. Camp will be formally instituted and officers installed at the next meeting, to be held in the municipal building May 28.

Steel Men's Meeting Hears Process Talk

The Pittsburgh chapter of the American Society for Steel Treating held its annual meeting last night in the auditorium of the U. S. Bureau of Mines building. An open forum on metallurgical questions was held. Prof. James Aston explained the Aston process for the making of wrought iron. Other speakers were A. M. Cox, of the Pittsburgh Commercial Heat Treating Company.

Stills Seized in Raids In Rankin, Braddock

Seizures of stills in raids on the homes of Christine Christiana, 55, of 14 Chartiers street, Rankin, and P. F. Dziak, 51, of 921 Washington street, Braddock, were reported by prohibition agents yesterday. The alleged owners were released on their own recognizance.

STATE TEACHER ALUMNI MEET MAY 25

Alumni Day will be held at the State Teachers' College, at Indiana, Pa., on May 25. Gov. John S. Fisher, Dr. A. H. Keith, superintendent of public instruction; Judge Charles E. Whitten, of Greensburg, and hundreds of graduates of the school in the Pittsburgh district will participate.

Members of the Allegheny County Alumni Association of the school plan to make the trip to Indiana by buses, scheduled to leave the Fort Pitt Hotel at 9:30 in the morning and to return early the same evening by way of the William Penn highway. Many members of the county alumni association are teachers in public schools in the Pittsburgh district.

Announcement of the proposed trip by buses was made by Miss Mary Wyman, 545 McClintock avenue, North Side, secretary of the association, who has already made bus reservation for many of the former students and their friends. The alumni dinner will be held at noon and the faculty reception at 3:30 o'clock. The class play will be given in the evening.

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

HELEN ROWLAND

Banana Peels on the Path of Love

A WOMAN in love doesn't have to have a good reason for being jealous—all she needs is a good imagination.

* * *

Somehow, the moment a man has swallowed one cocktail he wants another—and the moment he has succeeded in winning one woman, he wants another.

* * *

When two women set their minds on getting the same man, he has about as much chance of escape as a jaywalker between a northbound taxicab and a southbound mail truck.

The American way: Deploring the instability of marriage. Offering a prize for the "endurance record" in every sport in the world, except the marathon of marriage.

Next to his conscience, there is nothing which a man takes so lightly as a spring romance. Yet many a man might have died with his bachelor's buttons on it his good resolutions hadn't melted and skidded under a warm May moon.

* * *

Every man is modern enough, these days, to think it's all right for you to kiss him—and old-fashioned enough to think it's all wrong for you to kiss other men.

There may not be enough single men to go around, these days—but there are enough married ones who keep right on "going around" just as though they were single.

* * *

In the matter of marriage, eighteen may be "the age of consent" for a woman; but a man seldom goes to the altar with his own consent before he is eighty.

* * *

What no woman ever can understand is that a man may love her with blind devotion, yet not be so blind as to refrain from looking at a prettier pair of calves.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Signing Checks

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you please tell me the correct way for a married woman to sign her checks? Should they be signed Mrs. James Smith or Mary E. Smith?

M. E. S.

MARY E. SMITH, or Mary Edmonds Smith, or Mary Smith, as she prefers. But not with the Mrs. and not the formal name.

Welcoming New Daughter

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Recently I met a young man who claims he loves me. He told my parents and they are willing to accept him as a son. How shall I go about meeting his family? Should he take me to his home first, or should my parents invite his parents in for dinner and announce our engagement then? E. F.

ACCORDING to the long-ago-laid-down tradition for this situation, it is the charming duty of the mother and father of the groom-to-be to go at once to visit the fiancee of their son—if possible within 24 hours after they have been told the happy news by their son. This call is most important, naturally, since they are welcoming into their family their new daughter. Naturally, too, they should make this visit as soon as possible, so that they register the greatest (and quickest) enthusiasm. If this visit is not made by the time that you read this, talk over the matter with your fiance, and tell him that you would like very soon to meet his parents. It would be best if they make the call, but if you see that this is perhaps not in their mind because they think that you should come first to see them, then ask your fiance to take you to call on them. After that, you and your mother may, if you wish to arrange to have them, to dine at your home.

Colors for Blondes

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. I am going to give a recital very soon and I would like to know if I should send a little note enclosed with each program that I send out? If so, what should the note say?

2. If I receive flowers, should I send a note of thanks or just thank the person who sent the flowers after the recital?

3. What color do you think I should wear? I have very blond hair and blue eyes. D. L.

IT IS not customary, because it is usually not necessary, to enclose a note with the program and announcement. I wish that you had told me more definitely why you think that you felt that it is necessary in your case. I am sure that there is something that I don't understand. Has the program the announcement too? Will you write me again and tell me more definitely your plans so far?

2. As the sender comes to congratulate you after the concert, thank her or him for the thoughtfulness in sending the flowers. But by all means let me urge you, too, to write to each one, the day following the concert, an expression of your appreciation. This is very important.

3. How about matching your eyes with a lovely blue, for shades of blue are especially lovely this year and especially fashionable. There are yellows, too, now, that are ravishing. And certain shades of beige that are becoming to girls with light hair and blue eyes. But be careful of the shades. When beige is right, it is "very, very right," and when it is wrong "it is horrid."

And my best wishes for your concert.

Lady of the Roses -:- By Madge Geyer

LADY of the roses, listen to my plea
As I make it humbly, here on bended knee!
Here's my heart, beloved, your's forevermore
Out of all the world, dear, just you I adore!
See the roses nodding, each it's tiny head
Swaying to the love-tune so faltering said;
Stealing all your blushes; listening to my plea
Ah, sweet lady, answer! Yes? Ah, love, what ecstacy!

Love's Awakening

A Continuation of Love's Embers

Madge and Katherine Contrive to Keep the Party Going

WHEN Princess Olina and I came into the living room again, the phonograph, carefully muffled, was sending out the strains of a waltz to which Ronald, with Marion, and Noel, with Mary, were dancing. Carolyn was standing with Katherine eagerly outlining something which I guessed, from her gestures, was the "Paul Jones" which Mr. Owen had made the excuse for coming to the library door and aatempting to listen to what Prince Georges was saying to me.

"Can you take a boy's part in a dance?" I whispered to Olina.

"Yes, I can," she answered.

"Think I think you'd better ask Carolyn to dance," I told her. "It will keep her from noticing how long Prince Georges and Mr. Owen are gone, and the rest appear to be thoroughly insulated against any outside diversion."

I was a little ashamed of the catty reference to Noel who was looking at Marion as he danced as if there were no other girl in the world save the one in his arms. But I am a firm believer in the theory that love and justice never can be comrades. Not only sympathies, but my common sense were enlisted in the cause of Mary and Noel. No lasting happiness could come to the ununion of Princess Olina with Noel upon which the young violinist's father had so arrogantly determined, unless a tremendously great love was involved. It was certain that Noel had no such emotion toward Olina, although I knew that he liked her immensely. And I was equally sure that the infatuation of the young princess for Noel was only that—nothing more, and that to destroy it was the best kindness I could do her.

I mentally saluted her, however, when she replied to my comment upon the absorption of the dancers, She was the suave, poised woman of the world as she spoke in a carefully indolent tone.

"I don't think an air raid would disturb them," she said with a careless little laugh. "And I'll try to entertain the little newcomer."

She crossed to Carolyn's side and after a deferential word to Katherine, asked our elfish little visitor to dance. Carolyn, at just the age to indulge in violent, adoring admiration of older girls, was patently impressed and flattered by Olina's beauty and exquisite manner, and I drew a little relieved breath as I crossed to Katherine's side. Except Olina, no one in the room would miss Prince Georges and Mr. Owen as long as the music kept up.

"Something doing?" Katherine murmured as I joined her. "'By the pricking of my thumbs' I thought I'd better stick around here until you came back, although I see the kitchen is yawning for an able-bodied sculley maid like me in a gingham apron."

"We'll both get into the aprons later," I said. "Just now I want you to keep this phonograph from stopping while I keep my eyes and ears trained on the library. Georges is in there administering a sort of third degree to Mr. Owen. I'll explain why as soon as I can get a minute or two alone with you."

Katherine did not even raise an eyebrow in query, although I knew that what I had said must have excited her curiosity greatly.

"It is to be hoped that your royal friend knows a variety of Oriental tortures," she said viciously.

When washing bamboo and wicker furniture, use a solution of salt and water, not soap, as the latter spoils the polish and is apt to split the surface of the wood.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Earache May Be Due to Numerous Causes

PAIN is uncomfortable, almost unbearable at times. No matter where it is you wish you could escape it.

DR. COPELAND

Pain in the ear is about the worst of the pains. A real old-fashioned earache will cause the proudest of strong men to give every evidence of suffering.

I recall a roommate of mine in college. He had the earache and walked the floor by the hour. His outburst alternated between childish weeping and vehement profanity.

Not long ago I saw a lady leave the table, her hands clasping the back of her neck. Sudden and violent pain in that region was too much for her.

Talking with the lady afterward, I learned that she had a mastoid operation some years ago. Since that time she has had occasional attacks of neuralgic pain, attacks like the one I mentioned.

There are two distinct types of ear pain. One is due to actual inflammation, such as my roommate suffered. The blood vessels of the middle ear are filled with blood, actually crowded with blood. Or else there is an accumulation of fluid inside the middle ear. This places such pressure on the delicate nerves as to cause severe pain.

The other type is purely neuralgic in its nature, or it comes from an inflammation in the course of one of the nerves going to the ear, but the nerves that supply these tissues may be out of order.

The pain may not be in the ear itself. It may appear to be located in the bone back of the ear. Or it may be in the back of the neck, as was the case of the lady of whom I spoke.

Repeated attacks of this sort should send the victim to the ear specialist. The purpose of the visit is to make certain exactly what may be the condition of the ear. There will be a sense of relief when the organ is found to be perfectly normal.

I shall assume that there is no trouble there. Then we must conclude the trouble is nervous in origin. It may be a "reflex" trouble. That is, the real source of the disturbance may be quite remote from the ear.

A defective tooth, for instance, an exposed nerve in one of the back teeth, may give little pain in the mouth. The pain may be referred to the ear or the region about it.

I have seen many a case of "earache" disappear instantly. Getting rid of the bad tooth brings relief of the pain.

Disease of the nasal sinuses or of the tonsils may result in such absorption of pus as to poison the nervous system. In such a case there may be earache.

My purpose today is to point out that not every pain in the ear means disease of the ear. When you realize this you will take pains to have such an examination as will locate the real cause.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Saturday, May 4

WHILE this may be a particularly lively and eventful day, spurred to action by fine courage and enterprise, yet there is danger of overdoing by overenthusiasm, impetuosity or violence. A beneficial change is noted and employment is favored, but a well-controlled mind must sit at the helm in order to secure the prognosticated advantages. Avoid petty personal friction and intrigues.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a very lively year, with quickened energies and resources, but they should be restrained and not permit tumult, strife and impetuosity to undermine the presaged advantages in employment or in a beneficial change or travel. Minor personal inharmonies should be suppressed.

A child born on this day may be talented, resourceful and capable, but should be taught to keep in subjection tendencies to strife and inharmony and intrigues.

ILLINOIS NAMES 7 FOR DE KING RAID INQUIRY

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 3.—(AP.)—Chairman David Shanahan, of the House of entatives, yesterday appointed the committee to investigate the killing of Mrs. Joseph De King, of Aurora, and the liquor raid which preceded it.

Frederick Rennick, of Buda, who voted against the investigation, and who declared he had not been informed of the speaker's intention, was named chairman. Other members are Leroy Green, of Rockford, anti-prohibition leader; Mrs. Rena Elrod, Roy Juul, Michael Igoe and Henry Sonnenschein, all of Chicago, and William Gillmore, of Champaign.

Chairman Rennick announced the hearing in Aurora would probably be held May 10. He said the committee would plan a course of action early next week. All persons connected with the slaying will be called, he said, including Joseph De King, the son Gerald, the dry agent who shot Mrs. De King, the state's attorney and Eugene Boyd, who furnished information which led to the raid.

Four anti-prohibitionists and three drys comprise the committee, Juul, Green, Igoe and Sonnenschein being classed an antis and Chairman Rennick, Mrs. Elrod and Gillmore as "drys."

OSTEOPATHIC MEET OPENS

GROVE CITY, Pa., May 3.—Half of the osteopathic physicians in Pennsylvania, numbering 800, will be here today to attend the thirteenth annual convention of their organization. Dr. O. O. Bashline is head of the committee on arrangements. Private homes will be recruited to accommodate guests unable to get hotel room.

The convention room of the Penn Grove Hotel is used for all meetings. The clinic work of the convention takes place at the Bashline-Rossman Hospital, which has been enlarged.

Half of the 60 Pittsburgh osteopaths are present and 100 of the 300 Philadelphians. From Ohio comes a delegation of 50, with West Virginians also in attendance.

Dr. D. L. Clark, of Denver, president of the American Osteopathic Association, and Dr. C. W. Murratt, of Philadelphia, president of Pennsylvania organization, both are present.

U. S. HALTS REBEL'S FLIGHT TO SPAIN WITH $200,000

KANSAS CITY, May 3.—(AP.)—Salvator Ateca, erstwhile paymaster of Mexican rebel troops at Juarez and gambling house concessionaire whose intended flight to Spain with $200,000 in United States currency was interrupted here by Department of Justice agents, yesterday furnished bond of $5,000 for his appearance at El Paso, Tex., to answer a charge of violating the United States neutrality laws.

Similar bond was posted by Antonio G. Maqueo, secretary to Ateca. Both were released and Ateca retained possession of his large bank roll.

Ateca was holder of a gambling hall and slot machine concession in Juarez until Mexican federal troops occupied the town. With his family he was on his way to New York to sail for Spain when he was taken from a train here by federal officers.

Ateca and Maqueo are charged with having smuggled an airplane into Mexico for rebel use. Philip Mohun, an American, who was arrested recently in El Paso after quitting the Mexican rebel air force, is alleged to have named Ateca and his secretary as figuring in receiving money paid by the rebels for the smuggled plane.

The Republic of Mexico and the state of Chihuahua have brought suit against Ateca in El Paso for the recovery of $4,500 he is alleged to have appropriated from the Juarez city treasury and $6,000 from the state bureau.

ETNA DRUGGIST MISSING

Mystery today shrouded the disappearance of J. Arthur Young, 45, a druggist, of 356 Butler street, Etna. Young left his living quarters over the store shortly before 8 o'clock yesterday morning for a downtown wholesale drug company to get supplies, city detectives who were asked to search for him, said.

Members of his family, reporting his disappearance to police, said Young usually motored to the city for drug supplies. They found his automobile key in a lock of the car. A call to the drug company revealed that he was not there.

JURORS ATTACK FREE ENTRY OF U.S. OFFICIALS

NEW YORK, May 3.—(AP.)—Freedom from customs inspection, a privilege commonly accorded officials on government business, was condemned by members of the Federal grand jury that sat in April as leading to various abuses "and to the natural suspicion that the claimed privilege of free entry is really being used as a cover for the importation of contraband."

After the statement was made public without comment by United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle is was learned that the jurors had spent 10 days investigating the practice immediately following upon the arrival of the steamer Cristobal on March 25.

MANY ABOARD CRISTOBAL

There were more than a dozen members of the House of Representatives on the Cristobal, several of whom were granted free entry in advance as being on a government mission. Representative William M. Morgan, of Ohio, who was on the boat but who had not been granted free entry, demanded that he be accorded the courtesy.

Customs agents testified at an investigation that Representative Morgan had threatened to "make trouble in Washington" if he were not granted free entry.

Rochester Nurses To Graduate May 16

ROCHESTER, Pa., May 3.—Seven young women will graduate from the Training School for Nurses at the Rochester General Hospital at commencement exercises in the high school auditorium, Thursday, May 16, at 8 o'clock, in observance of national hospital day. Members of the graduating class are Elizabeth Martin, Laurene McCracken, Wilmina Cullen, Ruth Hendrickson, Frances Smith, Dorothy Powers and Clara Eitzman.

Scientists Organize Society of Rheology

COLUMBUS, O., May 3.—(AP.)—A new international scientific organization, the Society of Rheology, was born at the American Chemical Society convention yesterday. Rheology, it was announced, is the study of the property of flowing, like water but in less degree, that exists in all substances, even steel.

The sponsors believe that unraveling the secrets of flow in seemingly stable substances may lead to prevention of accidents, to large saving of wastes and to eradication of some of the small annoyances now described by such terms as "tackiness and harshness."

Youghiogheny River To Get Bass Supply

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., May 3.—Through efforts of Congressman Samuel A. Kendall, a supply of bass which may make the Youghiogheny River a paradise for fishermen has been promised for this fall by the Federal Bureau of Fisheries at Washington.

Petitioned by sportsmen of this city for assistance in getting bass, the Congressman has sent word of a promise of "as many as possible" to be shipped in September. The bass will be put into the stream between Confluence and the Maryland state line.

Four Wed at Once In Two States by One Minister

MARYLAND-DELAWARE State Line, May 3.—(INS.)—An unusual double wedding was performed here yesterday by the Rev. L. Windsor, of St. John's Methodist Church.

He performed the double ceremony with one couple, James Wright, 21, and Dorothy Cox, 20, standing in Delaware, and Gladdeus Dykes, 22, and Shirley Brown, 18, standing on Maryland soil. The minister straddled the state line and pronounced the quartet legally married.

Cycle Police May Don Polo Helmets

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—The heads of state troopers in Rhode Island's motorcycle police squad may soon be protected by helmets similar to those used by polo players.

Experiments are now being conducted to determine whether the adoption of this unconventional headgear is feasible. Since the department was organized one trooper has been killed and two others have suffered serious concussions of the head by being hurled from motorcycles to the pavement.

THREE AUTOS ROBBED; LOOT VALUED AT $620

E. F. Ploeger, of 1312 Mississippi avenue, Dormont, reported the theft of a sample case of hosiery from his machine at Liberty avenue and Water street. The merchandise was valued at $300.

A fur neck piece disappeared from the automobile of Martha Williams, of 3200 Forbes street, after the car had figured in a collision at Ferry and Water streets, police said.

From the machine of A. C. Scarth, 4806 Brown place, a sample case of cakes and candy worth $20 was stolen.

12,631 Foreigners Visit Japan in 1928

TOKIO—(INS.)—During 1928 the foreign visitors to Japan numbered 12,631, among them the Chinese occupying foremost rank in respect to numbers, with 5,672, followed by American tourists, with 3,240, and Britishers with 1,877. Soviet Russia visitors numbered 370, as did the visitors from France. Germans numbered 264, and Filipinos 150. The number of Italian visitors during the year was 44 and that of Dutch 56. Comparatively a large percentage of the foreign visitors was registered by Indians, who numbered 75.

DORAN WOMAN SENT TO HOME

LANCASTER, Pa., May 3.—(AP.)—Rita H. Doran, the woman who participated in the kidnaping of a state highway patrolman, was transferred secretly yesterday from the Lancaster county jail to the Muncy Industrial Home for Women.

Three carloads of policemen and detectives, all heavily armed, escorted the woman. The authorities feared the woman's gang, might attempt to take her away from them while in transit.

Recently sentenced to a prolonged prison term, Miss Doran had been an inmate of the county prison for several weeks. The treatment accorded her was so good that it came in for criticism of several members of the grand jury after their tour of the prison.

LEADERS SCORE POWER, NEWS COMBINE

NEW YORK, May 3.—Widespread public interest and comment on the revelation of newspaper ownership by the International Paper and Power Company was manifest today. The Federal Trade Commission's investigation, still incomplete, has elicited sufficient information to provide a basis for editorials in nearly all of the leading daily newspapers.

Newspaper publishers of widely divergent affiliations and political policies were almost unanimous in seeing a menace in the combination of newspaper ownership with large public utility interests.

Congressmen suggested the possibility that anti-trust legislation, which had supposedly exerted a benign influence on capitalistic combination in the past two decades, might require further serious attention, in the light of the Federal Trade Commission's recent discovery.

"PEOPLE LULLED TO SLEEP"

Representative Loring M. Black — Information showing that any large combination of capital engaged in commercial or industrial enterprise in this country has extended its sphere of operation by acquiring an interest in 13 newspapers is a matter that requires the serious attention of the public.

People may have been lulled to sleep in the belief that there are no longer any "trusts." There are laws against combinations in restraint of trade and there is protection against monopoly.

The testimony before the Federal Trade Commission that a corporation engaged in the paper and power business is also a factor of importance in the publication of a number of newspapers, suggests the possibility that we may have to consider still further the control of "combinations" in business.

Certainly the average individual does not want news of the proceedings of Congress or of the administration of public affairs in his state and city supplied to him by the company which furnishes him electric light or gas.

Representative William I. Sirovich—It is distinctly contrary to the policy under which American institutions have been built up that we should allow control to center in the hands of a few. That danger was what caused the widespread anti-trust agitation of a few years ago. Trusts were dissolved and new corporations were restricted.

It was quite surprising to those engaged in legislation to learn that a corporation organized to engage in the manufacture of paper and the necessary development of power should have embarked in the part ownership of 13 newspapers.

If such a condition were carried to an extreme, and one large corporation engaged in transportation, power supply or any other public utility could control a majority of the newspapers, we might soon see what has been considered public policy dictated largely by private interests.

OF CONCERN TO ALL

Representative F. H. La Guardia—Ownership of the newspapers in this country is a matter of concern to all citizens. We have in the constitution a guarantee of a free press. That guarantee is directed against restrictions by sumptuary law and undue exercise of police power.

It may be as Mr. Graustein of International Paper and Power Company says, that his company had only a commercial interest in its purchase of a part ownership in 13 newspapers. It brings to public attention, however, the possibility of carrying such an operation to a much greater extent. Where the ownership of a newspaper goes its flag will naturally follow.

This is no longer merely a matter of business rivalry in the publishing business. It becomes a matter of public policy with more than the suggestion that our competitive system must have legislative guardianship.

Schoolyard 'Joke' Ends in Tragedy As Girl Drowns

WELCH, W. Va., May 3.—(AP.)—A practical joke yesterday cost the life of a nine-year-old Maitland school girl.

Thelma Ollis left her classroom at recess. When she reached the schoolyard, classmates cried to her that her six-year-old brother had fallen into a nearby stream. Without hesitation the child ran to the bank and plunged into the water. She was drowned. Her brother had not been near the stream.

Waitresses Strike While Diners Wait

While several hundred patrons waited for luncheons to be served, waitresses in the Knox Grill, 339 Fifth avenue, went on strike at noon yesterday. The kitchen force and hostesses were pressed into service as waitresses by the management, and last night a new force had been hired.

CLEVELAND BANKER WARNS AGAINST CREDIT INFLATION

WASHINGTON, May 3.—(AP.)—Leonard P. Ayres, vice president of the Cleveland Trust Company of Cleveland, yesterday warned that the United States is moving toward credit inflation through rapidity of check payments especially for speculation.

Addressing the seventeenth annual meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce, he compared the situation to a "great national poker game," in which the chips remain the same in number, but are "passed around more and more rapidly as the game gets faster and faster."

Convention delegates are considering resolutions, which will be voted on today, expressing the attitude of American business toward reduction of the corporate income tax, repeal of the national origins clause of the immigration law, and calendar reform.

Chairman Johnson of the House immigratin committee recommended in opposing a resolution which advocated repeal of the national origins provisions, that all immigration into the United States be suspended indefinitely. He declared "that the public wants no more immigration" and that 80 per cent of all present members of the House "were elected with the idea of more restriction of immigration."

In his speech, Ayres asserted that the federal reserve system and the banking structure are being undermined by loss of deposits, which results, he said, in loss of control by the banks and the federal reserve system.

He suggested remedial action by the New York Stock Exchange, but did not offer specific suggestions. He declared against legislation as a cure for the situation.

BANKER SCORES SPECULATION

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 3.—Stock speculation is hitting normal business conditions in virtually all cities of the country outside of New York, stated A. E. Adams, president of the combined First National-Dollar Banks yesterday.

"Excessive speculation has drained us of our free capital," stated Mr. Adams. "It has killed the real estate business, slowed down collections, taken from local enterprises the capital needed for expansion and has stopped attempts to establish new enterprises."

Mr. Adams said the Federal Reserve System has no power to stop speculation.

"It is folly to imagine that money rates can be kept down for business purposes," he declared, "when a great deal more is bid for it for speculative purposes."

Why Not Help Your Stomach

If it bothers you? Indigestion and its results—sour stomach, headache, gas, rheumatism, too much acid which causes colds—quickly vanish with daily use of ACIDINE. ACIDINE is better because it contains:

1. An entirely new combination of the best anti-acids. 2. A substantial amount of a powerful starchy food digestant, which eliminates one great cause of indigestion—inability to digest starches. 3. A protein digestant for meats. 4. A protective soothing preparation to prevent inflammation of the stomach walls. 5. A carminative to tone up and put life into the stomach. 6. The best, finest, purest U. S. P. materials it is possible to make.

It is a new discovery, recommended by doctors. No home should ever be without it. Your druggist recommends it or write the makers, Health Laboratories, Inc., Pittsburgh, Pa.

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

BY HAVEY J. BOYLE

AN AGENT of the Mexican government was in this vicinity recently canvassing local aviators for service in the current war. Local mercenaries to the number of three expressed willingness to die for dear old Rutgers, but negotiations developed there was considerable difference between what the Mexican government thought an aviator's life is worth and what the aviator considers himself worth. The result was no bargain was struck. My secret service says the aviators approached worked out of Rodgers Field, Aspinwall.

Our viewpoints occur according to our prejudices. Every schoolboy had the greatest disdain for the Hessians who hired out to fight the Americans in the Revolutionary War, although broader education later showed us that the poor Hessians were forced to go through with the bargain, and whereas we deplored as boys the mercenary Hessians, we look with complacence upon young American aviators, who at so much a day, are willing to mow down unfortunate men in a neighboring country.

At present you can't see this doctor without making an appointment a week ahead and without running past a battery of secretaries and nurses. The millionaire complaining about a sore throat may get a $1,000 bump for an examination, although to balance this a poor kid may be treated for a year for nothing. It was not always this way in the life of the doctor in question. He still recalls his early struggles and he now tells smilingly of how he had to drum up business when a youngster in a small town not so far away from here. With two established doctors in town, the young physician in question seldom got a call. The community, he thought, was discouragingly healthy. While he did the conventional things that all young doctors must do to get established, such things as attending dances, joining clubs, tickling babies under the chin and raving about their beauty while fond mothers giggled, still, even with such monkeyshines, business did not come along.

But he struck upon a scheme that was not bad. Each day he engaged a horse from the most prominent livery stable in town and in his best professional manner he urged haste while the hostler arranged the saddle. The doctor then would jump on the horse, give it a thwack, and go racing down the main street of town. Few merchants, few idlers, gazing upon the doctor, did not guess that some place someone was dying and needed a doctor. The doctor would gallop through town and into a deserted part of the country outside, where he would draw rein, get off the horse, and sit on a log for an hour or so. His time up, he'd get back on the horse and dash back into town. This performance he kept up for many days, until at last the word became bruited about that no one seemed busier than the new young doctor.

And by and by the mother who had recalled the nice things he had said about little Rollo and the folk who had noticed his energy in attending to sick calls, mythical as they were, brought their tonsils and kidneys and whooping cough and measles to the doctor, and presently he acquired a pince nez, a dandy mustache, a splendid bedside manner, topped off with glittering success in diagnosis and treatment, and today his fame is such that even when he says: "The tonsils must come out," and you say: "But they are out," you know he knows his onions even when he replies: "I said the tonsils must come out."

You go away wondering, perhaps, why nature was prodigal with such useless things as tonsils, but our erstwhile country doctor with the horse has now come upon that stage in life where, with a grave look, he can, one imagines, take out tonsils that one thought were gone, lo, these many years.

I ALWAYS feel free to try to josh doctors because I like them so well. Of all professions, I believe, theirs is the most useful. And most that I know seldom grumble when you say: "Three aces, doctor," when they have but three kings.

CAMPUS QUEEN HOLDS TECH

Students at Carnegie Institute of Technology have a hard job on their hands today, that of selecting a campus queen. Fifteen pretty girls have been nominated as queen and the students today will cast votes to select one of that number.

The crowning of campus queen usually is one of the features of Campus Week at Tech, but inasmuch as there is to be no campus week celebration this year, the crowning of the queen will not be formal. The girl selected as queen will be introduced to the students at an assembly Tuesday morning.

Students will be casting votes all day long and it will not be until this evening that the result is known. The 15 girls who are being voted upon are Helen Bright, Betty Marshall, Fritz Ferguson, Dorothy Roy, Jeannette Folmar, Alice Bright, Mildred Hernbloom, Irene LaLandle, Sally Hulick, Henrietta Accipiter, Ruth Seitz, Sally Jolly, Florence Bright, Florence Wakefield and Irene Tedrow.

Two in Accidents, Same Name, No Relation

Anthony Carr, 52, of 35 Winders street, and Anthony Carr, of 3934 Liberty avenue, no relation, were central figures in accidents yesterday.

The former is in St. Joseph's Hospital, South Side, suffering from bruises on both legs, as the result of being kicked by a horse. The latter must answer a charge of reckless driving in Traffic Court, after his auto ran into a column of the railroad bridge at South Eighteenth and Josephine streets.

James McDermott, 33, of 550 Thirty-ninth street, and Leo McCarthy, 45, of 348½ Manion way, passengers in Carr's auto, are in South Side Hospital suffering face, hand and body bruises.

PAGEANT ENDS BOYS' WEEK

Today winds up Boys' Week which was observed in Dormont starting last Saturday. It has been under the sponsorship of the Dormont Chamber of Commerce, and all indications show that the undertaking has proved a success.

Today is known as Boys' Day Out of Doors, and many thrills are promised for the occasion. The program includes a spectacular pageant which will be staged by the Boy Scouts of the South Hills in the athletic field of the Dormont High School at 8 o'clock tonight. Sixty scouts will be attired as Indians. "The Hardships of the Pioneer" will be one of the features. For the main attraction, "The Covered Wagon" will end the pageant, and also the week's celebration. The covered wagon will be a real covered wagon drawn by horses. A log cabin will be erected and later destroyed by fire.

According to L. C. "Sim" Price, president of the chamber, and general chairman for all committees, the athletic field will furnish ample space for all who wish to attend. He requests that residents of the South Hills come en masse.

Sanford Corcoran, boy burgess, yesterday held hearings in Burgess Haddock's police court, and the seven boy councilmen held a mock council meeting in the councilmanic chambers of the borough building.

Oldest Members To Aid in Jubilee

Mrs. Mary Lanahan, 84, of Friendship and Negley avenues, and John D. Hughes, 85, of Fisk street, oldest man and woman of the original parishioners of St. Mary's Church, Lawrenceville, will take part in the diamond jubilee services of the church Sunday.

Both recall the explosion of the amunition at the United States arsenal in Lawrenceville September 17, 1862, when a number of the original parishioners were killed.

They also recall the first mass celebrated in the parish—in the home of a family named Donaghoe, with a square piano fitted up as an altar.

Avalon School to Stage 'Wedding Bells'

"Wedding Bells," a comedy will be presented tonight in the auditorium of Avalon High School by members of the Azure Bible Class of the Avalon Presbyterian Church.

C. D. OF A. PLANS GIRLS' REVUE

Members of Court Allegheny, No. 664, Catholic Daughters of America, are planning an "All Girls Revue" to be held May 21 and 22 in the Nixon Theater. Charles M. Couch will direct the production. Mrs. Anne Markey is general chairman.

Participating in the "chair dance," according to announcement, will be Helen Wirth, Madelene McGarr, Loretta Bamberger, Marcella Vey, Betty Hayes, Frances Hayes, Elizabeth O'Neil, Margaret Graham, Mary Bischoff, Margaret Blum, Eleanor Daugherty, Margaret Schroll, Frances Graziano, Clara Ubinger, Henrietta Mang, Virginia Dehler, Rose Joyce, Dolly Bamberger, Elizabeth Grady, Laura Wunderly, Mary Colarich, Mildred Oglesby, Helen Ropar and Mary Connelly.

Burgess Orders North Braddock To Clean Up

North Braddock Borough will begin its annual cleanup campaign May 6, according to an announcement yesterday by Burgess G. Fenton Mitchell. It will continue until May 18.

Copies of the burgess' announcement have been posted throughout the district, naming the routes and the days they will be covered by borough trucks and wagons. Residents have been asked to place rubbish in boxes, barrels and bags to facilitate the work.

HIGH PUPILS PLAN BANQUET

Westinghouse Technical High School students will hold their annual banquet tomorrow evening at Kaufmann's. A. W. Robertson, chairman of the board of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Co., will be the speaker.

Margaret Norton, Anne Falco, Catherine Mooney, A. T. Gorman, Thelma Frank, Helen Steel, Ruth Cargo, O. R. Gerhard, S. H. Snee, L. F. Sorrell, Vernon Blackburn, E. S. Rath, J. A. Neeley, M. Walrath, H. E. Parks, A. C. Wendel, C. J. Mullooly and J. P. Hannum, compose the committee in charge of arrangements.

Injured by Train, Sues for $20,000

Charles Langer, of Carnegie, asked damages of $20,000 from the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in a suit filed in Common Pleas Court. He alleged he suffered serious injuries November 23, 1927, when driving his automobile over the railroad crossing at Third avenue, Carnegie. A train, obscured by a number of box cars, and running backward, struck his car, Langer alleges.

Lions to Dance And Play Golf

A golf tournament and dinner dance will be held by the Lions Club of Mt. Lebanon in the St. Clair Country Club, Washington road, Upper St. Clair Township, Tuesday, May 28, it was announced yesterday.

Howard R. Haines, secretary of the club, will be the chairman for the day. Charles R. Walker is the chairman of the golf committee and E. H. Shaffer, chairman of the house committee.

C. W. Wilson Leaves Estate to Children

Charles William Wilson, Brushton, leaves an estate of $13,000 to his children, Mrs. Edna May Wickerham, Mrs. Hazel B. Johnson and William H. T. Wilson, in his will filed for probate today. The Potter Title and Trust Company is named executor.

K. of C. Anniversary Attracts Large Crowd

A large number of members and guests were present last night at the observance of the twentieth anniversary of the Bellevue Council Knights of Columbus, held in the Bellevue borough hall. A reception was followed by dancing and cards.

Woman Train Victim Is Not Identified

An unidentified white woman, about 60, was run down and killed by a Baltimore and Ohio freight train near the Bridge street crossing in Etna this morning. She is believed to have been on her way to work, as a package containing her lunch was found nearby, police reported. At the morgue the woman was described as being 4½ feet tall, weight 150 pounds, gray hair. She wore a black coat, tan bungalow apron over a brown dress with white dots and circles, high black lace shoes and white stockings. She wore several religious tokens.

DANTON HEADS E. END SCOUTS

The appointment of John Danton, athlete, lecturer and war hero, as scout executive of the East Borough's Council, Boy Scouts of America, has been announced by Frank C. Demler, president of this organization. The East Borough's Council, whose activities Mr. Danton will direct, is composed of troops from Wilkinsburg, Edgewood, Swissvale, Rankin, Braddock, East Pittsburgh, Turtle Creek, Wilmerding, Pitcairn, Trafford City, Oakmont and Verona.

JOHN DANTON

Mr. Danton comes to Pittsburgh district from the East where he has been widely known and successful as a Scout executive. To him goes the distinction of being the organizer of one of the first troops of scouts in this country. Conducting this troop under the original British code, he had several years of service in scouting before the present national organization came into being.

He began his duties as Scout executive May 1, taking charge of the council's 13,000 scouts who are distributed in more than 15 troops. Aside from his regular duties, the 60 acre tract adjoining the Mellon estate near Ligonier, recently acquired by East Borough's Council for a camp site, will also come under the direct

Avalon to Pass On Road Ordinance

Avalon Council, at its regular monthly meeting tonight, is expected to approve finally the Ohio River boulevard measures. These include the ordinance fixing the location and the maintenance agreement with the county commissioners. Emsworth and Bellevue have finally passed both measures.

Taxi Drivers Net Only $15 Week, Go on Strike

High taxi fares in this district are not enriching the cab drivers, a group of McKees Rocks drivers indicated yesterday by striking. They asked 10 per cent be added to the 20 per cent they now receive of gross fares.

John Suffal, spokesman for the strikers, said 10 men had refused to take out cabs owned by the McKees Rocks Taxicab Company. Their average income, he said, was $15 weekly under the present rates.

Antonio Maddalon, of Broughton, owner of the company, declared most of the men had returned to work after a day's layoff.

WHOOPEE AT LIBERTY AGAIN SEEMS TO KNOW NO LIMITS

By WHOOPEE McGURK.

Hey, I'm out again!

And I wanna congratulate Pete Walsh and Jimmy Hoey and the rest of the coppers. That cell I had in Central Police Station was the most comfortable cell I've ever been in.

I'm very sorry I had to leave so suddenly, but I had an important engagement I couldn't afford to break. Besides there were plenty other residents in that jail—eggs that go there just for the black coffee.

MISLEADS POOR TURNKEY

And listen, friend, don't think that wasn't a tough jail to break out of. Why, I had to go on tiptoe once. I suppose the turnkey thinks I'm a no-good guy—I said to him, said I:

"Sarge, pardon me, but I've got appendicitis and I'll have to run up to the drug store and snatch something for it." And the Sarge said, "O. K., Whoopee, but be back early."

Anyhow, I'm out on your public thoroughfares again, chuckling at the law and borrowing matches from the taxpayers. Yesterday I rode down Fifth avenue in a five-ton truck and later moved out to Carnegie Library.

I must have been in Oakland for two hours or more. I asked a beautiful gal at the Library for a nice, clean detective story and ended up by reading the classified ads in the out-of-town papers.

RAZZES RAZZ QUAILEY

I ended up my indifference to the law by strolling past Razz Quailey's aldermanic office and peering through the windows to see if he had any nicer, newer warrants.

I'll be out again today, where everybody has a chance to caress me—I just don't care.

WHOOPEE.

Free again, Whoopee's just as careless, reckless and daring. Follow "Bringing Up Father" for the latest dope that might help you nab him—and $100. But when you nab him be sure you have in your possession clipping from the same day's "Bringing Up Father" strip in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

WHOOPEE'S LOOSE AGAIN!

M'GURK AT DIAMOND AND SMITHFIELD

The slippery Whoopee McGurk—he whom jails won't hold—is stepping handsomely about Pittsburgh again and all you have to do to be paid $100 by the Sun-Telegraph is to step up to him and call him "Whoopee!" You must have a warrant, which is a clipping of the current day's "Bringing Up Father's" strip (see comic pages). Notice he has no topcoat!

FREE RADIO CAMPAIGN RECEIVES HIGH PRAISE

The Sun-Telegraph has recently printed a number of letters approving the free radio offer extended by the Sun-Telegraph and Stanley-Warner Brothers' theaters and many acknowledgements of the value of radio for educational purposes.

Extracts from a few of these indorsements follow:

Mayor Charles H. Kline—"You may count on my support to the limit."

Senator David A. Reed—"Properly used, the radio possesses an incalculable value as an educational force."

LAUDS CAMPAIGN

Harry A. Estep—"The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and the Stanley Theaters are to be congratulated for sponsoring this movement."

Gov. John S. Fisher—"I believe that radio could be the means of placing before pupils of our public schools matters of public interest and educational value."

Dr. William M. Davidson, superintendent of Pittsburgh schools—"I am heartily in favor of the utilization of the radio in the public schools."

The Rev. Dr. Paul E. Campbell, superintendent of parish schools—"A great opportunity lies before the radio in the field of education. Perhaps Pittsburgh by your efforts may be the first to realize them."

PROMOTES EDUCATION

In making this free offer of a $138.50 radio to every school and school room in the district which obtains 125 new 13-week subscriptions to the Sun-Telegraph, the progress of education in Pittsburgh was uppermost in the minds of the sponsors.

The Sun-Telegraph-Stanley-Warner Brothers' theaters have placed these blanks in the hands of school children, Donahoe's, Haller Bakeries, United Laundries and other organizations, so that every citizen of the district wishing to aid in this progressive effort can obtain order blanks without inconvenience.

Watch this paper for announcement of installations in the next few days.

Miss Loughran, historian of Court Swissvale, Catholic Daughters of America, which will hold its initiatory exercises in the ballroom of William Penn Hotel Sunday.

Bill Roy in Boston

BOSTON, May 3.

Say, what's this May Day thing? We used to look on it as a beautiful spring day when we had a picnic and fastened ribbons to the top of a pole and danced around and sang and played.

We had no mass production (only in children). We had no Federal Reserve or farm relief. Everybody was just poor and ignorant enough to be happy.

But now May Day, with all our modern accomplishments, is for the fellow that is dissatisfied. He puts in his only hard day's work of the year.

He arises early so he can denounce longer. He prints an obituary notice on a banner of everybody that has tried to make him earn his living during the year. And he just has one of the best times of his life.

Hurrah for progress.

Yours, WILL.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Bobby Doyle, framed by Dapper Don Wilkes and his gang and sentenced to prison for twenty years for killing a policeman, is aided to escape from jail by his fiancee, Beebe Barrett. Beebe is assisted by Johnny the Hop, a dope fiend, who hides Bobby in a secret room in his apartment. The day after Bobby's return, Don Wilkes is visited in his apartment by an over-dressed woman, Bess, who demands money to help Mike, a member of the gang, who is laid up with a gunshot wound. Don demurs, but finally gives her the money, and after she leaves, he goes to see Beebe. He has been giving her money, telling her it is due Bobby, and is evidently in love with Beebe. He tries to get her to say where Bobby is hiding, but she refuses to tell him. Then Johnny walks in. Wilkes, in a rage, tells her that he knows that Johnny had hidden Bobby.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER VII.

DON WILKES' eyes burned in his face. His calm, tired manner seldom deserted him, but when once it did, he seemed to lose all control, to become almost maniacal.

Some nerve in him seemed to snap now. He followd Johnny the Hop into the corner, towering over him.

"You porch-climbing thief," he said quickly, "I told you once I didn't like you."

He swung his arm back. There was a cry from Beebe, but his fist shot out. Johnny's head went back. He gave no outcry, but his eyes were pools of hate.

The next instant Don had caught sight of Beebe's face, with the startled and half-contemptuous look. By a violent effort, he mastered himself. The blue veins in his forehead stood out like a big V. He laughed awkwardly, and turned towards her.

"I'm sorry," he muttered. "I lost my head. Please, Beebe, overlook it, won't you? I was just furious that anyone was keeping me in the dark at a time like this."

Beebe did not answer. Had he shaken her belief in him forever? His heart gave a leap at the thought. He had never felt like that before, about any woman.

Though it would have given him pleasure to have killed Johnny where he stood, he managed even to change his voice.

"Sorry, Johnny," he murmured. "Forget it, will you? And tell me, where is Doyle? What have you done with him?

"Find out!" he snapped.

"You say that to me?" Don asked deliberately.

Johnny's eyes were still afraid, but still dark with hate.

"I say that to you!" he answered defiantly.

"In other words," Don continued, "you know where he is and you won't tell me."

"I don't know where he is . . ."

"No?"

"But if I did, I wouldn't tell you!" Johnny finished vindictively.

Don Wilkes' fingers itched. He would have enjoyed sinking them into Johnny's throat. He disliked the drug addict because from the first Johnny had seen through him, through his pretenses, with uncanny intuition.

He dared not look at Johnny again for fear he would let himself go once more. He turned instead to Beebe, as he caught the knob of the door.

"Mark my words, Beebe, if you love Bobby Doyle as you say you do, you're a very silly girl to put his life into the hands of this racked hophead. That's all I'm going to say. If you want me for anything—let me know!"

The instant he had gone, Johnny the Hop flung himself into a chair. His face was distorted. He swore softly under his breath.

"Johnny—Johnny—you're all wrong," Beebe faltered.

"That's the second time he's hit me in the face," Johnny said.

"I know. He hadn't any right. He must have been out of his head. But it made him lose his temper when he saw we didn't trust him. It's our fault, Johnny. Because he's been Bobby's friend right along."

Johnny did not even answer that. He caught Beebe's hand suddenly and looked up at her.

"Promise me again—you hear?" he demanded in a dry, shaken voice. "Promise me you won't never tell that guy anything."

She wanted to argue, she wanted to try to explain he was being unjust. She was torn with pity for him, and resented the blow Don Wilkes had given him, even though she tried to apologize for it to herself as much as Johnny.

But looking at him now, realizing that it was through him after all that Bobby was today outside of the prison walls, realizing all his unselfishness and kindness, she felt she had no choice but to agree to anything he asked for so fervently.

"All right," she said. "I'll not say anything else to him. I'll keep my word, Johnny."

Then he seemed to relax, and some of the tension went out of his face.

"You haven't told me about Bobby yet," Beebe said. "All I heard was that he got there safely. How is he now—tell me everything."

"He gave me a note for you," Johnny said.

When she had read it and then reread it, she asked Johnny to wait while she wrote an answer.

She returned from the inner room presently and gave it to him. She noted that his face was twitching more than usual. He looked beaten and sick. Beebe read the signs of his craving. He left hurriedly, scarcely even saying good-by.

. . . . . .

When Don Wilkes left Beebe's apartment he was furious with himself. He was glad he had hit Johnny, and sorry that Beebe had seen him do that.

In that one moment he felt he had lost more ground than he had gained from weeks of solicitous sympathy and a hundred thoughtful acts.

But he brushed aside his regret. He had enough to go on, he knew that now, and he meant to use blunt tactics from this moment. He made his way downtown to Inspector Wilmot's office. Biff Myers was the man he wanted; he knew that Wilmot had assigned Biff to this particular case.

When he got there, however, Wilmot kept him waiting for a long time. More than once Dapper Don jumped up to leave, but always sat down again, fuming at being treated like this. Yet even he hesitated to burst into the inspector's office uninvited.

When at last he was admitted he did not hesitate to show his irritation.

"Where's Biff?" he demanded, curtly.

"If you come down to ask me that, you've wasted your time."

"You don't know where he is?"

"Not at this moment. But he may be in shortly. Got anything to tell him?"

"Maybe."

"Then you can tell me and save time."

Don considered this for a second. Before he had made up his mind the man he was looking for came into the office.

Wilmot nodded. "Don has got something for you, Biff. Wouldn't even tell me. Maybe he wants to donate a few more grand 'to the pension fund. He likes the force."

The inspector applauded his own mild joke with a chuckle and made his way out. But shrewdly he guessed that Dapper Don had something of importance to communicate, and if he wanted to trust only Biff with it, that was his affair. It certainly concerned this Doyle case, and as not even a clue had been picked up so far, any information, even a lie, was worth hearing.

Biff surveyed the racketeer with skeptical eyes.

"What's on your mind, smart guy?" he snapped.

"You don't like me, do you?" Don inquired lazily.

"Not a whole lot, no."

"And yet," Don pursued, "I'm going to slip you something which will prove I like you. Only first I'll take your word you'll never tip where you got your information."

"Go on," said Biff Myers slowly. "Shoot."

"You'd like to pick up Doyle and I guess you'd just as soon take all the credit yourself anyway. I don't need your word—much."

"Well, I'm waiting, growled Biff impatiently.

"I'm going to tell you just half. That's because I don't know the other half," the racketeer murmured. "If you want Doyle just follow Johnny the Hop—he knows where he is!"

He clapped his hat on his head, picked up his stick and kicked the door open without another word.

Merely Margy, An Awfully Sweet Girl :-: Story by Lloyd Mayer :-: By John Held, Junior.

"My dear, I'm all-of-aBIB-and-TUCKer, no less—I mean that unCOUTH yokel ARab SIMply SLAYS me, my dear, because he's so FRIGHTfully GROSS and maTErial about ev'rything—you know the type! HONestly, my dear, he COULDn't be RUder because f'r instance th' other DAY, my dear, I and he were VAGUEly beSTREWing ourselves upon the verdant HILLsides, no less, and I mean it was SIMply diVINE because SPRING was in the AIR, sort of, and all these peCULiar BUDS and WEEDS and things were MADly SPROUTing all over the PLACE, my dear, do you know what I mean? Well, ANYways my dear anything terribly VERnal like that ALways leaves me TOO imPRESSED so I was RHAPsodizing volubly about the roMANtic associations of LOVE and SPRING, my dear, and if I DO say so mySELF I waxed AWfully poETic and all when I got to the POINT of talking about the GAMb'ling LAMBkins and the VERdant HERBS and hors d'OEUVres and all, my dear, but that oaf ARab SUDdenly aWOKE from a sound SLEEP and said he'd been DREAMing of spring LAMB and mint SAUCE—can you BEAR it, my dear? HONestly, I think he's TOO reVOLTing, my dear—I mean I ACtually DO!"

Witness for the Defense By William Allen Ward Daily Short Story

THE death of Roger Masters, young scion of a wealthy Texas family, caused an uproar in the black lands of the cotton country. The fact that Donald Temple, college pal of Roger's at the State A. & M. and a star quarterback on the Aggies' football team, was the only companion with Masters on the fatal hunting trip when the bullet that ended Masters' life was fired added more interest to the case. Young Masters and Temple had been chums since childhood. They had gone away to school at the same time. But gossip had recalled at the critical moment that both young men were fond of Virginia Lawson, daughter of a wealthy cotton planter. This caused the finger of suspicion to point with menacing rigidity at the junior Temple.

The facts in the death of Roger Masters disclosed that the young man and his bosom friend, Donald Temple, came home from college during the Christmas holidays and, true to their desire to live in the open, immediately started out on a hunting trip. There was a thicket near the Brazos River bottoms of the Masters' farm and through this tangled marshland the youths wandered in quest of oppossum and 'coon. Beside them pranced Rags, Roger's devoted dog. Rags, a good hunting dog, was a mixture of hound and shepherd which interlacing of blood was supposed to make him an all-round farm dog.

It was known that Donald came running to the shanty of a Negro tenant and told old Joe, the black farm hand, that Roger had been accidentally killed. He asked the Negro to help him bring the body to the roadside. The Negro, upon being questioned at the inquest had told of finding Masters lying in a pool of his blood on a mat of grass. Masters was dead when the Negro and Temple returned.

Temple declared that Masters had wandered several yards from him and that his rifle was accidentally discharged by becoming entangled on the briars. Temple declared at the inquest that he heard the report of his friend's weapon and hastened to his side only to find him dead. The bullet had pierced his head.

But relatives of the dead Masters were not satisfied with the case. They demanded a grand jury probe and summoned a private detective to conduct an investigation. They did not seek persecution; they only wanted justice. The theory that both young men were in love with the same girl gave strength to the supposition that foul play might have taken a hand in the homicide. The young woman secretly admitted to friends that she and Masters were engaged and that their wedding was not a great distance off.

When Lee Redfern, private investigator, reached the little cotton town of Hamiltonberg, he was told by the Masters family to make an honest investigation of the youth's death.

"If there has been murder committed we want to know it," the father of the dead youth said. "If Donald Temple slew my son, tell me so. On the other hand, if he did not kill him, I am just as anxious to know it. I want to learn the truth about this homicide."

Redfern, who had established a reputation in the Southwest as an honest and able investigator, welcomed this command. Here was an opportunity to conduct an investigation on the merits of the case. Apparently everyone interested in the matter was anxious to have the truth brought out and the name of young Temple cleared if possible.

At the same time Redfern discovered that a considerable part of the population of Hamiltonberg believed that Temple had slain his bosom friend and that the girl in the case was the cause of the murder. The District Attorney, evidently swayed by an overwhelming desire to do his duty flanked by a wish to gain popular favor before another election, expressed his opinion freely to Redfern and asserted his intention of filing formal charges against Temple.

But Redfern, after a conference with the sheriff and the town's small police department, urged delay in the filing of charges. They argued that an innocent man's reputation could be permanently destroyed by the mere filing of a charge. A grand jury indictment probably would follow and, even if the defendant later was acquitted there always would remain the smear of a grand jury charge. Meanwhile young Temple knowing that he was under suspicion, was seen about the town only on rare occasions. He seemed to be very moody and talked but little.

He caused a mild sensation when he deliberately went before the grand jury but the details of his testimony were never generally known. It leaked out, however, that Temple gave a description of the death scene in the thicket following the report of his friend's rifle. He found Rags, the youth's dog, standing beside his fallen master.

At length matters reached a crisis. Townsend, the district attorney, was urged on by the spirit of the mob now growing by leaps and bounds in Hamiltonberg. The populace believed that Donald Temple slew young Masters. But Redfern was far from being convinced that Temple was guilty. On the other hand he had worked on the case long enough to believe that there was an angle to the matter that had not come to the general knowledge of the public.

Redfern desired a few more days to secretly conduct his probe but Shields McGown, special investigator of the district attorney, urged the arrest of Temple.

"There is an argument about that fellow being guilty," McGown asserted. "My 10 years' experience on the police force in Dallas were not spent for nothing. I know a murderer when I see him—Donald Temple killed young Masters over that girl, that is just as plain as the nose on your face."

Redfern, meanwhile, had fixed ideas of his own. He learned from a private source that Miss Virginia Lawson also numbered among her suitors another person in addition to the two college students and it was gossiped about the village that this third suitor, although very attentive, was not popular with the maiden.

The grand jury was about to vote a bill of indictment when Redfern asked to be taken before the probing body. When the detective entered he was seen to take with him a dog. The dog was Rags.

"Gentlemen," Redfern said on taking the witness stand, "I realize that a dog is an unusual witness in a criminal case, but I am going to prove to you by this honest animal—man's most devoted friend, that Donald Temple did not slay young Masters. I am also going to identify the real murderer of the Masters youth."

Then Redfern explained that Rags, known to be present when his master was slain, certainly acquired a hatred for the man who struck his master down. The powder burns on Master's face showed that the weapon that slew him was only a few inches away and could not have been fired from a position where the murderer would not have been seen by the dog.

Several jurors remembered incidents during recent years where Rags had rushed snarling with rage to the defense of his master when the latter had been struck, in playful spirit. Rags seemed obsessed with a desire to defend his master. This trait in the dog's life was learned by the detective from the family of the suspected youth.

Then Redfern asked the bailiff to call for Donald Temple.

Temple, who was standing in an anteroom, immediately answered the summons and entered the jury room. All eyes were focused on the accused youth, who walked with steady gait to the witness stand. While passing along the aisle he was compelled to pass by Rags, who crouched near the detective. Rags licked the hand of the suspected youth.

At the same instant Shields McGown, special investigator, opened the door to the jury room and started toward the table in the center of the grand jury chamber. Being a county official, he had the freedom of the room.

McGown passed along the aisle which Temple had followed just before him. Rags, half dozing, caught a glimpse of his face. Within the fragment of a second, Rags became the ferocious beast that once roamed in wolf fashion the vast plains of America. Rags heard the voice of his progenitors talking in a tongue from which the blood of revenge was dripping. He sprang like a demon at the throat of McGown.

Several grand jurors rushed to the assistance of the investigator who was yelling for help. But Rags, fought like a tiger. The mixed blood of his ancestors, bull-dogs, shepherds, hounds and mongrels, vied with each other to prolong the mad rage.

At length a half dozen jurors beat off the infuriated animal while the investigator was rushed from the room. His clothes were in tatters and he was severely lacerated about the hands and face.

"It's an outrage!" he bellowed, "a dirty frameup, a cheap scheme to make me the goat—."

Redfern passed through the hallway. He was leading Rags.

McGown caught a glimpse of the dog—the demon. Again he went to pieces in a hysterical fit.

"I'm the guilty one!" he asserted, "I killed Roger Masters myself—slipped up behind him in the thicket and shot him—I love her so much, I wanted her myself!"

Weather Conditions.

The disturbance that was centered over the lower Ohio valley yesterday morning moved rapidly northeastward to the St. Lawrence valley; lowest barometer reported was 28.86 inches, at Montreal and at Parry Sound. The disturbance produced showers and thunderstorms over the entire East, with light to locally heavy rains and high winds nearly everywhere east of the Mississippi River. Light rain or snow is still falling in scattered places over Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio.

The disturbance that appeared in the far Southwest yesterday morning is now centered over Western Nebraska and the Northwest center is over Alberta. These disturbances are causing some cloudiness in the Rocky Mountain states, but so far little precipitation.

Relatively high barometer covers the lower Mississippi Valley states and the West Gulf states and the Dakotas and northward over Manitoba.

River Conditions.

Light to moderately heavy rains occurred over the river basins during yesterday and last night, which started a rise in all the rivers. Stage at Franklin is 8.5 feet; Lock No. 7, 16.2; Pittsburgh, 16.3; Dam No. 2, 7.8; Dam No. 6, 17.2; Dam No. 9, 17.5, and Dam No. 12, 16.5. The rivers will continue to rise. Between 19 and 20 feet expected on the Pittsburgh gauge early Saturday morning.

VETERAN OF TWO WARS KONJOLA'S LIFE-LONG FRIEND

Since 1908 He Suffered From Stomach Trouble—Made Well Again by New Medicine.

Day by day grows the stream of indorsements that pours in, telling of new and glorious victories won by the new medicine, Konjola, in cases that have well-nigh come to be considered hopeless.

MR. H. H. MOSHER

Many ask: "What is it about Konjola that makes it such a wonderful medicine?" A perfectly natural question in view of the fact that Konjola is achieving triumph after triumph in most obstinate cases, and it is being answered by the Konjola Man, who is at the Dow Drug Company (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, daily, meeting all who come to inquire about Konjola and its works. The outstanding secret of Konjola's amazing success is probably this: its 32 ingredients, 22 of them the juices of roots and herbs, all work together, yet each has its own mission to perform in cleansing and invigorating the ailing organs. Results are quick; one does not have to wait long to prove the surprising merits of this supercompound. Take, for instance, the experience of Mr. H. H. Mosher, veteran of the Spanish-American War and the World War, living at Allison Park, a short distance from Pittsburgh, who made this statement to the Konjola Man just a few days ago:

"I found Konjola just in time, for I was ready to give up. Nothing relieved the stomach and bowel troubles from which I suffered. It was in the year 1908 that I first started to suffer and from that time on I rapidly grew worse. I never had a minute's rest with my stomach for every bite of food caused intense suffering for hours after each meal. Of course the constipation made matters a great deal worse and although I tried everything that was recommended, I continued to suffer and get worse.

"Konjola was strongly recommended to me, but my faith in all medicines and treatments was exhausted long ago. However, my friends insisted that Konjola was the very medicine I needed; that it was at its best in such stubborn cases as mine. Well, I decided to make the trial. The change that has come over me is almost beyond belief. In fact, I would not believe it myself did I not know it to be a fact. Konjola's 32 ingredients worked wonders and now my stomach is in wonderful condition. My digestion has been restored and I can eat an enormous meal without the slightest suffering afterward. I feel like my old self again after many years of agony. I owe everything to Konjola and shall never cease to sing the praises of this medicine."

Konjola may be taken by the aged or given to the infant. It is a remedy such as Nature herself might have compounded. It is all health-giving, body-building medicine, every drop and every drop works.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Company (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, this city, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this master medicine.

Girl Scout Dramatic Finals on Tomorrow

The finals for the Girl Scout dramatics contest will be held in the Langley High School auditorium tomorrow afternoon. The following troops will compete: Troop 93, Bradford Woods; Troop 97, Crafton; Troop 83, Rennerdale; Troop 1, Duquesne; Troop 2, McKeesport; Troop 16, Brookline. The winning troop will be awarded two books for the troop library—a book on dramatics and the recently published story of the founder of scouting in America —"Juliette Low and the Girl Scouts."

Eighth Barn Razed By Mystery Blaze

SHARON, Pa., May 3.—Another barn, the eighth within the past three months to be destroyed in this district, was mysteriously burned on the farm of Stephen Barnes, at New Virginia, near here. Hay, farming implements and an automobile were burned.

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern

A COMFORTABLE TWO-PIECE ROMPER STYLE.

This model may be finished with or without the long sleeve. The waist is slashed at the neck for additional opening below the soft round collar. The bloomer portions are shaped in points at the top, and are fastened to the waist with buttons. The leg portions may be finished with leg bands or with elastic bands run through casings to hold the fulness. The sleeve is gathered at the wrist above a band cuff. Cotton prints combined with batiste or pique are suggested for this style.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 2, 3, 4 and 5 years. To make the rompers for a 3-year size of one material will require 1¾ yard of 32-inch material. If made as illustrated in the large view, it will require ¾ yard of plain material and 1 yard of figured material.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BRACE UP

Everything in Nature Takes On New Life in Spring—People Should Also

WORLD'S TONIC MAN SAYS SPRING HOUSECLEANING SHOULD EXTEND TO THE BODY AS WELL AS THE HOUSE

"When people come through a winter like this last, they are likely to be all stuffed up with colds. Sudden changes of weather and indoor life make these colds chronic in this part of the country," said the World's Tonic man today at the drug store. "A chronic cold is catarrh, and catarrh spreads. It may begin in the nose, and in thirty days be all through the system, causing indigestion, sluggish liver, constipation, and overworked kidneys. Sooner or later something gives way under the strain, and then one is really sick.

"It is not wise to let a cold of this kind get firmly seated when a simple treatment with World's Tonic will help free the system of it. Everything in Nature is lively in the Spring. People are not because their systems are all clogged up with catarrhal wastes. The blood is corrupt, and the body and mind are sluggish instead of lively. Such people need a physical housecleaning.

"To get rid of this condition World's Tonic is valuable simply because it is a good systemic catarrhal treatment, that is specially intended to help clear up congestion and help purify the blood. If people would take a few doses of World's Tonic every spring there would not be so many cases of 'spring fever' or malaria."

Mr. Wm. Shetler, of Indiana, Pa., employed as a coal miner, says, "When I came from England five years ago I could dig more coal than any two miners. I weighed 190 pounds. After about two years in this country my health failed and I started taking different kinds of medicines, something I never had to do in the old country. I would take physics all the time to get my bowels to move. No matter what I ate it soured on my stomach. I lost weight until I weighed only 130 pounds. I had decided to go back to the old country to die when a friend advised me to try the new medicine that was helping so many people with catarrh—which we don't have in the old country. After taking four bottles of World's Tonic I am now gaining my old weight back again. I can eat anything, and I can whip my weight in wild cats now." World's Tonic is for sale at all Dow Stores (formerly McCulloch), and all other first class drug stores. (A-44)

"WHAT! NO RABBIT?" EXCLAIMS CHARLEY DELANEY AS FILMITES LAUGH

(Copyright, 1929, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, May 3.

IT happened at the monthly Mayfair shindig staged with customary gusto at ye Biltmore, with Johnny Hines master-of-ceremonies. Johnny wore a black muff beard for the occasion, the tone of the entertainment being Russian. Seems that Charlie Delaney, an Irishman with a green emerald humor, was penning Johnny kidding notes. Johnny figured he'd even scores with the lad so, unexpectedly, he turned to the festive guests and cried:

"Charlie Delaney will now do his bit," or words to that effect.

Johnny Hines

However, he brought forth a large handkerchief. He flipped it several times most conspicuously. He doubled it up and flipped it again. Nothing here. Nothing there. Getting down to serious business, he agitated the hankie and drew it forth with much aplomb. A gratifying tenseness stilled the onlookers.

With concentrated seriousness, Charlie reached one hand behind the hankie and shook said 'kerchief free.

"WHAT!" HE LAMENTED, "NO RABBIT."

"It" Crocodile Dies in Zoo

"Dear Miss Bow:

"You might be interested in the account in the enclosed ship's paper of the demise of a namesake of yours whom we brought up from Panama on our return from the winter cruise.

"As she was probably the first crocodile to ride 2,000 on a man-of-war, or to fly in an airplane, you can see that she was of the modern type and worthy to bear your name. (Signed) E. T. Stewwart, Lieut. U. S. Navy."

The article in the ship's paper is headed: "Clara Bow" Dead.

It follows, in part:

"The host of admirers of 'Clara Bow' will be heartbroken to hear of the death of that popular young female last week in San Diego. . . . Three short months ago, 'Clara' left her abode on the banks of the Rio Pecuro on the coast of Panama and with several of her little playmates came down to the mouth of the river to see if she could pick up a couple of long dead fish for a snack of breakfast. She was captured by Ensign Clark and brought aboard the S. S. Lexington to occupy a suite aft in the thinking department.

Clara Bow

"By the time the ship arrived in the states, 'Clara' was playful as a kitten, knocking people down and eating three months old steaks with gusto." So she was reluctantly turned over to the San Diego zoo.

"Shockingly enough 'Clara' began to high hat her companions in the zoo pool. Anyhow, they were only Florida alligators, and she was already beginning to get the California complex about anything from Florida. From high-hatting she began to bully them and finally, as a gesture of supreme contempt, she ate three little alligators and died next day of indigestion."

The above may or may not explain why Clara Bow—the "you're it" in person—was unable to work 'tother eve in her new circus flick, "Dangerous Curves," because of red eyes!

Mary and Doug Will Co-Star In Talkie

NEW YORK, May 3.—(INS.)—Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks are in New York, solely on business, they announced, the business being selection of a cast for their forthcoming "talkie," "The Taming of the Shrew."

Doug will portray the role of Petruchio and Miss Pickford that of Kathrina.

"Night in Venice" Among Plays Coming

"A Night in Venice" comes to the Alvin next Monday for a week's stay. In point of magnitude the production is said to be the largest that any producer has ever attempted to send on tour. The show is to open an engagement in the Shubert Theater, New York, shortly. Eight baggage cars, seven sleepers and a dining car make up the special train that is required to transport the production and company. Matinees are announced for Wednesday and Saturday.

"Skidding," the comedy to be presented in the Pitt by the George Sharp Players next week, is a story in which the campaign of a judge for re-election becomes humorously involved with strictly domestic problems in his own home. In the Pitt recently it proved to be one of the best attractions of the regular season.

HELLO, LUPE

Eddy to Follow Teddy Joyce Into Penn

A new master of ceremonies will make his debut on the Penn stage the week of May 20. He is Wesley Eddy, versatile entertainer, who will come to Pittsburgh from a 75-week engagement in the Palace Theater, Washington.

Eddy began his theatrical career at the age of 13, conducting his first band. Later he appeared in the movies, with Taylor Holmes and other stars, and then entered vaudeville. In 1921 he was with Elsie Janis, doing a Russian dance and a violin solo. There followed other vaudeville and musical comedy appearances.

Eddy is a baritone singer and plays a number of musical instruments, including the violin, ukelele, banjo, saxaphone, musical saw, xylophone and organ. He is the composer of "Blue Moon" and other songs.

Eddy's opening show in the Penn will be "Say It With Music."

Menu for Sunday Dinner—By Prudence Penny

Anchovy Canape.
Roast Pork with Apple Sauce.
Baked Sweet Potatoes.
Spinach Ring with Mushrooms.
Tomato Stuffed with Asparagus.
Tip Salad.
Butterscotch Pie. Coffee.

WHOSE appetite wouldn't be whetted by an anchovy and olive canape to start the Sunday dinner? Mix boned anchovies with the yolks of hard-cooked eggs, butter, lemon, onion juice, Worcestershire sauce and paprika. Spread on thin rounds of buttered toast and garnish with sliced stuffed olives.

FOR the piece de resistance we'll have roast pork and apple sauce! Rub the pork with salt, pepper and with a clove or garlic. Sprinkle with a little brown sugar and roast in a very hot oven. Cook uncovered for 15 minutes, and hot water and roast until done. Baste often.

FOR the apple sauce, you will need five or six sour apples. ¼ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon butter, 1 cup water, ½ teaspoon cinnamon and 2 slices of lemon.

Wash, quarter and core the apples, but do not peel them. Add the water, pieces of lemon, butter and cinnamon. Cook until soft. Rub through strainer, then add sugar and cool.

The starchy vegetable will be baked sweet potatoes, which you know how to prepare, I'm sure. And the non-starchy vegetable contribution will be a delicious spinach ring filled with mushrooms.

WASH and cook a peck of spinach and chop it very fine. Brown one-half grated onion in butter and mix with spinach. Add a rich cream sauce, one-half cup grated bread crumbs, the yolks of two eggs, salt, pepper and paprika. When almost cold, add the beaten egg whites.

Place in a ring mold which has been buttered and dusted with cracker crumbs. Cover and set in pan of hot water in oven. Bake 20 minutes. Turn out carefully and fill the center with creamed mushrooms.

Red tomatoes on crisp, green lettuce leaves make a pretty salad and when you fill the tomato with delicate asparagus tips, you have a real table decoration. Peel the tomatoes and cut across in halves. Slice a large green pepper in rings; place a few tips of asparagus on the flat half of the tomato as a handle. Press the pepper ring into the sides of the tomato and serve with French dressing.

FOR a real Sunday dessert, have butterscotch pie with your coffee. Scald two cups of milk in a double boiler, mix one cup brown sugar and two tablespoons cornstarch and add to the milk. Stir until thick, cooking about fifteen minutes.

Add three tablespoons butter and one-fourth teaspoon salt. Mix with two egg yolks slightly beaten. Return to double boiler for one minute. Fill pie crust. Beat the whites of egg stiffly with a tablespoon of sugar spread over the pie and brown slightly in the oven.

SALAD—Three cups cooked macaroni, 1 cup cooked beets cut in cubes, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon evaporated horseradish. To cook the macaroni, boil in salted water until tender. Turn it into a colander and let cold water run through it, so that it will not be starchy. Drain well. Mix well, separately, the beets and macaroni, in French dressing. Put in the ice box to chill thoroughly. Mix together immediately before serving. Add salt and the horseradish which has been soaked for 10 minutes in a little cold water. Arrange in nest of crisp lettuce leaves. Garnish with beets cut in fancy shapes and serve with mayonnaise dressing.

CARAMEL CREAM—Try caramel cream for dessert sometime. Make plenty of it, too, for I warn you it will prove popular, and you'd better be prepared with enough second helpings!

One tablespoon granulated gelatine, ¼ cup cold water, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ½ cup hot milk, 2-3 cup sugar, 1 pint cream.

Soak the gelatine in cold water a few minutes. Place a half of the sugar in an iron spider, let melt to a brown liquid and pour very gradually into the hot milk. Stir until smooth, then add to the gelatine mixture. Stir until the gelatine is dissolved, adding the rest of the sugar. Just when it begins to thicken, fold in the cream beaten to a stiff froth. Place in a mold first dipped in cold water, set aside to harden and chill.

SALTED ALMONDS—Blanch large shelled almonds by leaving them in boiling water two minutes. Drain and then remove skins. Spread on baking sheet and put in warming oven to become perfectly dry. Heat cooking oil in a deep pot. Place the nuts in a frying basket and cook in the hot oil until delicately browned. Drain on unglazed paper and sprinkle with salt.

PUDDING—One-half pound marshmallows, 1 cup cream, ½ teaspoon vanilla, ¼ cup maraschino cherries, ½ cup walnut meats, 2 tablespoons confectioner's sugar. Cut the cherries, walnut meats and marshmallows into small pieces. Whip the cream, add the sugar and vanilla, and fold in the remaining ingredients. Mold and chill. This is sufficient for six portions.

HAVE you tried serving lima beans in a salad? They're simply delicious and a little change from the usual salad.

Combine the beans with sliced tomatoes, or beets, or cabbage—use a tang-y dressing, such as a French dressing with a sharp flavor, or a dressing in which vinegar figures importantly. If you can bring yourself to include a few raw onions with the salad, by all means do it—you'll like them.

Here is a recipe for a Lima Bean and Beet Salad:

Mix one cup of lima beans with two tablespoons of minced Spanish onions (there are the onions again, you see), and half a cup of diced, cooped beets. Arrange on crisp, green lettuce leaves and sprinkle with finely minced parsley. Choose your dressing to suit your taste, but be guided by me and make it a rather sharply-flavored dressing.

SKILFUL COOKS POINT OUT

IN California, where cooks have the most tempting of fruits and vegetables for their salads, only the finest of mayonnaise can satisfy them. And that rich, utterly satisfying flavor which means real mayonnaise, they know can only be blended from the very choicest of ingredients.

Finest eggs, carefully selected oil, pure vinegar and rare spices—these and nothing else are permitted to be used when Hellmann's Mayonnaise is blended. These—and a famous recipe from old France—give Hellmann's its subtle enticing flavor. And long beating adds that clear, even texture that is always the same.

Get a jar today. At all grocers. The popular family size is ½ pint—25¢. Other sizes 3½ ounce, pint, and quart jars.

Sigrid Anderson, cook in the beautiful home of Mrs. Rudolph Spreckels of San Francisco, California.

"for flavor, give me Hellmann's every time"

"There's no sense in making home-made mayonnaise. It's the hardest and trickiest kind of drudgery, and you can never be certain it won't turn out badly. Hellmann's is always ready to use—and as for real flavor—give me Hellmann's every time."

BE SAFE!

always choose these Scott Processed Toilet Tissues

THREE qualities toilet tissue must have to be safe, doctors say. Softness . . . absorbency . . . chemical purity. Yet much paper sold for bathroom use today is neither soft . . . nor absorbent . . . nor chemically pure.

ScotTissue and Waldorf are specially processed bathroom tissues. In every respect they satisfy medical requirements. They are unusually soft and cloth-like. So absorbent they sink in water almost instantly. And absolutely safe—made from finest, fresh materials.

Why take chances with this bathroom essential. Always ask for ScotTissue or Waldorf.

Moran & Mack's Amuse-O-Gram

AMUSE-O-GRAMS:

On the golf course with Moran and Mack, the two Black Crows in person:

(Two topped strokes put him only 35 yards from the tee.)

Catlett Goes To Hollywood

WALTER CATLETT, another Broadway stellar-ite, has joined New York's Hollywood Rialto. He comes to assist Fox's new talky version of "The Cradle Snatchers." It seems when Catlett signed with Fox it was understood his salary began when he arrived on the coast.

He wired for railroad fare. Fox wired back no. When will you get here? Walter wired: "Expect me July 4. Have joined Charlie Pyle's bunion derby race." Whereupon Fox wired him railroad fare West.

Chancing to amble onto Herbert Brenon's "Lummox" set. I espied Edna Murphy sitting on the histrionic side lines along with Danny O'Shea, Myrtle Stedman and Ann Cornwall. The first three are in the flick. Ann may be. Mr. Brenon was rehearsing Winfred Westover Hart (Lummox, herself) and another actress.

Winifred Hart.

"Wanter be interviewed?" to Edna in a whisper.

"I haven't my flask with me," Edna whispered back.

So, of course, she was out of luck.

GRANDMOTHER HANGS SELF

Returning from school yesterday, Esther and Dorothy Prager, 13 and 10, respectively, found their grandmother, Mrs. Walter Brown, 50, hanging from a rafter in the cellar of their home in Powers Run road, O'Hara Township, according to the coroner's report. The sisters summoned neighbors, who cut the woman down. A physician pronounced her dead.

A. J. Federkell, constable and neighbor, said that Mrs. Brown apparently had been brooding over her husband's confinement in a county hospital. Her daughter, Mrs. Irvin Prager, with whom Mrs. Brown had been making her home, was on a shopping trip in the city at the time.

Police Hint Frame Up In Kidnaping of Girl

CHICAGO, May 3.—(AP.)—Rosalie Rizzo, who was kidnaped Wednesday night, telephoned her sister, Mrs. Harold Carr, last night saying that she was unharmed but refusing to divulge her whereabouts.

Police who had previously announced the belief that gangsters abducted her "because she knew too much," hinted after talking to her sister, that the girl might not have been an unwilling victim and that she was seized by her sweetheart to patch up a quarrel.

Rabies Alarms Havana

HAVANA, May 3.—(AP.)—Thirteen victims of rabies reported here yesterday caused the Cuban Sanitation Department to issue drastic orders to muzzle all pets during the summer months.

BODY OF MAN IN RIVER; NOTE TO MOTHER FOUND

Following the recovery of a body believed to be that of E. A. Barnes, 55, of 711 Penn avenue, Wilkinsburg, from the Monongahela River, near the Smithfield Street Bridge, Wilkinsburg poilce reported visiting the address and finding on a dresser a letter addressed to Mrs. Lena Barnes, 80 Mammoth road, Lowell, Mass.

The letter read:

"Dear Mother: My life has been all a mistake, which I didn't fully realize. Goodbye with love.

"I should like to say with love, as I always have. Hope to see you again somewhere but please believe this will end all as I must die as I have lived.

"ELMORE."

The body was observed by deckhands of the Julia Belle Swain, a steamboat, and towed ashore. The body was removed to the morgue and deputy coroners are making an effort to communicate with relatives.

Now! A Way To Stop Soap Fade of Fine Things

Regardless of Repeated Washings

Apple-green glove silk chemise washed 41 times with Climalene and ordinary "laundry" soap, without perceptible fading.

This costly Limoges dinner set washed 477 times with Climalene and ordinary soap—yet gold decoration shows no sign of fade or wear.

New Discovery Ends Ruining Fine Things Regardless How Often Washed —And Cuts Washing Time of Clothes and Dishes ONE-HALF or More

MODERN day science has taken the fade danger out of home washing. Perfected a way that ends soap fade and ruining of fine things.

Not a soap—but a discovery that makes even ordinary soap safe. That makes the worst "hard" water and ordinary household soap into a virtually NO-FADE combination.

You can wash the most exquisite things, often 50 times or more without noticeable fade or soap-eat wear. Can keep priceless table china safe from dishpan fade . . . indefinitely. And—cut your work time one-half or more. Women are flocking to its use.

What It Is

It is a preparation called Climalene. A scientific discovery that acts in two ways:

That takes the harshness out of even "hardest" water; the hardness that makes extra rubbing and the superfluous use of strong soap necessary to get things white and clean.

That turns that harsh "hard" water INSTANTLY into water so soft that it does the work with ONE FOURTH the amount of soap you now use.

Then, that due to bland cleansing qualities in itself, DISSOLVES all dirt and grime. And thus again cuts the amount of soap you use. And cuts washing time—in either dishpan or washing machine—50% or more. Consider what that means in saving wear and spoil.

10¢ packages (12 OZ.)

CLIMALENE

You just add two tablespoons to a tub of water. That is all. Use the same soap you ordinarily do. Then note the remarkable results.

Laboratory Proved

To prove those points, we wash fine things all day long. French lingerie, for instance, we wash 40, 50 times with this preparation and strong soap or washing flakes. Even the most delicate colors do not fade.

We wash fine colored table linens up to 80 times—WITHOUT fade. We take gold encrusted china of almost priceless value; and wash with strong soap hundreds of times. And never a sign of gold worn away.

We pay $5 for fine stockings of light tint color. Then TRY to fade them with repeated washings. And only when we fail in fading them, does this amazing preparation go to you.

AND—it acts actually as a BEAUTIFIER to the hands. Never before have you seen a cleanser so gentle.

Remember the name—Climalene. Your grocer has it in 10c and 25c packages.

PATRICIA PITT'S COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Frances Johnston to Make Her Bow to Society at Dance on June 27

DIDN'T you think April and all April things had been put away now that May is here? But these vigorous showers May has offered us already make me think that April showers aren't over. One moment the sun is shining provocatively, and the next the skies are sending down millions of slender javelins of silver rain.

Perhaps May is becoming less unselfish than she was of yore, and is not only giving us May flowers, but taking care to water our roses for June.

June is going to be a most attractive month, I'm sure. We'll have a profusion of roses then, and speaking of roses, I can't help thinking how beautiful the estates down on Sewickley Heights are going to be for our little season.

Pittsburgh society, as well as Sewickley, will present some of its daughters in June, by the way. And country clubs during June will be the scene of many a party for buds.

I happen to know that the Norwood Johnstons, of Shady avenue, will present their daughter, Frances, at a tea dance in the Longue Vue Country Club Thursday, June 27.

Frances and her mother are just back from Pinehurst, N. C., where they went before the holiday season in December.

EVERY wedding we hear about nowadays will increase the charm of June. In this day, with its disregard for old customs, it's reassuring to know that June will still be a month of brides. And another event always associated in our minds with June is the horse show, and we've all known for some time that the show will be another custom in no danger of being forgotten.

But to return to June weddings. I've heard of another date for that month. During the latter days of April I told you about the engagement of Dorothy Louise Beegle, daughter of the Harper K. Beegles, of Harbeth Lawn, to James McClain, son of Frederick McClain, of Gibsonia. They will be married on June 26. The wedding will take place that evening at 7 o'clock in the home with the Rev. George Rowland, of Coraopolis, a friend of the bride-elect's family, as the officiant.

SUPPLEMENTING the rehearsal for the wedding of Darrel Morrow, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. Wilson Morrow, of Edgewood, and Robert Charles Todd, son of George A. Todd, of the Schenley Apartments, which is scheduled for tomorrow night, Mr. Todd's brother and his wife, the Kirkland Wiley Todds, will entertain at dinner tonight in the Longue Vue Country Club. And tomorrow, the wedding breakfast will be given in the University Club by Mr. Todd's sister and her husband, the junior Mr. and Mrs. G. Warren Wattles, whose wedding took place April 5.

ABOUT 450 friends of the Charles S. Shoemakers, of Termon avenue, were at the Twentieth Century Club last night when they presented their daughter-in-law, Mrs. David Oliver Shoemaker, the former Vanda Nomicos, in a song recital. A group of English, Italian, French and German songs opened the program, and then Mrs. Shoemaker appeared in a Russian costume to give several songs of that country.

Supper was served at the club following the recital. The hostess wore a gown of flowered chiffon, while the junior Mrs. Shoemaker appeared in a frock of flame-colored chiffon.

A GROUP of local folks including Mrs. James B. Oliver, of Shields; Mrs. Charles Oliver, of Pittsburgh, and Caroline Crittenden, daughter of the William Jackson Crittendens, of Shields, together with Mrs. David S. Barry, of Haverford, Pa., are sailing tonight on the Vulcania for Naples. They are crossing to attend the wedding of Mrs. James B. Oliver's granddaughter, Fannie Dusmet, daughter of the Marchesa Dusmet de Smours, of Rome, and Count Francisco Campello, which will take place June 1 in Rome. After the wedding, the party will spend just a short time abroad, returning in mid-June to be here in time for Caroline to make her debut, which is scheduled for June 22.

MR. AND MRS. J. N. CALVERT, of Crafton, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Margaret Ward Calvert, and Arie Cornelius Brandwyk, which was solemnized Wednesday night. Mr. and Mrs. Brandwyk will be at home in Barr avenue, Crafton Heights, after June 1. Both are graduates of the Carnegie Institute of Technology.

MR. AND MRS. SAMUEL F. SCHWEITZER, of Lemington avenue, East End, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Elsie Katherine Schweitzer, and Walter Hubert Derr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leid P. Derr, of the East End, which was solemnized Monday. After an eastern trip, Mr. and Mrs. Derr will be at home in Missouri avenue, East End.

THE annual spring formal dinner dance of Phi Delta Theta, national social farternity, will be held tomorrow night in the Chartiers Heights Country Club. John R. Bentley, social chairman, is in charge. Initiation ceremonies at the Pennsylvania Iota Chapter house, North Dithridge street, will precede the dance.

Congress Evening Group Plans Tea

THE evening department, the newest group in the Congress of Clubs, is making all sorts of plans for the tea which it is to give Sunday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Carl E. Coslowsky, the retired Congress president. Mrs. Coslowsky and Mrs. John Henry Bricker, department chairman, will preside at the teatable and a delightful program is being planned in which Mrs. J. Charles Wilson will read, Elsie Breese Mitchell, music chairman, will sing; Neva Morris will give one of her characteristic readings, "An Adventure in a Fairy Garden," and M. Carroll Johnson and Nell Falnery Jones each will sing a group of songs.

MRS. HAROLD L. LANG has been re-elected president of the Woman's Club of Carnegie Tech. The new officers include Mrs. W. R. Work, Mrs. E. K. Collins, Mrs. D. Gustafson and Mrs. R. S. Simboli, vice presidents, and Mrs. L. R. Guild as treasurer. Mrs. H. W. Russell was re-elected secretary. The club will close its year on Wednesday with a luncheon and musicale in the Faculty Club and in the same place tomorrow afternoon will have a benefit bridge for the endowment fund. Mrs. L. J. Moore is in charge of tables, and Mrs. Boyd C. Dennison and her committees are looking after refreshments.

NOTED WOMEN OFFICERS

PHILADELPHIA, May 3.—(AP.)—Mrs. Thomas J. Preston, Jr., the former Mrs. Grover Cleveland, was re-elected president of the Needlework Guild of America at the annual meeting yesterday.

Other officers chosen included Mrs. George Fales Baker, Philadelphia, honorary president; Mrs. Clement C. Webster, Philadelphia; Mrs. William Cabbell Bruce, Baltimore; Mrs. Burnham Colburn, Biltmore, N. C., and Mrs. Florence Moore Kreider, Los Angeles, vice presidents; Miss Eliza Ridgway, Burlington, N. J., recording secretary; Miss Rosamond K. Bender, Philadelphia, executive secretary, and Mrs. Morris Wilson, treasurer.

More than 1,500 women from 23 states and Labrador attended the meeting. Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, widow of the late President, was among the delegates. She is a former president of the guild.

In her annual report, Mrs. Preston urged greater activity in obtaining new members for the organization.

Next year's meeting will be in Buffalo.

Nicaragua Observes Stimson Peace Day

MANAGUA, May 3.—(AP.)—The Nicaraguan Congress yesterday decreed May 4 as a national holiday to commemorate the Stimson-Moncada peace pact which ended the last revolution and paved the way for free elections, under supervision of United States Marines.

Congress also authorized President Jose Maria Moncada to change the name of the town of Tipitapa, where the famous peace pact was signed under a tree, to Villa Stimson, in recognition of the part played by Henry L. Stimson, now secretary of state of the United States, in ending the civil war.

Post Home Drive At Half-Way Point

Workers in the campaign for the North Boroughs American Legion home and community center having reached the half-way point in their canvass, today are continuing their efforts with renewed energy to raise the balance of the fund necessary to establish the institution. At a meeting last night an appeal was made to respond as generously for the ex-service men as in wartime relief activities. The next report will be made Tuesday, May 7.

Original Fonck Plane To Make Chile Trip

FARMINGDALE, N. Y., May 3.—(AP.)—The newly christened Southern Star, the largest commercial plane in America, was flown here from Washington yesterday for overhauling preparatory to a nonstop flight from Florida to Chile.

The plane has been in a hangar for two years, since it was built for a trans-Atlantic flight by Rene Fonck, France's ace of aces, which failed to materialize.

KING GEORGE, RECOVERED, RETURNS TO LONDON SOON

By KINGSBURY SMITH.
International News Service.

LONDON, May 3.—It was authoritatively stated in court circles today that King George probably will leave Craigweil House, Bognor, his convalescent home on the Sussex coast, for Windsor Castle, about the end of this month.

Thus, after four months of illness so serious that more than once hope was virtually abandoned, England's 65-year-old monarch will in all probability again reign in his full powers as "King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British dominions beyond the seas, and Emperor of India," as his official title has it.

For nearly three months now the King has been recuperating upon the shores of the English Channel. Fed on eggs from "aristocratic" hens, milk from "contented" cows and vegetables from a soil that worms hardly dare to wiggle in, not to mention the very choicest of Scottish meats, his majesty has steadily regained the strength that many feared had left him forever.

The official medical statement that the King is recovering his full mental powers as well as physical strength was good news to the kingdom. It had been admitted by doctors that the King, for a time, was having difficulty in concentrating his mind. This was attributed to the long, arduous strain he had been under since early in November, when his illness began with a severe cold.

Shortly after he arrived at the seashore rumors began to circulate that the King's mind was impaired. There was much talk of a regency.

Now, aided by Queen Mary, who nursed him with such constant devotion that she herself has suffered two nervous breakdowns, the King appears to have conquered the battle for his life.

Governors Request Address by Hoover

WASHINGTON, May 3.—(AP.)—An invitation to President Hoover to address the annual conference of governors, to be held in July at New London, Conn., is extended today by the executive committee of the conference.

Mr. Hoover has invited the executive committee to luncheon. The committee includes includes Govs. Hammill, of Iowa; Dern, of Utah; Trumbull, of Connecticut, and Case, of Rhode Island.

Sign This Petition and Help to Cut Taxes

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

To the Congress of the United States:

We, the undersigned, respectfully urge that the Congress of the United States give immediate consideration to the proposition that there be a downward revision of all income taxes on all earned incomes such as salaries or fees, or commissions for personal services. We urge this because of the many instances where wage or fee or commission earners sometimes have just a few years of good incomes and prior to and after that period have subsequently less incomes. Their period of better earnings which might give the average wage earner a chance to accumulate some capital is heavily taxed, and they seldom have a new opportunity which might tend to make more useful citizens of them.

Labor in general, lawyers, doctors, architects, clerical workers, salesmen, dentists, engineers, journalists, accountants, actors, motion picture actors, singers, musicians, and all the other professional people are in the same plight in the matter of earned income as distinguished from earnings on capital, and, since they represent a great percentage of the citizenry of the country, we beg the gravest consideration of this proposition. Each signer below hereby enrolls as a member of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph League for the Downward Revision of Taxes on Earned Incomes and will work with that newspaper toward the end stated.

Permission is hereby granted the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph to list the signer in the proper Labor, Clerical or Professional Division of the said League for presentation of our signatures to the United States Congress for the stated purpose.

The signer is not obliged to make any kind of contribution or to do anything except to give his moral support to this movement.

BILL TO LICENSE REALTY BROKERS, SELLERS SIGNED

HARRISBURG, May 3.—(AP.)—Real estate brokers and salesmen in Pennsylvania will be licensed after January 1 under the provisions of the Schantz bill, which was signed by Gov. Fisher yesterday.

The measure was introduced in the Legislature by Senator Horace W. Schantz, of Lehigh, and is designed to prevent fraud and dishonest practices.

Brokers will pay a fee of $10 and salesmen a fee of $5. Both resident and non-resident brokers and salesmen are affected.

The Department of Public Instruction is charged with the issuance of these licenses.

The Governor vetoed three bills providing for the publication of supreme and superior court records.

SHARON, Pa., May 3.—(INS.)—Byron K. Williams, 18, of Youngstown, O., was killed, and Cyrus Hedrick, 26, also of Youngstown, was injured when the automobile in which they were riding overturned on a curve in the highway at Masury, O., near here, yesterday.

Williams, who was driving, was the son of a Youngstown newspaperman.

Five Men Cut Hole In Jail Wall, Escape

BERKELEY SPRINGS, W. Va., May 3.—Five train-riders, jailed here Saturday after arrest on the main line of the Baltimore and Ohio, cut a hole two feet square in the jail brick wall facing the main street in the downtown section here and escaped. Bed clothes were tied together to make a rope by which they dropped themselves the 15 feet to the ground. All were strangers here and had been put in jail for short terms.

Doomed W. Va. Slayer Goes to Death House

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., May 3.—(AP.)—Clyde Beale, of Mingo County, sentenced to hang at the state penitentiary May 11 for the killing of Mrs. Rissie Purdue of Vulcan in 1926, was placed in the death house yesterday. Beale has worked in the prison laundry. As he was taken to the death house Beale expressed confidence that he yet would obtain clemency. His brother-in-law, Levi Lane, who was arrested with Beale, was acquitted.

Burdick Leaves $300,000 to Widow

Julian Burdick, president of the West Penn Steel Company, who died April 21, last, left his estate, estimated at approximately $300,000, to his widow, Helene Baldwin Burdick, by his will, filed for probate in the office of Register of Wills Joseph N. Mackrell. Mr. Burdick was found dead at a telephone in his residence, 3 Von Lent place, death being due to heart failure. He was prominent in financial and philanthropic circles.

Man Hurt as Train Crashes Into Truck

WASHINGTON, Pa., May 3.—Struck by a coal train at the Meadowlands grade crossing, scene of many accidents and fatalities, a truck being driven by John Jolison, of Fairmont, W. Va., was demolished. SPRINTING RECORD AGAIN IN DANGER

BABE RUTH'S appearance with the Yankees here today in an exhibition game against the Pirates before the latter set sail tonight for the East, is another reminder that time flies in baseball. It doesn't seem anything like nine years since the fans of the Pittsburgh district got their firstl look at the Bambino, but they've got to go back to the Pirate days of Jimmy Zinn in 1920 to "place" the occasion on which they experienced their initial thrill of seeing the home-run king hit one out of the community.

Jimmy Zinn

It was on September 8 of that year that Ruth performed here first in an exhibition game as a member of the Yankees, and it was due to George Whitted, then playing third base for the Buccaneers, that the 25,000 fans present were privileged to see what they had come out to see—the Babe hitting the ball out of the lot. The game had progressed to the ninth inning and Ruth had been able to do nothing against Jimmy Zinn except to smash a line foul over the fence in right field back of the bullpen. A sigh of disappointment went up when the Bambino, in his ninth-inning time at bat, popped up a puny foul over third base. It appeared to mean his final out, with no further chance to see him at the plate.

BUT Whitted was doing some thinking. He knew that the crowd had come out principally to see a Ruthian smash and he figured out a chance to avert the threatened disappointment. So instead of catching the foul fly, as he could have done very easily, he deliberately allowed the ball to drop to the ground. That prolonged Ruth's time at bat and gave the fans what they wanted. Zinn grooved the next pitch and Babe walloped it over the right-field wall at about the center of the old 25-cent bleachers.

The Bambino made another homer here in a second exhibition game on July 5, 1923. Again it was not until the ninth inning that he came through with the eagerly-awaited smash. George Boehler was the Pirate pitcher this time, and Ruth drove a grooved pitch over the right center fence at a point about three-fourths of the distance down the right-field bleachers. In his first world series game here in 1925 Ruth made three singles, and in the second he failed to get a hit.

MEET Earl Sheely No. 2. On the Penn State College baseball team this spring Coach Hugo Bezdek has a boy cavorting around first base who looks very much as Sheely looked when the present Pirate first sacker was just 21 and breaking into the Pacific Coast League as a member of the Salt Lake City Club.

Ed Young

This collegian is Ed Young, a sophomore on the Penn State team. His actions in receiving thrown balls remind one of Sheely in the same position, and his features resemble those of the Pittsburgh first baseman. If he could hit as Sheely could at the same age, Bezdek no doubt would be convinced that he had a prize ball player. Young will have two more years on the varsity after the present season.

BOB GROVE lost his first game last year and then won his next six engagements. This season he has started off with three consecutive victories. He was knocked out of one game by the Yanks, but the defeat was charged to OssieOrwol. Yesterday's victory was the second for Grove in two successive days, as he also received credit for Wednesday's win over the Red Sox. Bob needs only four more triumphs to reach th half-century line in the big show, as he has now won 46 games and lost 38 since he joined the A's in 1926.

GROVE also is geetting the jump on Dazzy Vance this year for the distinction of leading the major leagues in strikeouts. In 1928, Vance was the only hurler in the main tent to beat out Connie Mack's smokeball artist in whiffs, Dazzy's margin was but 17. He fanned exactly 200 batsmen against a total of 183 amassed by Grove.

But this season Bob is off in the lead. He set the new season's best record yesterday when he set nine of the Red Sox batsmen down in strikes, and that performance boosted his total for the year to 22. Vanc has only 13 to his credit so far. Dazzy has reached or passed the 200 mark three times in the last five campaigns. His peak was reached in 1924, when he fanned 262.

MENTION of the fact that Vance has reached the 200 mark in strikeouts three times in five years recalls that it was only by the smallest possible margin that he escaped missing it last season. He did not get his 200th strikeout until two men were out in the ninth inning of his final game.

Taylor Douthit, of the Cards, was his victim, and Vance, in discussing the incident afterward, said he knew he needed one more strikeout to raise his total to 200 and put everything he had into his efforts to retire Douthit on strikes. "That's one thing I don't like about Vance," says a big league manager. "He carries his strikeout record on his cuff and thinks more about whiffing a flock of batters than he does about the score of the game or whether his club wins or not. Yet I'll confess that I wouldn't mind having him."

Johnny Morrison

ADD baseball come-backs of 1929—Johnny Morrison. After the Pirate management shipped him home under suspension in the middle of the 1927 season, the curve-ball specialist drifted out of sight so rapidly and completely that Pittsburgh fans thought he had left the game. The Pittsburgh club released him to Montreal but he refused to report and he was then released to Kansas City. He didn't do so well for the last-named club in 1928, winning only one game while losing six, but now he thinks he is ready to step right up among the leaders again.

IT'S all the result of a game that Johnny won for Kansas City the other day from Toledo. He got into a jam in the ninth inning, but rose to the occasion, showed the best form he has displayed since he was with the Bucs and saved the game by striking out Freigau and McCurdy in succession.

That success has restored Morrison's old confidence, it is said, and he thinks now that he can go right along and win regularly. His teammates share that belief. "It was as nervy an exhibition as I've ever seen," declared Tom Sheehan, another ex-Pirate flinger on the same club. "Why, Johnny had three balls and two strikes on McCurdy, but he didn't do what what most pitchers would have done—throw a fast ball over the plate. Not Johnny. He took no chance of the batter's hitting it. So he throw a curve. And what a curve."

BATSMEN are not the only players in the American Association who are in danger of being hit with a bean ball. Even the baserunners are used as targets out there. While Milwaukee was playing in Columbus, Pitcher Bill Ryan, of the Brewers, deliberately threw

Pro, Amateur Fight Shows Are Planned

BUTLER, Pa., May 3.—Professional and amateur boxing shows sponsored by the Butler Armco Association of the Columbia Steel, will be staged in Butler every two weeks, starting May 28, it was announced today.

High-class talent in boxing circles will be secured. The first show will be held in the Armco field in the west end of the city.

Grandell Enters Akron Auto Race

AKRON, O., May 3.—The latest star of the Akron Race Fraternity to enter the 100-mile Rubber City Sweepstakes at the Akron-Cleveland Board Speedway next Sunday, is Curley Grandell of Canton, O.

Grandell, one of the veterans of the game has had a colorful career on the dirt tracks and board speedways and is rated as one of the most daring drivers in this hazardous sport.

COUGHLIN COLT SPRAINS FORELEGS

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 3.—(INS.)—Roguish Eye, one of the leading candidates for the $50,000 Kentucky Derby, to be run here May 18, has developed a limp and will not be sent to the post in the classic, John J. Coughlin, of Chicago, the owner, said today.

After working in fine style, doing a mile in 1:43 1-5, the crack colt pulled up lame. A swelling was discovered in his forelegs and conditioners said he could not continue the gruelling preparation for the Derby.

The colt is suffering from sesamoid, which is a bone or cartilage affliction over a joint in the foot.

Coughlin now pins his Derby hopes on Roguish Eye's stable mate, Karl Eitel. The latter went a mile and a quarter over a sloppy track in 2:16 3-5, running easily at the finish. George Pieratt was in the saddle.

Disturb, the Southland stable's Derby representative, did a mile in 1:51. F. P. Pete's Woolorac covered a mile in 1:49. Paul Bunyan, owned by L. M. Severson, stepped 6 furlongs in 1:17 3-5.

GROVE IS NEW 'IRON MAN'

BOSTON, May 3.—(INS.)—Robert Moses Grove, star southpaw of the Philadelphia Athletics, essays to be an "iron man." After pitching five innings on Wednesday until the Mackmen piled up a big lead, Lefty came right back yesterday and went the route against the Red Sox, winning, 5 to 1. The A's took the series, three games to one.

All other scheduled games in the big leagues were halted by rain.

College Crews Set For Big Regatta

DERBY, Conn., May 3.—(INS.)—Twelve college crews, sporting the colors of Yale, Pennsylvania and Columbia, were to take long spins on the Housatonic today in preparation for the first triangular regatta of the rowing season tomorrow. The Columbia crews will be the last on the scene, being scheduled to arrive at noon today.

The Columbia varsity is a slight favorite due to its easy victory over the Navy, and the fact that the men have been rowing together all spring. Yale has never lost the varsity race in the Blackwell Cup regatta, however, and the Elis are confident of victory despite numerous shakeups in their shell. Penn is conceded an outside chance. The four Red and Blue crews worked out both in the morning and afternoon yesterday.

DE MAVE VS. VON PORAT

CHICAGO, May 3.—(A.P.)—Otto Von Porat, Norwegian heavyweight, has been signed to meet Jack De Mave, of New Jersey, in an added 10-round attraction to the Tony Canzoneri-Andre Routis card at the Chicago Stadium, May 10. Honeyboy Finnegan, of Boston, and Armando Santiago, of Cuba, clash in the main bout.

Fight Results

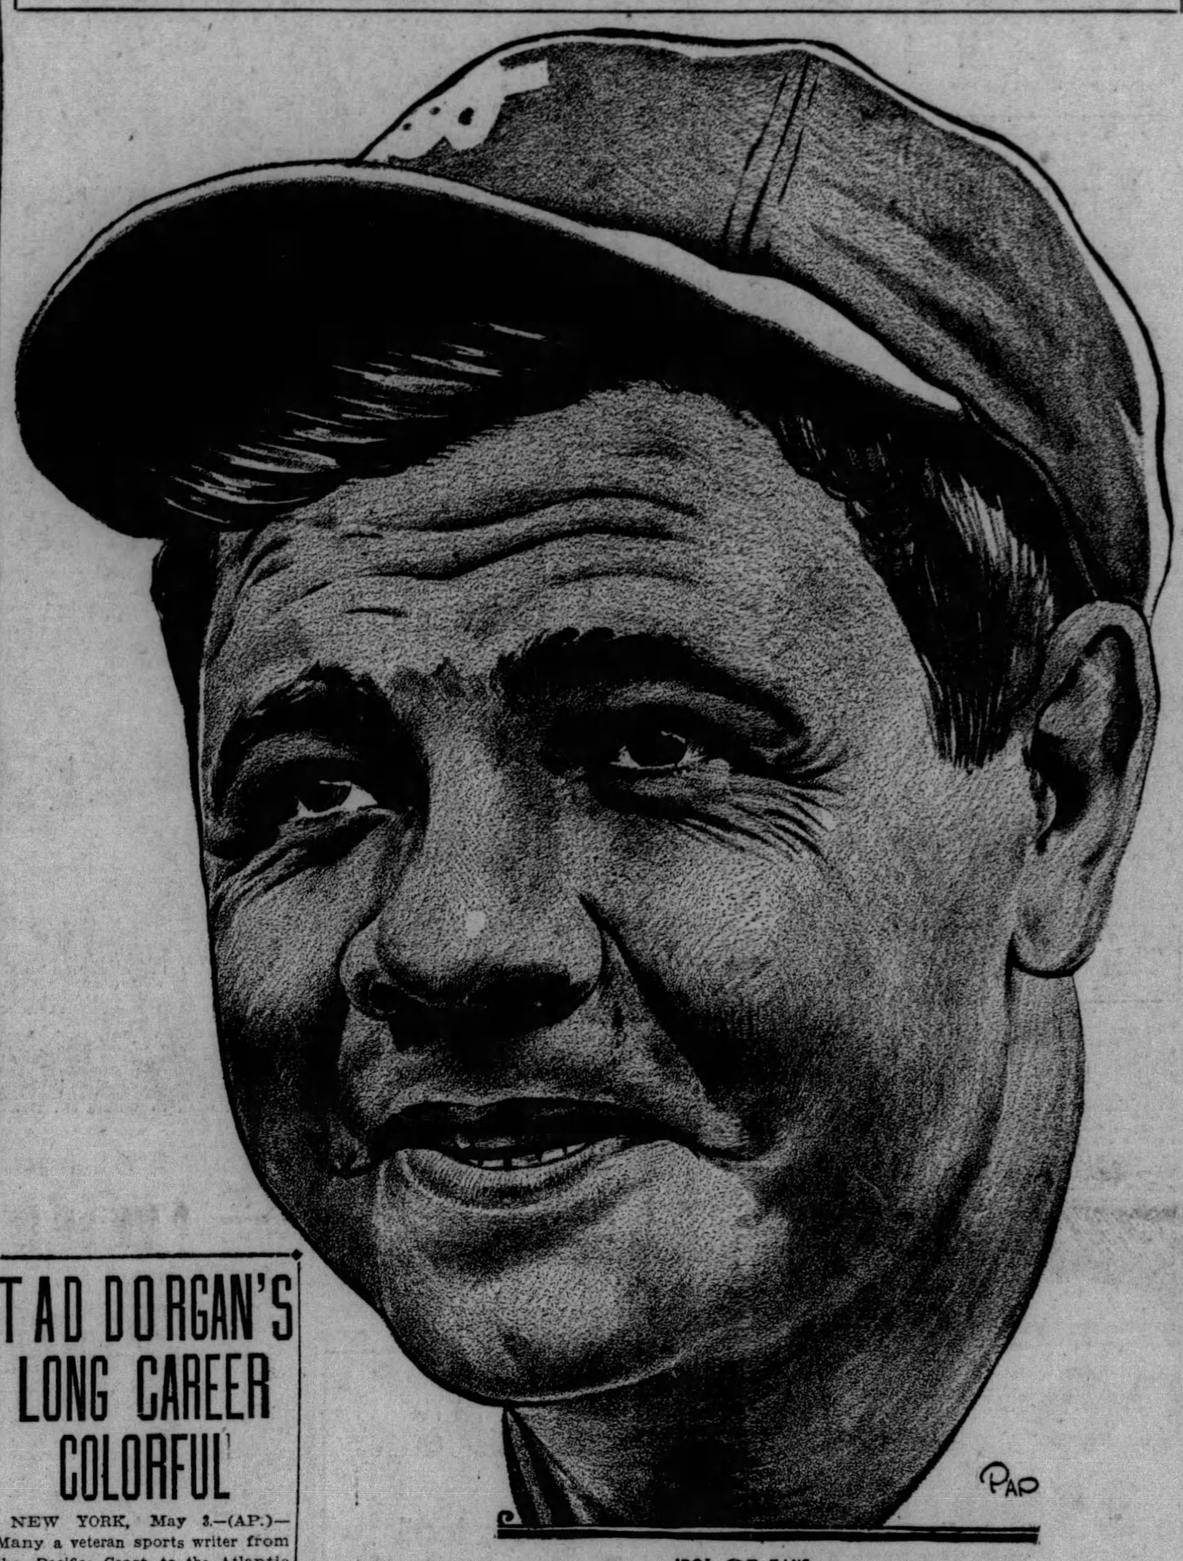
Tad's Death Shock To His Old Pal, Jim Corbett

James J. Corbett, former heavyweight champion of the world, who is appearing this week at the Harris Theater, was shocked last night when informed of the death of T. A. Dorgan, known to millions of sport followers as "Tad." Corbett, not only was reared with the late famous cartoonist on the Pacific Coast, but lived within a few blocks of him in Great Neck, L. I.

"It's an awful shock. Only yesterday I had a letter from Mrs. Corbett telling me that Tad was very, very ill. I had hoped to get finished with my work here to get back and be of what little assistance I might when I learned that his condition was critical.

"He had the greatest sense of humor of any man I ever met in all my travels. Many a day and many a night I sat and talked over fights, old and modern, with him when he was unable to get out of the house since his illness. In fact, I seemed to be one of the rare few who had entry to his house at any and all times. He created and coined more expressions than any man of today, and his wit was the sharpest of anyone I ever knew."

BABE HIMSELF IN PERSON HERE TODAY



IDOL OF FANS

Babe Ruth, home run king, and his clouting mates, Lou Gehrig and the other New York Yankees, are in town today for an exhibition game with the Pirates at Forbes Field. Despite the unseasonable weather, a large crowd turned out in the hope that the Bambino would lift one over the fence or into the stands.

TAD DORGAN'S LONG CAREER COLORFUL

NEW YORK, May 3.—(AP.)—Many a veteran sports writer from the Pacifice Coast to the Atlantic had little heart for his work last night. Tad Dorgan, one of the most famous and best-liked members of the craft, died yesterday.

An invalid because of a heart ailment for the past nine years, Tad drew from a sick bed at his home in Great Neck, L. I. The cartoons that were devoured by sport fans from coast to coast, by means of a radio close to his bed, he kept in touch with present day fisticuffs and fighters and wrote entertainingly of battles of the past.

A career that added many new chapters to the history of sports writing and created descriptive sphrases and characters that amounted almost to a new language of sports, began when Thomas Aloysius Dorgan joined the staff of the San Francisco Bulletin more than 35 years ago. He came to New York in 1904 as a cartoonist and boxing writer for the Evening Journal. His cartoons and comment were syndicated through the Hearst Service and published with translations in several foreign countries.

POPULARIZED SLANG

Tad was one of the most popular figures in sports writing, recognized as a wit, entertainer, and sponsor of youngsters seeking a foothold in the profession. The late Charles E. Van Loan, originally a contributor to his columns, became a nationally-known sports and short story writer through Tad's assistance and encouragement.

Tad popularized slang in writings and cartoons that covered every great boxing contest over a period of 35 years. He nicknamed many boxers, first naming Jack Johnson "Lil' Artha" and Joe Gans "The Old Master." Anecdotes of his experiences, wanderings and practical jokes, are a part of the lore of the profession.

Just after starting his career as a cartoonist, the fingers of Tad's right hand were crushed in an accident. He learned to draw all over again, using his left hand and sometimes the two fingers still useful on his right.

His last big sports assignment was Jack Dempsey's title defense against Billy Miske in Benton Harbor, Mich., in 1920. He was forced to withdraw to his home shortly afterward and never was able to resume active reporting. The chief diversion allowed him was the radio and an occasional trip to New York, where he could look down from a suite in a Broadway hotel on the crowds below.

Tad died in his sleep from heart failure surrounded by members of his family. He is survived by his wife and his mother, Mrs. Anna Dorgan, four brothers and four sisters.

Pugilists, baseball players and men and women prominent in all walks of life today sent their condolences to Dorgan's widow, Mrs. Izole M. Dorgan, at the caroonist's beautiful Great Neck (L. I.), home.

Runyon Pays Tribute To Tad, Lifelong Pal

By DAMON RUNYON.

(Copyright, 1929, by Universal Service.)

NEW YORK, May 3.—The music stops—"Tad" is dead! A ray of sunshine across this old world has been turned to shadow. A peal of joyous laughter has been suddenly hushed. And the hearts of many men and women are very, very sad. "Tad" is dead!

He was sleeping, they say, at his home in Great Neck yesterday when death whispered that he was never again to open his eyes. Sleeping the sleep of a tired little boy, for though 52 years had passed over his head, that was all "Tad" ever was in his soul—a little boy.

So his spirit quit his mortal shell quietly, but those who know of the gritty battle that he put up against illness for years are quite sure that "Tad" went head up, and undaunted. Well might they write his epitaph in his own picturesque lingo, "A Dead Game Guy."

WON FAME AS CARTOONIST

Thomas Aloysius Dorgan was his full name, and from the initials came the "Tad" under which he won fame as the greatest of all our cartoonists. He was more than a cartoonist. He was a reporter in pictures of human life. He was the modern Hogarth. He made millions laugh out loud, but under the skin of his humor was a remarkable insight into the human soul—into people as we are, and as we always will be.

In a fighter, or a ball player, or any other athlete, "Tad" admired gameness more than anything else, and he had that quality, in him 22-karat pure, though he may not have known it. He fought physical adversity nearly all his life, and the battle never soured him.

Consider this: As a boy he met with an accident that maimed his right hand. I think he got the hand caught in a rope that was towing a house which was being moved from one point to another. "Tad" learned to draw with his left hand—learned to draw so well that he surpassed all the cartoonists of his time.

When at the height of his career, he was stricken with heart trouble that compelled his retirement to a seclusion that cut him off almost completely from the life he loved, that prohibited him from going anywhere or doing anything. Yet from that seclusion he carried on, knowing that death was just behind his door every hour of the day, and carried on to such effect that few of his tremendous public had any inkling that he wasn't as hale and active as in the days of his youth.

Game? Say, they never made 'em any gamer than this long lean fellow from "south of the slot" out in San Francisco, where his name and mem-

CROWD TO SEE M'TIERNAN IN WINDUP

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

This is the night that they trot out Bucky McTiernan for his first main bout. It will be against Mickey Solmen, of New Castle, Pa., in the Moose Temple ring, downtown, and it promises to be the banner night of Promoter Francis Flynn's club to date.

Interest in the first windup of McTiernan is intense, for the Swissvale lad has shown so much class in his other appearances that he looks like a sure pop to be Pittsburgh's next great ring card, and perhaps even a champion. The Temple arena likely will be jammed for the occasion.

A corking preliminary card also will draw out the bugs. In the semi-final, Johnny Pial, of Oil City, meets Charley Wolfe, of Rochester, Pa., with the winner promised a main bout with the winner of tonight's windup at next week's show in the same ring. The second bout will be in the nature of an elimination between those two New Kensington featherweight rivals, U. S. Carpentier and Ken Hargrave, and Jess Hoak, of McKeesport, and Joe Corelli, of Erie, meet in the opener.

MELLO VS. JONES

Al Mello, of Boston, boxes Gorilla Jones, Negro, of Cleveland, in the main bout in Madison Square Garden, New York, tonight. Larry Brignolia meets Frankie Petrolle at Erie and six local amateurs appear in an inter-city show in Milwaukee.

Mickey Solmen and Johnny Carey have been signed for the semi-final to the Tony Herrera-Ray Newton bout at the New Castle Jolly Bowl next Monday night and Leo Mozdy and Mickey Donato for the other six-round bout. In the two four-rounders, Jackie King will meet Bob Collura and Roy Minteer will mix with Al Iovino.

Mike Koppin, Jimmy Pujia and A. DeLuca have been selected to represent Pittsburgh in an inter-city ama-

NEW YORK CLUB SEEKS FOURTH FLAG IN ROW

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

The New York Yankees, who are spending the day in Pittsburgh, are out to set a new record in baseball this year, but close observers in the Yankee party admit that the team's hopes of winning four pennants and three world championships in a row are dimmer now than they were when the club went into spring training.

The Giants won four flags in a row in the National League, McGraw starting his string in 1921, the same year the Pirates "cracked" in August. But the Giants won only two of the titular series with the Yankees and Senators.

WIN THREE IN ROW

The Ruppert Rifles have won three flags and two world series honors in a row. They started their streak in 1925.

Pitching troubles, a catching staff that is none too good and a little uncertainty in the infield constitute Miller Huggins' worries. Herb Pennock, generally regarded as the best lefthander in the game, is in a doubtful condition. Pennock was out much of last year. He was struck on the pitching arm with a line drive in yesterday's abbreviated game with the Senators.

The remainder of the Yankee slab staff is nothing to brag about. George Pipgras is a dandy righthander and Wilcy Moore is capable, provided he is in form. But Moore gave up the game last year and went home with a bad arm.

CATCHERS JUST FAIR

The receiving department is no better than fair and while the infield is formidable is some respects it is far from being the best in the game.

But the power of the Yankee attack may work wonders with the club. Any team with hitters like Ruth, Gehrig, Lazzeri, Meusel and Combs is bound to be dangerous.

Babe Ruth, who was here today to participate in the exhibition game between the Yankees and Pirates, will be host to hundreds of sandlot players and managers at an informal reception tonight in the gymnasium of the Keystone Athletic Club.

The exhibition game with the Yanks marked the last appearance of the Pirates at Forbes Field until after they complete their first eastern trip, which opens tomorrow in Boston.

The game scheduled with the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday was postponed on account of rain and will be played off on July 3, an open date for both teams.

SANDLOT PILOTS WORRIED BY WEATHER

By TOM BIRKS.

The cold, rainy weather of the last seven days has local sandlot managers up in the air. With the league season scheduled to be opened Monday, an epidemic of sore arms and a thousand other ailments, is something for managers to worry over.

As time goes along, the situation is becoming more serious. Ten days ago managers were loud in telling the world that the outfit would be in wonderful shape, and that all their star pitchers were eager to step out a regulation nine innings.

Yet in the last 10 days, all this optimism has been shot to the winds, and instead of confident managers, a group of alibi artists are crying their troubles into the ears of sandlot editors.

It is a long lane that has no turning, and perhaps before the cry of "play ball" rings over local sandlots next week, a brief warm spell will hit the city, and then once more the boys can get out on the diamond and exercise the old throwing arm.

ENTERS TWO LEAGUES

One of the toughest problems facing any team in Western Pennsylvania is that of Jack Friel and his board of managers at Tarentum. Jack, one of the finest fellows ever to sponsor a team in any league, has his Hudson-Essex nine entered in the Allegheny Valley circuit. This loop, a 10-club affair, can offer a schedule long enough for the most optimistic manager, but on top of that the Tarentum sportsman enters Natrona in the Inter-County League. A schedule in the two loops is going to take a whale of a pitching staff. Supporters of the upriver club add: "Friel has Pickles Fredericks." Well, Pickles came down to Sullivan Field last season with the same trouble—too much work.

And Pickles, wonderful pitcher that he is, could not stand the gaff, and was knocked out of the box in the fifth inning. Augie Blake will work his turn on the mound. Freil also will have Steffen, of the New Kensington K. of C., for his Inter-County League games. Joe Harcina, the boy who made a reputation for himself as a member of the Har-Brac Union team, will wear the spangles of the Tarentum nine.

Taking a bite out of two big leagues is something worth talking over, and the fans in the district will watch the experiment closely. Jack Friel is a wonderful fellow and a great sport, and the fans no doubt will wish him luck in his latest venture.

UMPIRES TO MEET

President Dan Dougherty, of the West Penn Umpires' Association, states that an important meeting of the association will be held in his office at Ferry street this evening.

Inasmuch as the business is of utmost importance, all members are requested to be on hand. Assignments for the opening week's games will be made at this meeting, and instructions for all leagues brought out for discussion.

Any member unable to get to the meeting should get in touch with Dougherty at Court 1974.

Tomorrow afternoon will find St. John's City Leaguers making their first trip away from home this season, going to New Kensington to meet the Stewart Trucks of the Allegheny Valley League. Lefty Hall and Korniack will hurl for the McGrady outfit. Miller, late of the Dan Heeps, will catch for the Strippers. On Sunday afternoon the Liberty Dairy nine, City League champion, will appear at Sullivan Field to open the home season for McGrady's outfit.

Hartnett Loses Faith in Miracles

CHICAGO, May 3.—(AP.)—Gabby Hartnett, star catcher of the Cubs, doesn't believe miracles after all.

Hartnett, who has been nursing a sore arm since training season, recently hazarded a throw. The soreness was gone and he shouted to Manager Joe McCarthy that a "miracle" had happened.

Before he could get into a game, however, the soreness returned and he was crestfallen.

Hartnett may be out for another month.

SALO, RICHMAN TIE FOR LEAD IN DERBY

MIAMI, Okla., May 3.—(AP.)—Two Legionnaires from neighboring states, John Salo, of Passaic, N. J., and Sam Richman, of New York, tied for first place in yesterday's lap of C. C. Pyle's bunion derby. They ran the 36.7 miles from Joplin, Mo., to Miami, Okla., in 4:35:50.

Salo, second in elapsed time, cut 20 minutes and 20 seconds from the lead of Pete Gavuzzi, of England and now is trailing by 2:53:25. Richman is sixth in elapsed time.

Gavuzzi finished third in 4:57:10; Paul Simpson, of Burlington, N. J., was fourth; Phillip Granville, Hamilton, Ont., Negro, fifth; Giusto Umek, of Italy, sixth; Herbert Hedeman, of New York, seventh, and M. B. McNamara, of Australia, eighth.

The runners crossed their twelfth state line, after covering 1,442 miles since March 31.

Guy Shields, of Baxter Springs, Kan., representing Picher, Okla., was given an ovation when the caravan passed through Baxter Springs. He finished eleventh and is thirteenth in elapsed time.

ory will always be revered. He was a great man, sick, or well, he was a great man. He was the biggest figure that sport has produced in many years, though I doubt if posterity will assign him entirely to sport. He was too big for sport alone.

Until the doctor told him he had a bad heart some four or five years ago, and that he must avoid exertion and excitement, "Tad" was one of the most familiar figures in the world of sport, and when he was younger, in the night life of the town before it moved up beyond Forty-second street.

He knew all the actors, and turfmen, and literary lights, and fighters, and managers, and broken down sports who infested the bright lights district when it centered around Times Square. He was a regular patron of Jack's old restaurant on Sixth avenue, which he promptly termed the Jack's A. C., (Athletic Club) because of the muscular efforts of the waiters in heaving out pests.

"Tad" had to know a man pretty well before he admitted him to his circle, and "Tad" was always the center of his circle. If a stranger appeared in his crowd, "Tad" would pull himself in, so to speak. But he loved the company of those he knew well. He loved the whoop-tee-do of life, and I have always thought it must have been a hardship greater on him that it would have been on the ordinary man when he had to immure himself in his home at Great Neck, cut off from all his old associations, if not from his old associates.

That he kept track of things was due largely to his almost uncanny understanding of humanity. He knew that this doesn't change to any great extent. Then he had many visitors, and many telephone conversations to keep him informed on details. He motored about the Long Island countryside in pleasant weather with his wife, and during the hot spell he would occasionally come into town and take an apartment high up on the Hotel McAlpin.

AVOIDED EXCITEMENT

Now and then he would dine at Cavanaugh's, an old-time restaurant in the Twenties that he frequented in his more active days. But never was he seen around the ringside where he was always pointed out as a celebrity, and where the clang of the gong used to be music to his ears. At rare intervals, I believe, he saw a ball game, sitting in a remote section of the stand, but in the main he avoided the excitement that once was the breath of life in his noses.

No one ever heard him complain. If you called him on the telephone, his voice sounded as cheery as in the days when he was in the heat of things. I think he disliked having mention made of his condition, or attention called to it in any way.

"Tad" had a penchant for nicknames. I always thought it was because of his habit of mind to take a short cut to what he wanted to say, a habit that was best expressed in his writings. He would always cut out a lot of superfluous "a's" and "the's." I have for years been the—shall I say victim?—of one of his nicknames.

He picked up the expression "hard boiled egg" years ago, and made it famous long before anyone quite understood what it meant, and incidentally he gave it to me as a tag, shortening it to just "Egg." He took one glance at Tom McNamara, the cartoonist, and Thomas was thereafter "Rubber Nose."

"Tad" was a staunch friend, but he was also a good hater. Long ago, when he was a youngster, he was sent to interview John J. McGraw, manager of the Giants, and McGraw rebuffed him in some manner. "Tad" never forgot, and if McGraw has ever wondered at the industry "Tad" exerted in former years to hold him up to public laughter, this may enlighten him.

ADMIRED DEMPSEY

He thought Jack Dempsey a great fighter. He saw Dempsey win the title at Toledo, and afterwards flatten Billy Miske in Benton Harbor. That was about the last big fight "Tad" witnessed, I believe. He was a tremendous Yankee fan and he took his baseball violently.

Arthur Brisbane, the mightiest of the modern journalists, and the man who brought "Tad" out, and by suggestion and direction made the cartoonist the foremost figure of his field, once said that a great writer was spoiled when "Tad" picked up a drawing pencil, and that estimate is undoubtedly true.

From Brisbane, "Tad" undoubtedly learned much of his manner of thinking, and some of his manner of writing, but "Tad" would convert the clear and beautiful English used by the editorial writer into the vernacular of the day. "Tad" admired Brisbane more than any man he ever knew, and the great editor was undoubtedly the inspiration of the cartoonist's best work.

He could think very fast, that "Tad," in times of emergency, for one of my memories of him has to do with a little dice game that was in progress, against strict orders, in the cartoonists' room of the old Journal, when in walked Mr. Brisbane.

"Bud" Fisher was there. Also Harry Hirschfield, and Tom McNamara, and Tom Powers, and George McManus, and others whose names are famous now, and who wouldn't think of descending to such pursuits as craps. But they were all young then, a rollicking, devil-may-care lot, and they were crouched on the floor deeply engrossed in this game.

The stakes in the crap game were necessarily small, because in those days the cartoonists weren't getting the fabulous salaries that attach to their names now. The man who had the dice had his arm uplifted for a heave of the bones against the wall, and was calling on a nine with pathetic fervor when Mr. Brisbane entered.

The "gunner" was immediately frozen into an attitude like a pointer dog on a stand, and a dead silence fell over the group as the editor walked up to them and stood looking grimly down. "Tad" recovered first.

"There's a quarter open," he said, quietly, to Mr. Brisbane.

"Do you want it?"

Some of the slang, and many of the quaint expressions that "Tad" either originated or made famous through his cartoons are almost a part of the language. The story of how a couple of song writers picked up his "Yes, We Have No Bananas," and made a fortune, is well known. His "Daffydills," his "Judge Rummy," his "Yum—He Never Had A Chance," his "Indoor Sports" and "Outdoor Sports" added to his fame.

But I always thought that "Tad's" chief claim to fame was the influence that he exerted on his craft. For many years cartoonists have always named him first among the big men of their profession, in ideas, and in execution. He was a prodigious worker even after the doctors pronounced sentence on him, and he could draw a cartoon on a serious subject, as well as on a subject of humor.

It will be a long time before we see another "Tad" as a cartoonist. It will be a longer time before we see another "Tad" as a man. And if I have seemed lonesome here at any stage, I hope the reader will bear in mind that I write of him from a full heart. He was my friend.

the ball at Deeby Foss, of Columbus, while the latter was standing on second base, charging that Foss was tipping off to the batter what the catcher was signaling.

Foss might have been seriously injured, and some stiff punishment for Ryan would appear to be in order. It isn't so hard to understand now why Ryan never could make good in the majors. Up there a pitcher has got to have a head as well as an arm, and control of himself as well as of the ball. Had such a situation developed on the sand lots the pitcher and catcher, instead of throwing at the signal tipper, probably would have solved the problem by changing their signs.

Charley Borah

IT has been a great spring for exceptional doing in sprint circles, particularly in the 100-yard dash, with new world records bing claimed or old ones equaled. Another outstanding event of that nature is on the program for tomorrow, and the world record will be in danger again when two of America's premier sprinters, Charley Borah, of the University of Southern California, and Frank Wykoff, of Glendale Junior College, are to meet for the first time in the Southern Pacific A. A. U. championships at Los Angeles. These boys are two of Uncle Sam's big four, the others being George Simpson, of Ohio State, and Aubrey Bracey, of Rice Institute. Both Borah and Wykoff equaled the world record of 9 3-5 seconds at the Fresno relay carnival last Saturday, though they did not compete against each other, and it is probable that one or the other will do at least as well tomorrow. It shaps up as one of the greatest "century" struggles in years.

AURORA STRIKE SETTLEMENT LOOMS

AURORA, Ill., May 3.—(INS.)—A horsemen's strike which for three days has prevented opening of the spring race meeting here, appeared near an end today and a belief prevailed that the turf season finally would get under way tomorrow.

No compromise was effected, but the horsemen were reported to have hit upon a legal way to collect the 1 per cent they demand of all purses won and to have abandoned hope of having the purse minimum fixed at $1,000.

Representatives of the Thoroughbred Horsemen's Association at a conference decided they could collect the 1 per cent by simply requesting the management to assign it to the association after purses had been won.

Clifford Trimble, track manager, who directed the horsemen either to enter their steeds or vacate the stables, has extended the time limit for entries to tomorrow morning.

The first herd of horses imported to run in event the recalcitrant owners did not relent arrived today. It was the Viking stable, numbering 14. Other large stables are expected in the next few days.

Amateur Referee First to Break New Law

The first violation of the new state boxing law occurred last night when a so-called amateur referee demanded and received a $10 feet for officiating in an amateur show at the North Side A. C.

Arrangements had been made by the club for the use of its own referee with the consent of the boxing commission, but when the time came for the bouts to go on, William Simendinger, an official of the Allegheny Mountain Association of the A. A. U., appeared on the scene with the word that he had been assigned by John T. Taylor, secretary-treasurer of the association, to referee. Assuming that Simendinger was aware of the new law, which stipulates that referees in amateur bouts must work gratis unless they have licenses as professional referees, the club interposed no objection.

After the bouts were over, it is said, Simendinger demanded and received the usual fee of the amateur referees here, $10, and signed a receipt for same, which will be turned over to Commissioner Havey J. Boyle.

TAD'S CAREER COLORFUL

Funeral services will be held tomorrow.

STARTED AT BOTTOM

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3.—(AP.)—Old-timers of San Francisco today recalled that Thomas Aloysius Dorgan, better known as Tad, who died in Great Neck, N. Y., yesterday, first attracted attention with his cartoons when he posted them in the window of his father's cigar store here.

His professional career started on the San Francisco Bulletin at $5.50 per week. One day he asked for a raise and got fired. He still thought he was pretty good and came back to the newspaper and offered to work for $1 a week. He got his job back and from that time on made a steady climb to fame.

Tad was born "south of the slot," as the district south of Market street was known in the early days. Here he formed a friendship with J. J. Corbett before the latter became heavyweight champion. Tad attended high school here and it was in this city that he picked up most of the characters that later brought him fame in his drawings.

COLLEGE TRACK ACES OFF FOR OHIO RELAYS

By JESS CARVER.

Track and field men from Pitt, Duquesne, West Virginia and Bethany will leave tonight for Columbus, O., where, on Saturday, they will compete in the fourth annual Ohio State Relay carnival, a meet which may turn out to be the best of the year in point of record performances.

Marshall Lewis

Carnegie Tech will put final touches on condition for the dual engagement at Beaver Falls tomorrow with Geneva and Wash-Jeff and Allegheny, neither boasting any great strength in the way of track and field material, will prepare for their dual meet at Washington.

In these various ways, the district college cinder varsities will plan to put in their time today.

All the while, high school athletes from all sections of the Western Pennsylvania and Eastern and Central Ohio districts and from the eastern and central part of this state will begin arriving in town for participation in the annual Carnegie Tech Interscholastic championship, booked for the Tartan Bowl for tomorrow. Carnegie officials expect an entry list of 1,000 for tomorrow's meet, with at least 60 schools represented.

PITT STARS READY

To return for a moment to the collegians, the Pitt squad which will compete in the Ohio State meet will consist of Captain Victor Pickard in the pole vault and javelin throw; Pete Bowen in the sprints; Ed Knoblock in the 120-yard high hurdles; Don Gwinn in the hammer throw and Everett Utterback in the all-round event and the broad and high jumps.

Besides, the Panthers will sport a hurdle relay team, composed of Bowen, Lewis, Knoblock and Voight, which will compete with the two best quartets in the country, Ohio State and Illinois, both of which broke the world record last Saturday.

Duquesne will be represented by Joe Pesci in the invitation mile and by Snellenbach in the sprints Coach Layden may also enter four men in the university class team race. He will not make a final decision in this matter until he reaches Columbus tomorrow.

West Virginia's entries will include a mile and half-mile relay team; Epling in the high hurdles, and possibly one or two men in the weights. Bethany's entrants are not known. It is unlikely that Furman Nuss will enter any individuals, confining Bethany's participation to competition in the college class mile relay race.

TECH ENTRY HEAVY

The high school meet here, granted the great boon of fair weather and a dry track, should present for the entertainment of the folks in the stands some fine performances. South Brownsville High School, victors in last year's meet, will be on hand to defend its laurels, and with almost the same team that walked away with the '28 laurel wreaths.

Anxious to upset the defending champions and with strong and well-balanced teams, will come Steubenville High School of Ohio; Lock Haven, New Castle and Monongahela of Pennsylvania, and two or three other schools with strong teams from both states. Steubenville, by virtue of its triumph in the Geneva Interscholastics at Beaver Falls a week ago, rules a hot favorite to replace South Brownsville as the Tech champion.

Tomorrow's meet will begin at 11 o'clock in the morning, with preliminary heats in the sprints and hurdles and finals in one or two weight events on the schedule.

RECORDS MAY FALL

If the track and turf are dry, no less than six meet records are expected to fall tomorrow. Marks in the 100-yard dash, the pole vault, the broad and high jumps; the mile relay and in the javelin throw seem most likely to be bettered.

Individual performers of the class of Simms, of Monongahela; Pusch, of Beaver; Sebastian, of Sharon; Levaun, of Steubenville; Beggs, Harding High of Aliquippa; Dyson, of New Brighton, and Anderton, of Beaver Falls, will bear close watching. Anderton will be defending his half-mile championship, won last year. Pusch will attempt to break Rib Allen's 11-8 record in the pole vault. Dyson will set out for a new mark in the discus and Beggs figures to top the existing mark in the javelin throw.

Ohio State Relay Games Get Under Way

COLUMBUS, May 3.—(AP.)—On a track soaked by a hard spring rain, invading college athletes are limbering up in preparation for the sixth annual Ohio relays to be decided here today and tomorrow.

Preliminaries in all the high school and elementary schools events will be held this afternoon, together with several relays and the 100-yard dash and sprint medal relay for Ohio colleges. The seven university and five college relays, 10 open events for individuals and final in the Class A high school relays, will be scattered through the morning and afternoon program of tomorrow, together with the special invitation races.

The special events will bring together George Simpson, Ohio State flash; Jack Elder, of Notre Dame; Pete Bowen, of Pittsburgh, and Don Bennett, Toledo school boy, in a race of 100 yards which will offer Simpson another opportunity to break the world record of :09.6.

New Records Loom In Waynesburg Meet

WAYNESBURG, Pa., May 3.—Close observers of Greene County High School track athletics are of the opinion that several new county records will be established in the annual meet to be staged here next Saturday.

Marks made by various school boy athletes in inter-school meets staged thus far this season are taken as an indication of what will be done in the county event.

INDOOR FINALE CARDED

The 10-round bout between Tiger Joe Randall and Dominick Profio next Thursday night will be the last indoor battle of the season in McKeesport. If Profio turns the tables and wins, he will be rematched for a third meeting with California Joe Gans at an open-air show in the Tube City by Promoter Jim McGirr. Gans outpointed Profio in their first meeting, but was knocked out in the second.

Tommy Crawley and Ray Newton, who clash at the Washington (Pa.) Gardens one week from next Monday night, both are members of the "I Have Beaten Battling Gizzy Club," and their meeting therefore will carry added interest for the fans of Washington, where Gizzy is a favorite.

Howard Mayberry, of Donora, boxes Eddie O'Dowd, of Columbus, O., in the main bout of a show in Wheeling next Monday night. Petey Roberts, of Martins Ferry, O., meets Young Tennessee, of New Castle, and Tommy Heilman, of Donora, will engage Cyclone Driscoll, of Columbus, in preliminaries.

ALL-STAR CARD IN PHILLY

Gunnis and Taylor, the veteran promoters of Philadelphia, have arranged the following classy card for Shibe Park, Monday evening, May 27: Kid Chocolate vs. Vidal Gregorio, Billy Wallace vs. Bruce Flowers, Baby Joe Gans vs. Pinky Kaufman, and Jack McVey vs. George Courtney. Each bout will be a 10-rounder with a white boxer opposed to a Negro.

When Teddy Welch, McKeesport lightweight, defeated K. O. Yutzy, of Meyersdale, in the eight-round semi-final to K. O. Christner's two-round knockout victory over Ray Bold at Cumberland last night, he turned in his seventh straight victory and his eighth in nine bouts since he went under the management of Joe Dubranski, of McKeesport. He has been rematched with Yutzy for a main bout at Cumberland, Thursday, May 16.

Dawson Enters British Amateur

RAIN HALTS GAME

NEW YORK, May 3.—(AP.)—The game between Fordham and Duke yesterday was called off at the end of the second inning because of rain. Fordham was leading, 2 to 1, as a result of one hit off Jenkins and two errors. Aube started for Fordham.

Hanlon Tendered Testimonial Dinner

The testimonial dinner of Osborne Hanlon, who has been signed to umpire in the Blue Ridge League this season, was held last night in the Carrick Literary and Social Club. It was deemed a complete success.

Umpire Bill Klem, of the National League, made a big hit with his interesting speech, after which he made Hanlon a presentation. Two other National League umpires, Jorda and Majerkurth, also attended.

Mayor Charles H. Kline, James J. Malone, president of City Council, and Daniel F. Winters, councilman, each made speeches praising Hanlon and wishing him well with his new work.

Havey J. Boyle, of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, was toast master.

HEIDELBERG OFF TONIGHT

Manager Balsarini and 15 Green and Gold stalwarts of Heidelberg will board the Red Arrow this evening, bound for Newark, N. J., where on Sunday, the former National amateur champions will meet the Newark German Club in the National final of the tourney.

The players seem to be confident they will bring back to Pittsburgh their second National title. A lot of stuff was spilled at the booster meeting on Tuesday night at Heidelberg, and it seems evident quite a crowd of locals will be aboard the Pennsylvania special train running to the game tomorrow evening.

For the information of fans, the excursion will leave here tomorrow evening at 7:50 o'clock, Eastern standard time, arriving at Newark at 8:30 o'clock Sunday morning.

P. R. R. officials are stopping the train at Newark both ways for the the benefit of fans making the trip. Returning, the train leaves Newark at 7:30 p. m. Sunday, arriving here early Monday morning. It will start from Carnegie and the fare will be $7.75 from Carnegie, and $7.50 from Pittsburgh.

CARD BOXING SHOW

BUTLER, Pa., May 3.—A strong boxing card, featuring Wilmerding, Butler, Pittsburgh and Coraopolis will be staged in Lyndora, Tuesday, May 14, it was announced today. The affair is held annually and is considered one of the leading events of this section.

SCHOOL NINES IN ACTION TODAY

The first round of play in the City Scholastic Baseball League will be brought to a close today with the staging of three games in each section. Schenley and Langley are leading their respective divisions, both being undefeated.

In Section I today, Schenley will meet with what promises to be the stiffest test of the first round. The Bellefielders must tackle the dangerous Westinghouse nine on the Silver Lakers' diamond. Westinghouse is conceded almost an even chance of stopping the champions.

Ralston and Fifth will battle at Fifth, and Allegheny Vocational meets Peabody on the East Enders' field.

In Section II, Langley opposes Carrick at home; Oliver and Allegheny meet at Allegheny, and Perry and South Hills clash on the latter's grounds. Second round play in both sections will open next Friday.

The competition in the first round of the junior division also winds up today. In Section I, Ralston tackles Allerdice; Arsenal plays Baxter and Liberty meets Gladstone. In Section II, Fifth Juniors meet Knoxville and Herron Hill engages Oliver. Latimer is idle.

MID-ATLANTIC UMPS NAMED

FAIRMONT, W. Va., May 3.—(AP.)—Five of the eight umpires who will officiate at Mid-Atlantic league games this season have been signed, Elmer Dailly, president of the circuit, has announced.

They are William Clark and Harry Adams, Philadelphia; William Regan, Toledo; Charles Schmidt, San Francisco, and Roy Morgan, Frederick, Md. Two of the other three are likely to be D. J. O'Keefe, Addison, N. Y., and Pat Fohl, Terre Haute, Ind., Dailly said.

Dailly said the outlook for the league this season was bright, providing the circuit gets a good break in early season weather. The situation at Johnstown, which was rather dubious for several weeks, has been relieved.

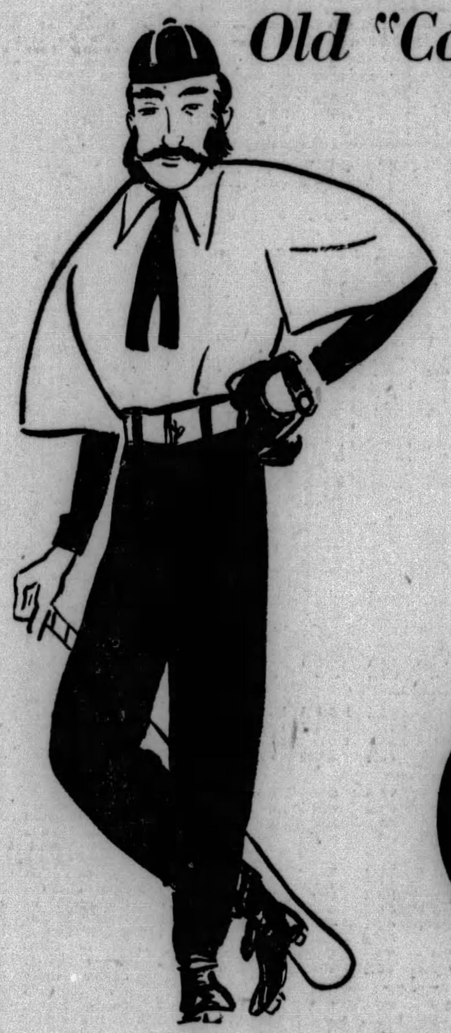
Let Luke Swivel of the Famous Old "Coyotes" Tell You About

"PLUS-SIX" Clothing



"Of course, I've been away from baseball for almost forty-five years, as you may detect by a glance at my daguerreotype at the left. But Kaufmann's Annex believed that my following would still be large enough to make me a good testimonial offer . . . and, of course, I heartily endorse their clothes. The suit I got there is a "darb," as us old-timers used to call one of Al Spalding's underhand swifters . . . and it gives me more satisfaction than any other I've worn since I sold the old "Coyote" uniform.

When you consider that I've seen and worn plenty of suits (I remember when the second bounce was out, you know), you'll be sure that I'm a competent judge of extra trouser suits. And "Plus-Six" leads in my league!" (Signed)

BULLS SWEEP STOCKS ON TO NEW HIGHS

NEW YORK, May 3.—(AP.)—Bullish enthusiasm was at a high pitch in today's stock market, which witnessed the establishment of more than a score new high records on gains ranging from 1 to nearly 15 points. Trading started off at a terrific pace, with blocks of 5,000 to 35,000 shares changing hands at the opening, but it slowed up later when weakness cropped out in a few of the volatile specialties.

The unexpectedly small increase of $40,000,000 in Federal Reserve brokers' loans, and the optimistic comments on business by Secretary of Commerce Lamont, provided the background for the "bull" movement. Pools, several of which have been organized in the last few days, provided a good part of the day's activity, whirling their stocks up to attract a public following which reached fairly large proportions in some of the industrials and specialties.

Call money renewed unchanged at 10 per cent and appeared to be firm at that figure, although if new money comes into the market as usual on Friday for week-end investment, the rate probably will work lower.

BREAK TEMPORARILY

Speculative sentiment was only temporarily unsettled by the sharp break in the Advance Rumely issues which followed unconfirmed reports that the recent action of the stock was under investigation by exchange officials. The common, which had sold as high as 104⅞ on Wednesday, broke from an early high of 92½ to 82, and the preferred, which recently touched 119, broke from 108⅞ to 84. Both mare partial recoveries later. United Aircraft, which had advanced 6 points to 152, dropped back to 144 and American Bosch Magneto, National Lead, Foundation Company and Briggs Manufacturing were carried 2 to 3 points below yesterday's final quotations. Hahn Department Stores and Cavanaugh Dobbs sank to new low levels for the year.

Merchandising shares led the early afternoon upturn. Woolworth was marked up nearly 8 points to a new high record at 229⅞, Hersney Chicolate advanced 7 points, Sears-Roebuck 6 and Montgomery Ward 5.

Automotive issues presented several points of strength. Electric Auto Lite ran up 6 points to a new peak at 172, Marmon Motors climbed nearly 15 points to a new high at 101¾ and the Wilcox Rich issues each ran up about 5 points to new top prices around $60 a share.

RADIO AT PEAK

Radio Corporation common was pushed up 4 points to a new peak at 114. Western Union, which is reported to be considering a 2-for-1 stock splitup, scored nearly 7 points. Otis Elevator recorded an extreme gain of 14 points and Allied Checical, Case Threshing Machine, Allis Chalmers, American Railways Express, National Surety and Newton Steel sold 5 to 10 points higher. American Can, in which a new pool has just been organized, was pushed up 6 points to a new high at 148⅞.

Rails were quiet although the so-called investment shares displayed a strong undertone in reflection of the excellent current earnings and freight car-loadings statements.

High.		Low.
1928—Dec. 5..	$5,394,590,000	March 7......	$3,395,109,000
1927—Dec. 20.	3,717,622,000	Feb. 16......	2,718,634,000
1928—Jan. 6...	3,141,125,000	May 19......	2,408,596,000

Ratio of reserves to liabilities of the New York Federal Reserve Bank for the past week stood at 79.2 per cent, against 79.7 per cent the previous week and 74.7 per cent a year ago. The Federal Reserve System ratio for the week was 73.3 per cent, against 74.3 per cent a week previous and 70.2 per cent last year.

Monthly Total Lower.

New York Stock Exchange loans decreased $29,527,113, to $6,774,930,295 on April 30, against $6,804,457,408 on March 31, the peak to date. These are net loans of New York Stock Exchange members on collateral contracted for and carried in New York. Of the total on April 30, $6,203,712,115 represented demand loans and $571,218,280 time loans, against $6,209,998,520 and $594,458,888 respectively on March 31. Loans to all brokers and dealers made by New York Federal Reserve member banks, as reported by the Federal Reserve Board on May 1, 1929, were $5,532,000,000, against $5,649,000,000 on March 27, 1929, a decrease of $117,000,000. Members' loans for three years compare as follows:

High.		Low.
1927—Dec. 31.	4,432,907,000	Jan. 31......	3,138,786,000
1926—Feb. 17.	3,535,590,000	May 28......	2,767,400,000

Net borrowing on call from New York banks or trust companies on April 30 amounted to $5,153,513,342, against $5,230,871,135 on March 31, and borrowings on time totaled $426,918,983, against $482,187,921. Net borrowings from private banks, brokers, foreign bank agencies or others in New York City on call amounted to $1,050,198,773 on April 30, against $979,127,385 on March 31, and borrowings on time were $144,299,297, against $112,270,967.

To List United Corporation.

Within a short time the New York Stock Exchange will act on the application for listing the shares of the United Corporation. Formal application was made April 25. This stock now enjoys an active market on the produce exchange. The company was recently organized by the Morgan and Bonbright interests and among its holdings are included the securities of some of the best known public utility organizations in the country. When the electrification programs of the Pennsylvania and Lackawanna get under way such companies as the Hohawk and Hudson Power and the Public Service of New Jersey, in which United Corporation has a substantial interest, will have increased outlets for power.

Automobile Situation Healthy.

In view of heavy motor production during the first quarter, this year, automobile manufacturers have been checking up on cars in the field to avoid any excess accumulation of unsold cars. Reports indicate a healthy situation, that retail buying has been keeping pace or slightly exceeding the increased rate of production and that stocks at the beginning of the retail selling season are somewhat lower than a year ago.

Gentlemen:

Please read the testimony given by your president, Archibald R. Graustein, before the Federal Trade Commission this week and let the public know whether you indorse the investment of upwards of $10,000,000 in newspapers and approve the continuance of this policy.

The public are entitled to know. The public were entitled to know, also, the facts which have been concealed up till now.

The public are entitled, moreover, to be promptly informed of any new security-ownership alliances you may make with other publications.

What you have sanctioned—the public assume you must have sanctioned this policy of investing millions in newspaper bonds, notes and stocks—doubtless is strictly legal; but it is inconceivable that men of your caliber and experience and responsibility could have given mature consideration to the advisability of pursuing the course now being pursued.

SURELY, you must realize that the American public are becoming apprehensive over the ultimate effect of all the colossal consolidations and other capitalistic operations recently and still under way.

The public are not at all certain that all the revolutionary things now being done by financiers and other capitalists are in the public interest, but the public do suspect that they must be in the interest of the financiers and other capitalists doing them, otherwise they would not be done.

The public feel that never before was there such necessity for the preservation of a thoroughly independent press not owned in whole or in part by any capitalistic organization or organizations ostensibly engaged in an entirely different field of industry.

Can you, gentlemen, blame the public for fearing that any newspaper financed by a huge industrial or utility corporation will, consciously or unconsciously, be influenced by such ownership?

Is it not asking too much to ask the public to disbelieve the accepted axiom, "He who controls the purse strings, controls?"

And the American public would not relish having their newspapers tails to giant industrial, utility, railroad or banking kites.

KNOWING many of you personally, as I do, I cannot believe that you were actuated by sinister motives, that you deliberately planned to throttle free, unstammeled expression by the newspapers of this country, but that you saw in this policy, rather, a move calculated to increase outlets for your newspaper print production.

But you should not be in the least astonished by the public commotion the revelation of your action has caused.

Nor can you be astonished that the public's interpretation of your act has been influenced most unfavorably by the fact that your buying into (thirteen) newspapers was hidden from them until a newspaper not allied financially with you ferrets out information which led to the investigation by the Federal Trade Commission.

Your action has not been that of business statesmen.

Mature reflection cannot but convince you of this and impel you to leave no stone untured to undo what you have done and to refrain from similar action hereafter.

Please think it over and let the public know your decision promptly.

MANVILLE LINK WITH RADIATOR FORECAST

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

The building up of close working arrangements between the American Radiator and Standard Sanitary Corporation and the Johns-Manville Corporation to strengthen the positions of both organizations in the building supplies field is seen as a result of recent additions to the boards of directors of the two companies.

Although Clarence M. Wooley, chairman of the American Radiator and Standard Sanitary Corporation, has emphatically denied that a consolidation is under consideration, the close affiliations of the companies under the influence of J. P. Morgan & Co., indicate that a community of interests may exist even though no physical merger is to take place.

Reports that a consolidation of the two organizations is in the making had arisen from the election of Clarence M. Woolley, chairman of the board of American Radiator, to the board of Johns-Manville. This followed the election on April 4 of Francis D. Bartow, of J. P. Morgan & Co., and Jackson E Reynolds, president of the First National Bank, to the Radiator board on April 4.

J. P. Morgan & Co. is known to be heavily interested in the development of Johns-Manville. The recent death of Theodore F. Merceles, president of Johns-Manville, also opens a new problem to the house of Morgan. Mr. Merceles was brought from Montgomery Ward & Co. only a short time ago to assume active direction of the Johns-Manville operations.

A CONSOLIDATION or close working agreement between American Radiator would be entirely in line with the recent steps taken in the company's affairs. To eliminate the seasonal factor in its business and to establish itself in other lines which tie in with its original products, American Radiator has already effected several consolidations.

The most important of these was the merger with the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing Company of this city. This was a favorable development for both organizations. They are both selling to the same customers. Both have warehouse facilities, sales offices and display rooms throughout the country. The elimination of many duplicated expenses is expected to result from the merger. Thus, although American Radiator was embarking on an entirely new type of business, it matched its established operations without any difficulty.

PREVIOUS to this merger, American Radiator had taken over the Kewanee Boiler Company, the American Blower Company and the Excelso Specialty Works.

The Johns-Manville Company, in addition to making asbestos products used directly for insulation of heating systems, manufactures an extensive line of building materials. Johns-Manville would fit into the American Radiator organization in much the same manner as did Standard Sanitary. The advantages would not be so much in co-ordination of manufacturing effort as in the fact that the markets are the same and the companies can be mutually helpful.

THE Morgan interest in the American Radiator and Standard Sanitary Corporation is distinctly advantageous for the company. In addition to its value as a purely banking connection, it makes a community of interest with Johns-Manville possible. It is also q[illegible] likely that J. P. Morgan & Co., is anxious to secure advice of American Radiator management for Johns-Manville.

The loss of Mr. Merceles is undoubtedly a serious one. It was he who took over the difficult task of rejuvenating Montgomery Ward after the disastrous years of 1920 and 1921. After navigating the great mail order house into calmer waters, J. P. Morgan transferred Mr. Merceles' activities to Johns-Manville.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Loan Figures Satisfactory.

Both the weekly bank statements and the two sets of loan figures which came to hand overnight were looked upon as favorable in financial circles. The increase of $40,000,000 shown in the loan total compiled by the Federal Reserve was considerably less than had generally been looked for, while the monthly Stock Exchange figures fitted pretty well with what had been expected. Naturally Wall Street was inclined to view with satisfaction the revelation in the weekly bank statements that the reserve had been picking up open market bills, but at the same time there was a good deal less disposition to view this as indicative of any far reaching change of policy than had been the case a few days ago.

The money market was firm and after holding at 10 per cent until well along in the afternoon, the call rate moved up to 11, reflecting the higher charges on 30-day bills posted in the New York and Boston bill markets. Despite the mild uncertainty arising out of the credit developments, the stock market continued to resist selling which made its appearance in certain quarters, while a good many specialties were being rushed to higher prices. Oils strengthened up noticeably and the rails made a good showing. Steel held relatively narrow but steady, with the general sentiment still a little undecided as to the ultimate result of the money tension.

Briggs' First Quarter.

The Briggs Manufacturing Company reports for the quarter ended March 31, 1929, net earnings of $1,404,567 after all charges, including taxes, equal to 71 cents a share on 2,300,225 shares of capital stock outstanding. This compares with $679,428, or 33 cents a share on the average number of shares outstanding in the same period last year.

Marlin-Rockwell.

The Marlin-Rockwell Corporation reports consolidated profit of $702,706 for the March quarter after depreciation and federal taxes, equal to $1.94 on 362,145 common shares, against $450,616, or $1.26 on 357,145 shares in 1928 quarter.

Penney Offers Stock.

The J. C. Penney & Co. is offering common holders of record May 10 the right to purchase new common at $7 a share in ratio of two shares for each share held. Rights expire July 12. Stockholders previously voted to increase the common from 1,250,000 to 3,000,000 shares in anticipation of this offering.

Export Grain Rate Cut.

A committee of tariff executives of trunk line railroads meeting at Washington decided to reduce rates on grain at and east of the U. S. lower Lake Erie ports to North Atlantic seaboard for export to the extent of 2 cents per bushel.

Grain market effects of the cut will be followed closely by administration agents and advisers who have helped to bring the action about. "In my opinion, it will operate directly to aid the farm price of grain throughout the West," said Julius Barnes, President Hoover's leading aid in wartime grain price control. "That is an important objective, in view of the unduly depressed condition of the wheat market in recent weeks."

Col. Ayres on Credit.

The United States is facing the danger of a serious credit inflation and the federal reserve system structure is being undermined both as a result of activity of the call money market, Col. Leonard P. Ayres, of the Cleveland Trust Company, told the general session of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce at Washington yesterday. Col. Ayres hopes that some solution can be found by the New York Stock Exchange, but doubts that its membership, dependent upon volume of sales to a large extent, would be willing to take any action to curb speculation. A non-legislative solution is desirable, he said, as the possibilities of legislation are fraught with danger. Loss of deposits by the banks and resulting decreasing control of the call market by the federal reserve system were noted. This was seen as vitally affecting the banking structure. Market psychology and the use of credit are closely related, he showed, noting that there has been a close correspondence between turnover of checking accounts and rise of stick prices as multiples of earnings.

Marine's Capital Plans.

A recapitalization for the International Mercantile Marine Company that will entail an expenditure of approximately $10,000,000 in cash and a new stock issue, was announced by P. A. S. Franklin, president. The plan will bring the company's total stock to 720,000 shares and enable it to eliminate its present capital deficit of approximately $29,000,000. Also, he said, the recapitalization will permit the company to distribute dividends among the stockholders "whenever the earnings justify it." "The plan," Mr. Franklin explained, "is to give the preferred stockholders $20 in cash and one share of no par value common stock for each share of the present preferred stock. And to each common stockholder one-fifth of a share of the same no par value stock for each share of the present common stock." Retirement of 510,000 shares each of preferred and common stock now outstanding will result. About 600,000 shares of the total issue of 720,000 will be held by the public and the balance will remain in the company's treasury. The recapitalization plan will be submitted to stockholders for action at a meeting on June 24.

Bank Rate Unchanged.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York made no change in its rediscount rate which remains at 5 per cent. The bank's gold statement for the week shows a gain of $21,026,000 in gold as result of imports totaling $8,201,000 and a decrease of $12,825,000 of the metal held under earmark for foreign account. All except $59,000 of the imports came from Germany and the release of earmarked gold also was believed to represent transactions by Germany to bolster the mark. There were no exports.

Foreign Borrowing Small.

Secretary of Commerce Lamont stated yesterday that foreign loans to brokers here at the end of 1928 totaled only $207,000,000. This item had been estimated in many quarters as much larger, giving rise to fears that the market might be suddenly upset at any time by large withdrawals resulting from developments abroad. Mr. Lamont described the business situation as "satisfactory."

Deterding on Oil Outlook.

Sir Henri Deterding, of the Royal Dutch-Shell group, in a special interview in London, stated that it was his impression that finally the oil industry will succeed in establishing a normal production of crude oil equitably among producers. He added that he sees no reason for a rise in prices, for on present basis remuneration is sufficient for the companies.

Spicer Profits Larger.

The Spicer Manufacturing Corporation reports consolidated profit of $762,558 for the quarter ended March 31 after depreciation, but before federal tax, equal, after preferred dividends, to $1.92 on 357,750 common shares, against $420,268 or $1.24 on 313,750 shares in the 1928 quarter.

Louisiana Oil Improves.

The Louisiana Oil Refining Corporation reports for the quarter ended March 31, 1929, consolidated net income of $239,035, after interest, depletion, depreciation, drilling labor and expense, etc., but before federal income taxes, equivalent, after 6½ per cent cumulative convertible preferred dividends, to 15 cents a share on the 1,190,063 common shares outstanding. This compares with $161,153, or 8 cents a share on the 1,140,063 shares in the corresponding quarter of 1928.

General Tank's Prospects.

General American Tank Corporation business and earnings are running at a very satisfactory rate, according to Elias Mayer, president. Although Mr. Mayer expressed himself as not approving the publication of quarterly figures, for the reason that they seldom give a true picture, or indication of what the year's figures will be, he stated that earnings for the first quarter of this year were substantially in excess of the corresponding quarter a year ago. Mr. Mayer expects the railroads to continue their buying policy and sees no reason why the improvement shown in the first quarter should not continue throughout the year.

State Denies Permit For Lighting Plant

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 3.—(AP.)—The Public Service Commission yesterday denied the Borough of Brookville, Jefferson County, a franchise to construct and operate a municipal lighting plant. It held that the proposed utility would be in direct competition with an existing private corporation, and that it was unnecessary for convenience of the public.

The commission also dismissed a complaint from Espyville, Crawford County, against the Pennsylvania Railroad, because of the discontinuance of an agency station on the grounds that the inconvenience was not great enough to warrant keeping an agent at a loss to the railroad.

Soft Coal Business Conspicuously Dull

NEW YORK, May 3.—(AP.)—The Coal Age reports that market conditions in the bituminous coal trade were "conspicuously dull" throughout April, despite price reductions. These recessions, made on the higher priced prepared coals used for heating, sent the average quotation to the lowest level reached in years.

"The tonnage represented in contracts closed," says the publication, "has been disappointingly small, retailers as well as industrial consumers being loath to renounce their bargain-hunting ventures in the open market."

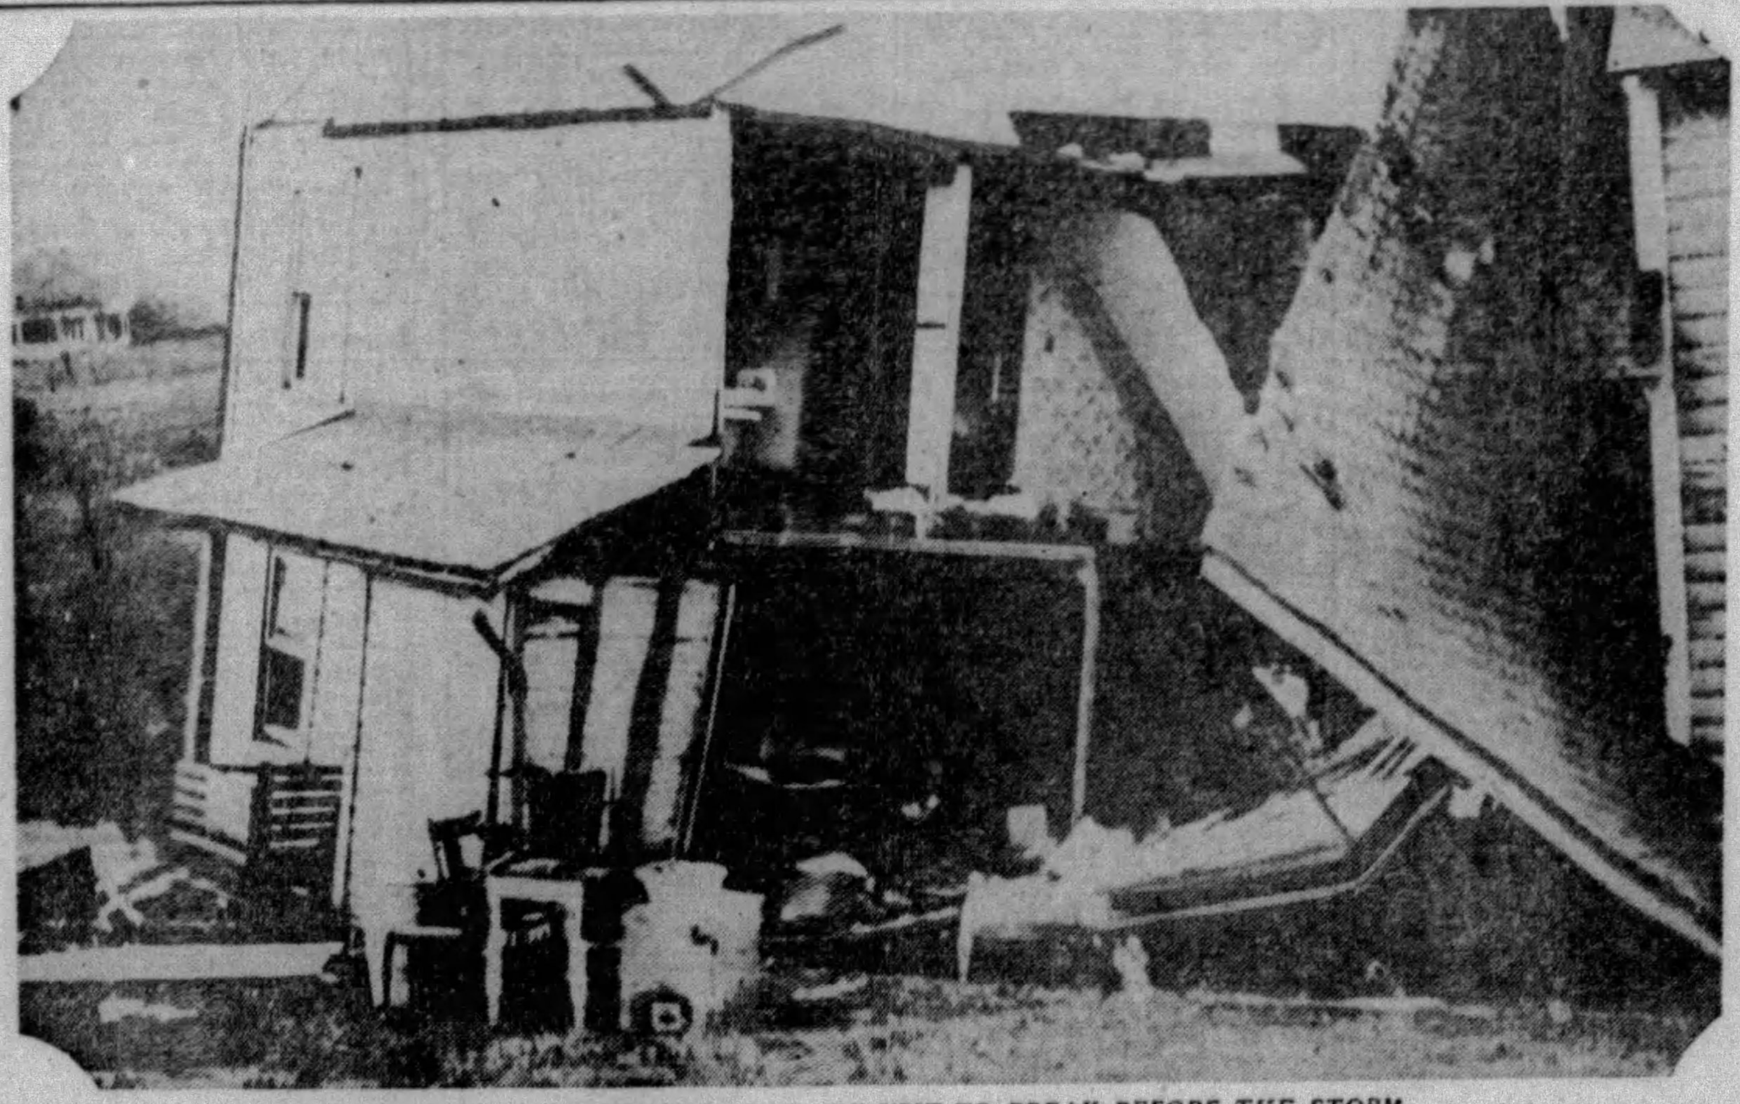
EXCLUSIVE PICTURES OF MORGANTOWN STORM WRECKAGE

HOUSE FROM WHICH CHILDREN ESCAPED

From this house, near Morgantown, (W. Va.) Country Club, Mrs. Della Jenkins and her three grandchildren escaped.



HOUSE NEAR COUNTRY CLUB, ONE OF FIRST TO BREAK BEFORE THE STORM

This house, a short distance from the Jenkins home and the County Club, was one of the first to crash.

BENT BY FORCE OF TORNADIC WIND

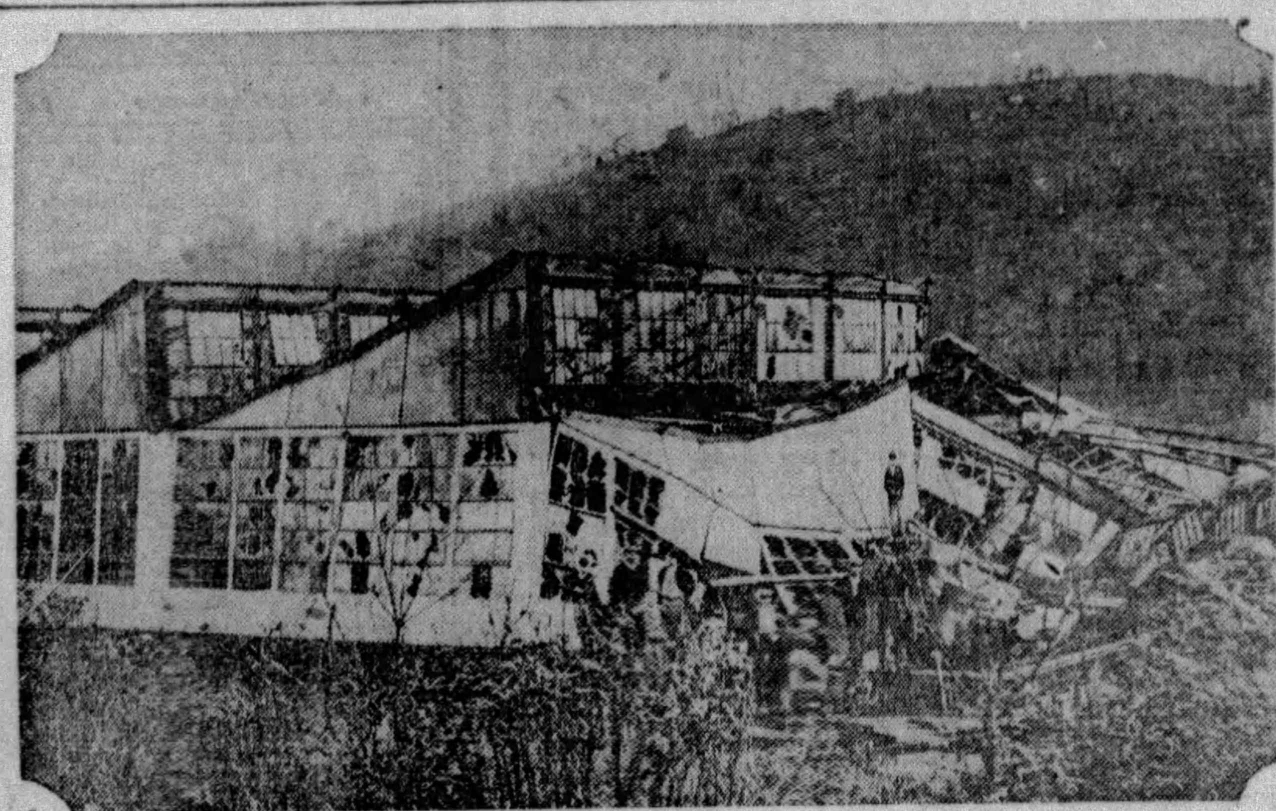
The condition of this house, far out of plumb, is illustrative of the great force of the wind which swept the Morgantown area. Damage is variously estimated as high as $500,000 and at least 40 or 50 homes in the Morgantown district were wrecked.

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

FRIDAY, MAY 3, 1929

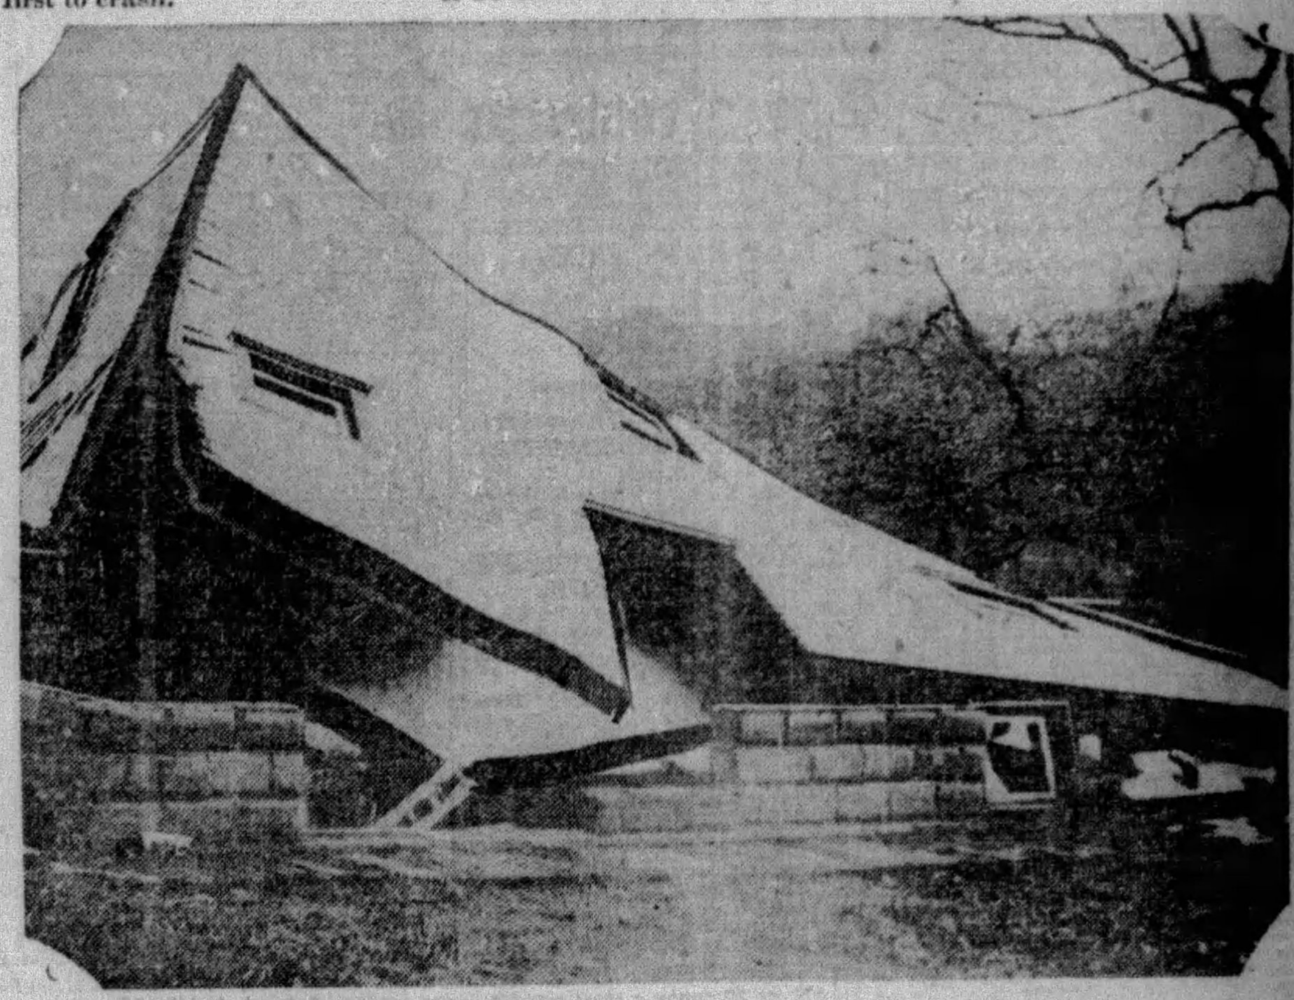
GARAGE BLOWN FROM CAR, SPLINTERED

From the car of Albert Spencer, Morgantown Country Club, pro, the garage was lifted and splintered against this house.



RUBBER FACTORY, WINDOWS SHATTERED AND WALLS AND ROOF CRUSHED

One end of this rubber factory near Morgantown was crushed by the force of the wind and many of the small windows throughout the structure were shattered.



HOME AT RIVERSIDE BLOWN FROM FOUNDATION, FLATTENED

This frame home, located at Riverside, on the outskirts of Morgantown, was blown from its stone foundation and its walls almost flattened. It is almost a total loss.

GENERAL DESOLATION LEFT BY TWISTER AT RIVERSIDE

ONE HOME HURLED AGAINST ITS NEIGHBOR

Before the blast of wind, two houses stood side by side on this dirt road between Morgantown and Riverside. One broke in the wind and was thrown on the other.

Notice to Taxpayers

Office of Treasurer of Allegheny County, Room 108 Court House, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

In pursuance of the 21st section of an "Act relating to Allegheny County," approved the 1st day of May, 1861, and of the amendment to said section, approved the 30th day of March, A. D. 1866, I hereby give notice that the tax duplicates for the several wards of the cities of Pittsburgh, Allegheny, Lawrenceville and Clifton, boroughs and townships, will be open, and I will be prepeared to receive the county, road, poor, bond interest, etc., park and personal property taxes for the year 1929 on May 1st. Said taxes may be paid during the months of May, June and July only, at 5% discount, during August at face, and on and after September 1st the law adds an added 10% penalty must be paid to the County Delinquent Tax Collector.

Statements will be furnished promptly upon written request, if furnished name, location by ward in the cities of Pittsburgh, McKeesport, Duquesne or Clairton, or boroughs or townships. If statement of Personal Property or Occupation Tax is desired, give street address also.

Use of the mail is advised for requesting statements and making payment of taxes. Payment may be made in cash at Treasurer's Office or by check, mail by Certified Check or Money Order, (payable to John Francies, County Treasurer) and mailed to Room 108, Court House, Pittsburgh, Pa., accompanied by stamped and addressed envelope for return of tax statement or receipt.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Positively NO discount will be allowed on taxes not actually received at the Treasurer's Office before the close of business on July 31st, 1929, nor will Taxes at face be received by the County Treasurer after the close of business on August 31st, 1929.

Delay in delivery, by mail or messenger, will not be considered an excuse for non-payment before expiration of discount or face period for payment.

BUGS BAER Says

"Bugs" Baer

AS AN old established member of the inhuman climate we notify the revenue agents that the time has now arrived to take Spring tonic and that we are not responsible for contents.

Not being favorably mentioned in Who's Hootch as an authority on staggering and its ramifications, nevertheless, we hold that grandmother's Spring tonic is not a contraband oil.

Nobody knew what granny put in that vernal concoction. But one drop of it would nickleplate an ice berg and two drops would make a member of the House of David bob his boyish whiskers.

Twelve drops was the jury that decided whether you would live or pass on to your great reward offered by the Wells-Fargo for apprehension and conviction.

A teaspoonful would remove nap from a porcupine's back and cause the Washington monument to bend like a sapling.

The old man always drank his from a saucer and then bit the dish in half.

The ingredients were mysterious. Granny wore smoked glasses when brewing it. Not seeing what she was doing she would not be compelled to testify against herself.

The first taste was that of sassafras struggling with the weather reports. The second sip was reminiscent of the early triumphs of the Macedonian flying Phalanx slightly diluted with a decision of the Supreme Court.

If you lasted until the third snifter, which was strong enough to cause a vacuum cleaner to reverse itself and blow dust all over the house, you were convinced that granny had solved the mathematical equation which reduced the electric chair to liquid measure.

Nobody ever took a fourth helping of the belligerent syrup. Except granny.

She lived before the days of amendments and got by on her constitution.

The purpose of all Spring tonics was to thin the blood. A bottle of granny's thinner would have converted the great wall of China into the gauziest of gossamer.

Granny didn't die in the Spring. At the age of 103 she trundled out her hoop and walloped it a whack that carried it over the Appalachians in three bounces.

If St. George had the choice of dragons or granny's Spring tonic he would have chosen the flaming lizards.

Like Vesuvius, it was fire and soup in one.

Grandpop took his tonic while seated on the back porch in his rocker. He would take a snorter, blink his eyes, work his ears and say, "There's a lot of tunnels on this railroad."

There was only one thing about granny's tonic that the neighborhood could not figure out. We never were sure whether she rated a nurse's diploma or a card in the bartenders' union.

Free samples, like above, sent on request.

It has become necessary for Aunt Bella to find homes for several hundred children who were left in her department by mistake during the past year. Thoughtless parents often come rushing into Aunt Bella's Question and Answer Department, and after getting free advice, ask Aunt Bella to look after their kids for a minute. This she is glad to do. But sometimes years go by, and the absent-minded parents fail to return. Consequently Aunt Bella has hundreds of little mouths to slap. So it occurred to her that there are many homes that never hear the gladsome ring of childish laughter.

All Poverty Pleas of Power Companies Forgotten When Trust Wants to Muzzle Newspapers by Purchase of Plants

When a power company has money for nothing else, it has money to buy newspapers.

Take, for example, the International Paper & Power Company, which controls most of New England's electric power supply.

That corporation's president, A. R. Graustein, on December 28, 1928, reported that his company had earned a DEFICIT of six million dollars in the past year.

Yet, during January of 1929, the very next month, the poverty-stricken power corporation bought the Boston Herald and the Boston Traveler, two great New England newspapers, and paid several million dollars for them.

Just how many million dollars the power corporation paid nobody knows yet. Perhaps the Federal Trade Commission, investigating the Power Trust, will ask Mr. Graustein and let the country know the answer.

What we do know is that the power corporation was afraid to take its chance with a free and independent press.

The power corporation considered it so necessary to own a part of the press that it purchased two great Boston journals for a huge price, at the time that it, the corporation, was apparently losing money at the rate of six million dollars a year.

The corporation, of course, was not losing money on the sums actually invested in its properties. It was simply not earning enough to give a return of pure gold on all the water pumped into its stocks and the stocks of its subsidiaries.

But that will all be fixed if they can control enough of the press to influence public opinion, public service commissions, courts and legislatures, so that they will allow the nice, kind power corporation to earn a "proper return" on its "capitalization," which will be represented as being almost entirely in the hands of "savings banks, widows and orphans."

Perhaps the Federal Trade Commission will find out how many other newspapers the International Paper & Power Company has secretly bought up. The Chicago Journal has confessed that the International Paper & Power Company has a heavy interest in its ownership.

The Federal Trade Commission has already run upon a few of the instances where the money of power interests has flowed into newspapers and newspaper chains—for example, the case of Col. Ira C. Copely, of Illinois and California, in each of which states he owns a string of newspapers.

Upon the purchase of his California papers, Col. Copely announced:

"I have no connection with any public utility anywhere, and no connection with any companies anywhere."

His San Diego Evening Tribune, on January 21, 1928, proudly announced:

"He regards a newspaper as being more nearly a public utility than as anything else, for it is depended upon for a constant and trustworthy service, and in business details the two have many similarities. Col. Copley has, however, completely severed his connection with all public utilities and will not have any further connection with them."

A few months later Mr. Copley's lawyer had to admit to the Federal Trade Commission that the Colonel had $2,400,000 preferred stock in the Western United Gas & Electric, also 30,000 shares of its class A common stock and $1,000,000 in its bonds, an investment totalling around $5,000,000.

In other words, retaining five million dollars' worth of utility interests means "completely severing all utility connections."

It is all very interesting, but it is more than merely interesting. It is very menacing to the welfare of the nation.

Mayor Kline Promises Fight on Taxi Fare Raise

Mayor Charles H. Kline has promised that the City of Pittsburgh will intervene in the proposal of the two leading taxicab companies to increase rates in Pittsburgh. The Mayor's tone is much more emphatic than that of Charles P. Lang, assistant city solicitor, who, when he first learned about the proposed increase said "the city may file a protest."

"The city MAY file a protest!"

The public wants no "mays." It wants action. It wants to see attention paid to matters that affect its pocketbook. That, Mayor Kline has promised, is what it will get. The executive said he would immediately order an investigation and the chances now are that the legal department will show a wakefulness that was not indicated in the fact that Mr. Lang's first intimation of the taxi companies' plans came when a Sun-Telegraph representative went to ask what was being done to oppose them.

The tariffs were filed April 18 and 19, tentatively to become effective May 20, in Green cabs, and May 21, in Yellow cabs. And the department of the city government that should keep in touch with such matters was not aware of it until May 1!

Had not the Sun-Telegraph investigated, it appears the city solicitor's department would not have known about the matter, and the proposed increase, according to the custom of allowing unprotested requests, would have become automatically effective.

Among the reasons assigned by the taxi officers for the proposed gouge is the new four-cent gas tax. Gov. Fisher signed that bill Wednesday of this week. The tariffs were filed April 18 and 19. Make your own comment. That of Mayor Kline was an expression of indignation that an attempt should be made to make a one-cent increase in gas a plausible reason for an increase of many cents in taxi fare.

Service at less than cost, of course, cannot be expected and the public does not expect it, but it is getting pretty tired of being held up on all sides in the matter of transportation. Taxi officials say another reason for the proposed increase is that they are losing business to the bus companies and that the raise chiefly will affect long hauls. There's a logic for you! They must want to lose more of their long-haul business to the bus.

Let the taxi men figure out their problems as illogically as they may, but don't let them "put it over" on us. What we are concerned about is protecting ourselves. What we are concerned about is that the city make the fight promised by Mayor Kline effective.

Reserve Officers' Camp To Be Held at Conneaut

Reserve officers of the United States Army of Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania are going to lay aside their business matters for four days, May 30 to June 2, inclusive, and are going to devote these four days to the cause of military preparedness. They are going to let their private affairs mark time to attend to what they consider the greater duty—service to their country. At their own expense—surely an admirable sacrifice—they will participate in the activities of a "contact camp" to be held at Conneaut Lake on the dates stated. It is to be the first encampment of the kind in this part of the state.

Reserve officers are the ribs attached to the backbone, as represented by the Regular Army. They are officers not actually in charge of commands, but who are ready, to the number of thousands, immediately to assume an official capacity in case of war. They are part of an elaborate plan that can put a great army onto the field in short order whenever the call may come. They really are Army officers on leave of absence, one might say. As civilians they are all about us. The man at the next desk may be a major. That dapper salesman who calls on you may be a captain. Many of your friends may grade from second lieutenant up.

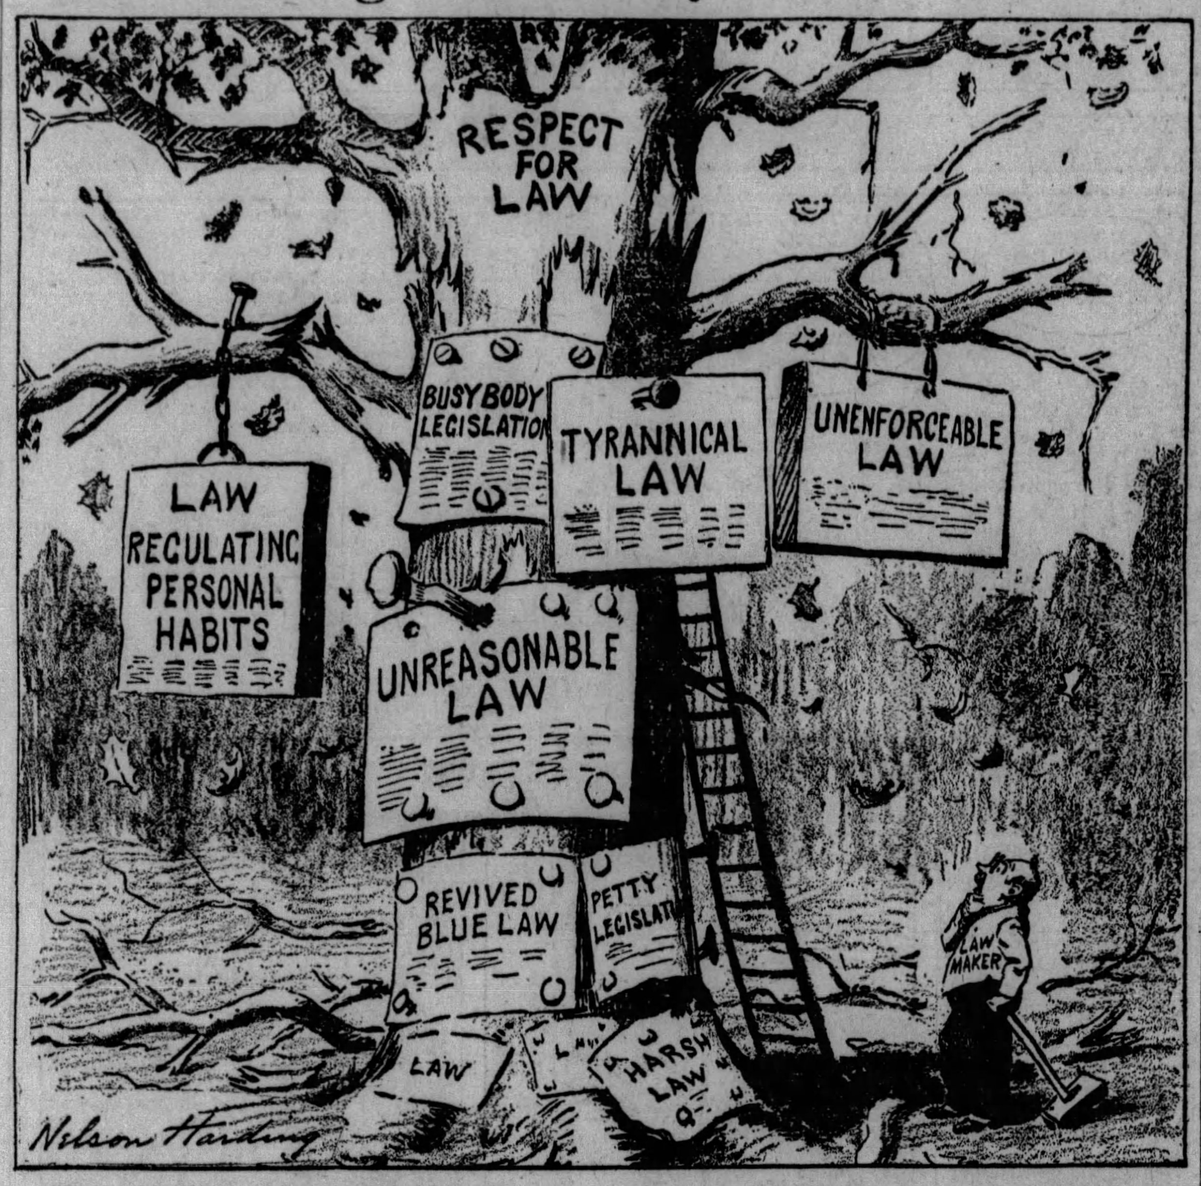
And all of the time these worthy men are engaged in the commendable patriotic occupation of keeping themselves up to the minute in military matters through Army correspondence schools and other activities. They sacrifice time, money and personal convenience to the end that their country may never again be caught unprepared to defend itself as far as the Army is concerned.

The Conneaut contact camp is to be held to permit them to brush up and expand their military knowledge. Arrangements for it have been made locally by Col. Thomas A. Anderson and Maj. Walter Moore, United States Army, and Maj. C. B. Shaffer, Pittsburgh reserve officer. Incidental to the encampment will be the annual convention of the Reserve Officers' Association, Department of Pennsylvania.

The men who make up the force of our reserve officers really deserve our thanks. They could give up their commissions and drop wholly into civil life, but they choose instead to be actuated by a higher ideal. We cannot know the hour when we may need them, but it should be assuring to know that they stand ready to answer the call.

What's Killing Our Sturdy Oak?

By Nelson Harding



"Our grand old tree seems to be dying," complains Senator Shortsite, "slowly dying from some mysterious attack despite our heroic measures for patching and protecting it."

"Dry statesmen and experts differ as to the cause of the trouble, some blaming the smoke from Canadian breweries and others insisting that breezes from beyond the twelve-mile limit are to blame."

"However, our wisest drys agree that heavier weights and more iron plates rigidly spiked, with plenty of bullets for good measure, are the best remedies for checking decay and keeping the revered oak firmly rooted in our soil."

THE De King case now moves to the Court of Last Appeal—the ballot box.

If the next election confirms Kane County's verdict, then the Eighteenth Amendment supersedes Constitutional Guarantees, the right to bear arms or repel illegal entry, and delivers Justice as a prostitute for fanaticism and intolerance.

The American people change place with Deputy Sheriff Roy Smith and are, hereafter, proxy-defendants in the vilest assault ever visited upon the body of freedom.

Tales That Are Told

Knew His Onions

SAM sat on the sunny side of the tree, the perspiration running down his face. "Boy, why don't you-all seat yo'self on the shady side?" his friend asked him.

"That's all you knows 'bout nature," replied Sam. "By and by sun's goin' to be on that side, and then Ah won't hab to move."

Puzzling

THE new member of the golf club was sitting in the clubhouse examining a ball, muttering to himself and looking very puzzled.

The secretary crossed towards him and said, courteously: "Can I help you?"

"Well," said the beginner, "there must be a mistake in that card I've just handed to you."

"Mistake? What sort of mistake?"

"Well, you see, I've just gone round the course in a hundred and thirty-three, but I can find only a hundred and thirty-one hacks on my ball."

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

A GUY that had a lot of hard luck and family and business troubles and everything was being congratulated about opening his new hat store.

"Well," says one of his old friends, "I hear you're in business for yourself now."

"I wouldn't exactly say that," says the hard-luck guy. "I'm in business for my three wives and an alimony lawyer if I know anything about business."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

I KNOW an old man who lives in the mountains.

He is poor and often ill. When he can, he works, but I doubt if he has possessed twenty dollars at one time in many years.

He lives by himself in a wretched little shack among the pines. He hasn't a single civilized luxury. He hasn't even those things which you or I could call necessities. You could hardly conceive of anyone whose life was more devoid of comfort. Yet, in his shack, there is something of great value which might easily bring him comfort for the rest of his days.

It is an old bedroom set of walnut, rarely shaped, exquisitely carved. It belonged to the old man's sister, who died three years ago. All their lives they had lived together, this gentle old man and the quiet little woman. They had been like two trees which grow from one root. They were rooted in their love for each other.

Then she died and he was left alone with her faded clothes hanging on the wall and her little battered shoes and the one thing of great beauty which she had ever owned, her mother's lovely set of walnut.

That set was always valuable—today it is priceless. Art dealers who have seen it grow hoarse with enthusiasm. Tourists, hearing of it, offer exorbitant prices. But the old man will not sell.

He will not sell the bed his sister slept in, the bureau where she kept her few poor clothes, the glass that reflected her gentle, wrinkled face. People impatiently explain to him that by such a sale he could buy comfort for his few remaining years, but he shakes his head.

HE KNOWS HE COULD NOT BUY COMFORT BY THAT SALE.

FOR THE THING THEY MEAN BY "COMFORT" AND THE THING HE MEANS ARE TWO ENTIRELY DIFFERENT MATTERS.

They are thinking of his wasted body, his empty stomach, his poor, cold bones. But he is thinking of the love in which his life was rooted—IN WHICH IT IS STILL ROOTED.

He is thinking of the strength and joy which come to him from that love—the strength that is greater than the vigor of muscles and the joy that is warmer than the heat of red blood.

To him the old set is part of that love. It was made sacred by the pressure of her body, the touch of her fingers. It still contains the essence of her being. It would be like selling his soul to sell that bedroom set.

So he sits serene in his poverty, fed from a source the stupid, greedy world will never see.

"MAN CANNOT LIVE BY BREAD ALONE," the Saviour said, rebuking other greediness.

The soul has other food than bread and meat—treasure—it can not store in banks nor draw in checks. Dreams, memories and hopes no government may tax, but which sustain it when the shelf is bare.

Isn't It So?

Some of us are apt to take advice that doesn't belong to us.

Poverty may blunt our other senses, but it sharpens the taste.

It's a good memory that sometimes admits of discreet forgetfulness.

Pay your doctor bills promptly. One should be grateful to those who spare his life.

Famous Bible Passages

Strength From God

(St. John 5; 19-32.)

THEN answered Jesus and said unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, The Son can do nothing of himself but what he seeth the Father do: for what things soever he doeth, these also doeth the Son likewise.

For the Father loveth the Son, and sheweth him all things that himself doeth: and he will shew him greater works than these, that ye may marvel.

For as the Father raiseth up the dead, and quickeneth them; even so the Son quickeneth whom he will.

For the Father judgeth no man but hath committed all judgment unto the Son.

That all men should honour the Son, even as they honour the Father. He that honoureth not the Son honoureth not the Father which hath sent him.

Verily, verily, I say unto you, the hour is coming, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God: and they that hear shall live.

For as the Father hath life in himself; so hath he given to the Son to have life in himself.

And hath given him authority to execute judgment also, because he is the Son of man.

Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in which all that are in the graves, shall hear his voice.

And shall come forth; they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation.

I can of mine own self do nothing: as I hear, I judge: and my judgment is just; because I seek not mine own will, but the will of the Father which hath sent me.

If I bear witness of myself, my witness is not true.

There is another that bear witness of me; and I know that the witness which he witnesseth of me is true.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, May 3.—Thoughts while strolling: What's become of those de luxe grocery stores of 10 years ago? Max Figman, the actor. Rarely hear the yell of a newsie any more. Save for the fake extras. Noel Coward's padded shoulders. E. F. Albee's ministerial mien. Leonard Bergman's swift walk.

Those snub-nosed freckled ragamuffins in Chaplin shoes with their harmonicas. A. Warrendorf, the florist. Once in a wheel chair. Now lively as a cricket. Wonder if those "fresh every minute" candy stores are on the level. Another 5 and 10 on the avenue. And limousines at the curb.

Always a missing letter or so in a chop suey electric sign. Ladies in sea green stockings. Deviled roast bones and Irish stew—Dublin style. And me with four yanked fangs inhaling soup. A. E. Matthews, who, if not the most finished actor in town, is pretty near it. A tenement child perched on a block of ice in a heat-ridden block.

H. I. Phillips, a New Haven (Conn.) boy, who made good in the city. Who remembers when New York had plenty of permanent sidewalks? A motor boat store. Lon Chaney doesn't crawl around in his pictures any more. He has gone Tuxedo. Freuh, the caricaturist. The beggar with a phonograph around his neck.

Mrs. Jerome Napoleon—without a Borzoi book. A stray dog expectantly watching a butcher shop—tail wagging furiously. Wade McGrath, the uptown hotel man. A bus from the coast and everybody hops out stretching. Clean cut young men at bank desks. Insolent taxi drivers run wild in this town and timid old ladies are bawled out for jay walking.

A bleak jobbing house district. Shuttered windows and venerable clerks with whinnying laughs, silk coats and green eyeshades. Men who sit motionless for hours on fire plugs. Those wooden Venetian bridges in front of building excavations. John Anderson, the youthful dramatic critic.

Literary and Pleasure Clubs—devoted to gambling. Where cops often buzz for the wagon and everybody takes a ride. The glitter of Broadway again—like the golden rift in a sable sky. The theater hour sidewalk jam. And now to pry through it. Leering as I pry!

A stimulated gentleman on a wager went home the other night from a night club and returned with a bottle of champagne openly exposed in each hand. He was in evening dress and passed four policemen, which proves nothing save a touch of fatheadedness.

They report the only person to make important money in the night club racket is a fellow who never took a drink of intoxicants. All the rest have been rendered hors, as the French say, de combat.

A company is organizing to publish again the Old Cap Collier and Diamond Dick type of weeklies at 10 cents. If done in a modern manner, it is believed they will find a big sale, but they will not. In an era producing a Lindbergh, the most glamorously fictionized heroes are about as exciting as a water cress exhibit.
